WOULD WITHDRAW STATE SUPPORT FROM TEXTILE SCHOOL

State Treasurer Jackson Suggests That Schools Be Maintained by the Textile Industry—Lowell Mill Men Opposed—Mills Have Burdens Enough

The proposed plan to withdraw state support from the textile schools at Lowell, Fall River, and New Bedford as a step toward lowering the burden of state taxes, put forward in a recent address by State Treasurer James Jackson, has met vigorous objection.

Mr. Jackson is of the opinion that the cost of maintaining the schools should be borne by the textile industry itself on the ground that there is no more reason that the state should support textile schools than that it should support glass-blowing or shoemaking schools.

Mill men of Lowell interviewed regarding the proposal of the state treasurer present a solid front in opposition to his plan. They brand it as not only contrary to the public interest and dangerous to the welfare of the schools but also impracticable of accomplishment and unpromising for the amount of money it would save the state even if carried out.

"The mills of Lowell and of the

TWO LOWELL MEN REAPPOINTED TO STATE POSITIONS TODAY BY GOVERNOR COX

(Special to The Sun)

BOSTON, Nov. 28.—Two Lowell men were reappointed today to prominent positions by Gov. Cox in the nominations sent to his council. Edward F. Fisher again was named as associate commissioner in the department of labor and collection, and Fred W. Jenness, commissioner of firemen's relief. There were 26 appointments in all, including Arthur W. Gilbert of Belmont, as commissioner of agriculture; Everett E. Stone of Springfield, as commissioner of public utilities; Sanford Bates of Boston, as commissioner of correction, and Payson Dana, commissioner of civil service.

MAYOR LENDS HIS AID TO FUND FOR HARDING MEMORIAL

Accepts Invitation of Governor Cox to Become Honorary Member of Massachusetts Committee—President Coolidge to Issue Harding Proclamation

Mayor John J. Donovan has been asked by Gov. Channing Cox to become an honorary member of the Massachusetts committee to carry out the purpose of the Harding Memorial association for the erection of a suitable mausoleum at Marion, Ohio, and to establish scholarships to enable young men to train for public service.

The mayor immediately forwarded his acceptance, offering his assistance in every possible way.

President Calvin Coolidge is honorary chairman of the Harding Memorial association, with members of the cabinet as trustees. Governor Cox has been asked to become honorary chairman of the Massachusetts committee and Louis K. Liggett has been named active chairman and Hon. William A. Gaston, treasurer.

President Coolidge intends to issue a proclamation in the week of December 9, asking for suitable services and contributions for the erection of a mausoleum and the establishment of scholarships. Certificates of membership are being prepared containing a picture of Harding and setting forth the purposes of the association. These certificates may be obtained by any school child or any young man or woman in colleges by contributing any sum from one cent to one dollar. No larger amount will be received in any event.

Firemen Fight Blaze From Land and Water—Flames Leap Across Alley

Three Persons Injured—100 Policemen Keep Order Among Spectators

DETROIT, Nov. 28.—Fire starting from an overheated stove in a watchman's shanty early today, destroyed the Detroit & Windsor Ferry Co. dock, housing United States immigration and customs offices, spread to the six story Muner building, which was burned to the ground, and then destroyed a four story warehouse and several small buildings on Woodward avenue and Bates street. When the fire was brought under control, a few minutes after 5 o'clock this morning, the total loss was estimated at $1,500,000.

The warehouse of the Finsterwald Furniture Co. was consumed by the flames, fanned by a brisk easterly breeze. The fire-swept section, at

LAWRENCE MAN FINED $135 IN LOCAL COURT

In district court this morning, Henry Faucher of Lawrence was fined $100 for operating an automobile while he was under the influence of liquor, $15 for driving without a license, $10 for driving without a registration and $10 for operating without lights. A fifth charge, drunkenness, was placed on file.

Faucher was arrested in Cheever street last night by Sergt. James J. Kennedy and Officer Isidore Trudel, when he was seen to be in unfit condition to handle the wheel.

SATISFACTORY PROGRESS MADE IN STREET BUILDING THIS YEAR

Paving Operations Brought to Close and Engineer Kearney Begins Work on Recommendations for 1924—New Sheds for Trucks to Be Built at City Yards

More than 80,000 square yards of new paving were laid on Lowell streets this season.

At the close of work yesterday afternoon, the street department completed its paving schedule for 1923. The Mammoth road job was finished at that time and the regular paving gang was released for repair work which began this morning. This gang went out today with a list of breaks in granite block paving caused by the Electric Light corporation, telephone company, water works and street railway company and will work in repairing them until severe weather sets in.

The street department, led by Engineer Stephen Kearney, with Assistant Superintendent Joseph Garrity in charge of outside work, may look back upon a splendid season, as the following figures show:

Granite block paving, 22,635.54 square yards; asphaltic concrete,

DIAMOND BROTHERS NAME THREE MEN AS SLAYERS OF MESSENGERS

Barlow M. Diamond and His Brother Joseph, Make Complete Confession of Their Part in Robbery and Murder of Brooklyn Bank Messengers

NEW YORK, Nov. 28. Barlow Morris Diamond and his brother, Joseph, have made a complete confession of their part in the robbery and murder of the two West End bank messengers in a Brooklyn elevated station Nov. 14, District Attorney Dodd announced today after seven additional arrests had been made.

Both Diamonds denied firing the shots which killed the messengers, from whom $43,000 was stolen, but furnished the names of three gunmen alleged to have done the actual slaying, according to Mr. Dodd, who said that descriptions of the trio had been sent all over the country.

Seven Men Arrested

NEW YORK, Nov. 28. Seven additional arrests of men suspected of participating in the slaying and robbery of two Brooklyn bank messengers Nov. 14, were made today. Six were taken in a raid on an apartment in the Bronx, while Anthony Pantano accused of being the "tip off" man for the gunmen, was arrested at his Brooklyn home.

Barlow and Joseph Diamond, brothers, already are in custody charged with murder and robbery.

The Bronx apartment where the six were taken was a bandit redezvous and it was there that the man who instigated the Brooklyn robbery and slaying called his aides for conferences the police said. They added that the plotter of the crime was a "master criminal."

Pantano, former employe of the bank whose messengers were killed, was alleged by the investigators to have furnished the gunmen with information of the movement of the messengers and to have warned them that both of the bank employes who carried the money, were fearless men and "quick on the draw."

All of the prisoners were taken to Manhattan police headquarters for questioning by Inspector Coughlin.

CHILDREN INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENTS

Three accidents in which children were injured by automobiles occurred during the noon hour today.

Thomas Gilday, 12 years of age, residing at 17 Blinkhorn street, was knocked down by an automobile operated by Ray E. Tucker of 162 Branch street and owned by the Lowell Motor Sales company. The accident occurred near the fire station on West Sixth street, when the boy ran directly in front of the machine. He was taken to St. John's hospital, where the extent of his injuries will not be known until an X-ray is taken.

Six-year-old Irene Arsenault of 51 Marshall street, was knocked down by a truck owned by Morris J. Shapiro of 31 Nichols street and operated by Amos V. Akerly of 496

VERDICT FOR DEFENDANT IN SUPERIOR COURT

A verdict for the defendant was found this morning by Judge Nelson P. Brown in jury-waived superior court session here, in the case of Mikel Linzis against John Risgin, both of Carlisle. The suit involved the sale of property there in connection with which plaintiff charged deceit was practised by the defendant. Mr. Howard, of Qua, Howard & Rogers for the defense, contended that the alleged conversation on which the deceit charge was based took place on a Sunday and therefore did not constitute the basis for a suit at law.

It was further contended by the

"What I'd Like To Be Thankful For"—A Symposium of Thanksgiving Wishes of Five American Celebrities

BY WILL ROGERS

I suppose I ought to have a lot of things to be thankful for besides turkey with the wife and kids, but I ain't satisfied.

WILL ROGERS

Of course I'm having a lot of fun making two-reel comedies, but I hanker to show my art and get fan letters from flappers like they write to Valentino and Lew Cody and those other handsome devils.

I ain't got such a bad figger — that's how I got by in the Follies—but I wish I had the sex appeal to get into DeMille's nightgown dramas.

That's what I'd like to be thankful for!

BY BABE RUTH

One more home run to beat out Cy Williams? Well, that would have been nice.

BABE RUTH

Beat Harry Heilmann for batting honors? That would have been sweet.

One more chance at the old pill in that world series eighth inning, with three men on base? Say, I'd have given my shirt for one more sock.

But if I only had somebody, up here on this farm, to get out and chop all the wood that's waiting for me—that's what I would like to be thankful for.

BY MARY PICKFORD

First, I should like to be thankful for having done something immortal, for having left some indisputably lasting impression; not in a narrowly selfish or vainglorious sense, but in the assurance that some work of mine was accounted a worthy relic of our common human striving and an honor to my profession.

MARY PICKFORD

Second, for having freed myself of that fear, that timidity which is the weed strangling humanity; keeping many of us in old ruts, reluctant to assert and do the valid things for which we might be temporarily misunderstood.

Until I have achieved them, I shall be thankful that I retain the active dissatisfaction which spurs one on to desired accomplishment.

BY GEORGE JEAN NATHAN

Co-Editor with H. L. Menken of the American Mercury

I'd be thankful if the taste of the American public would improve up to the point where it would be possible to produce "The Last Night of Don Juan." I'd be thankful if a traveling man ever came to New York and asked to see something besides a girlie show.

NATHAN

I'd be thankful if Americans got over the passion for expressing everything in figures—57 varieties, 99 44-100 per cent pure, 100 per cent. American, etc.

BY SENATOR MAGNUS JOHNSON

First, I should like to have the opportunity to be thankful for the complete absence of poverty, misery, hatred, heartache and worry throughout the entire world.

JOHNSON

Second, I should like to be thankful for the existence of prosperity and happiness among the farmers, workers and business people of America. The knowledge that every person in the world was enjoying the full fruits of his efforts would make me very thankful indeed. And while the realization of these desires seems far away, yet I find it within me today to raise my voice in thanks that we are making progress toward the consummation of these ideals.

TOM SIMS SAYS

Be thankful you don't smoke. It's a bad habit. Be thankful you do smoke. It's lots of fun.

Be thankful you don't drink. Makes you drunk. Be thankful you do drink. Keeps you from being sober.

Be thankful you have hair on your head. Looks nice. Be thankful you are bald. Saves combing.

Be thankful you went to college. Great asset. Be thankful you didn't go to college. Great asset.

Be thankful you don't eat onions. Onions smell. Be thankful you do eat onions. Onions taste fine.

Be thankful all girls are not blondes. Blondes are dizzy. Be thankful some are blondes. Blondes are dizzy.

Be thankful you have a home. Very enjoyable. Be thankful you have no home. Taxes are too high.

Be thankful you are married. Real happiness. Be thankful you are not married. Real happiness.

Be thankful you can sing. Singers are welcome. Be thankful you can't sing. Singers are pests.

Be thankful you have an auto. Great convenience. Be thankful you have no auto. Great nuisance.

Be thankful you are rich. Saves worry. Be thankful you are poor. Can't lose your fortune.

Be thankful you are thankful. Makes you thankful. Be thankful you are not thankful. Be thankful.

THANKSGIVING PARTY AT OLD LADIES' HOME

An exceptionally entertaining and interesting Thanksgiving program was given at the Old Ladies' home in Fletcher street, at 6.30 o'clock last evening, by members of the Pollyanna, Golden Rule and Lithuanian clubs affiliated with the International institute. The program was given in the general assembly hall and for the benefit of those who were unable to attend the entertainment in the lower hall, the girls gave short programs in the individual rooms. Baskets of fruit were distributed by the girls and a merry time was enjoyed by all, with each and every one promising a return visit to the home. The program as given follows.

America,
All.
Recitation,
Blanche Malinowska.
Polish National hymn,
Golden Rule club.
Dance,
Helen Vrettas, Fortina Pelecasis.
Recitation,
Helen Vrettas.
Greek Shepherd dance,

Star Spangled Banner,
All.

A new club has been formed at the Institute, the "Little Climbers," composed of Greek girls of about 13 years of age. The first meeting will be held on Friday next, from 6 to 8 o'clock, and a cooking class will be started. The officers of the club are: President, Anastasia George; secretary, Mary Giannerakos; treasurer, Pota Contas.

COMPLETE PLANS FOR THANKSGIVING

At a luncheon held at the Y.W.C.A. yesterday about 25 members of the Tri-Hi-Girl Reserve club were present and plans for their Thanksgiving activities were completed. Plans were also discussed for the Christmas bazaar to be held Dec. 16 and 17.

This afternoon the girls went to the O'Leary home and executed a fine program of entertainment which brought joy to the children of the home. Miss Dorothy Mignault was the principal story teller of the afternoon and her Thanksgiving story produced many "ohs and ahs" from her listeners. Games were then enjoyed and other stories told by members of the club. The feature of the afternoon, however, was the teaching of the children by the girls to make apple brownies with apples, raisins and marshmallows.

Gave Demonstration

A demonstration of dainty and useful articles made of moulding wax was given by Miss Gwendolyn Marshall of the Dennison Co. of Boston, this noon in the living room of the Y.W.C.A. before a large gathering of interested women and young women. Miss Shirley, girls' work secretary had charge of the meeting which proved both instructive and interesting.

Your Health

by Dr. C. C. Robinson

HOW TO EAT

(Thanksgiving Recipe)

"Now good digestion waits on appetite, and good health on both." Thanksgiving may be a time of real joy on account of a number of conditions, but first and best of all is good health. Of course, we must remember there is no such condition as bad health; all health is good. But if your digestive system is doing the right thing and there is sufficient coal in the bin to counteract the attacks of the weather man, why worry about the size of the turkey? To eat your Thanksgiving dinner in an enjoyable way and at the same time avoid impairing your health is our topic for the day.

Cheer

Remember that cheerfulness is a most necessary asset for enjoying a real meal. If your wife has invited someone who doesn't agree with your idea on the league of nations, don't forget to carry on with a smile just the same. It helps the liver secretions. If you are an inside worker, try and hike a few miles before dinner. It's a wonderful tonic for the appetite. Drop in on someone who may be less fortunate than yourself and drop a good-sized package of Thanksgiving cheer in the shape of a dinner basket. Your own dinner will taste much better and it won't impair your health one bit.

Many people will find a real help to digestion if regular eating habits are observed. The change of food for the day is the real joy. Don't think you have to eat everything. Enjoy the occasion by the absence of any hurry or worry. They increase blood pressure and bring on that throbbing headache.

Don't Hurry

Run your dinner on schedule time and don't keep the man part of the family waiting two or three hours. He will hurry his eating, and approach the feast in a wrong attitude of mind.

Don't forget to enjoy the vegetables; use plenty of green ones. They help the turkey or roast pig on its way rejoicing. Your health will not suffer if celery, spinach, cabbage or some tempting dish of tomatoes form a part of your menu. The best kind of season is reason.

The fruits are preferred for dessert in place of rich pudding or pies. You will get plenty of carbohydrates in the balance of the dinner.

Plan to spend at least half an hour at the table and eat slowly, chewing your food well. This will make a smaller portion more tasteful, satisfying and healthful.

And lastly, a dinner of herbs is sweet, they say, if a certain thing is around that day. Speak a quiet word of praise to mother, wife, Aunt Jennie or Sister Sue, and say the dinner was fine, at least. It may make her heart beat a little faster or increase the blood pressure for the time being, but no doctor would think of prescribing for such a condition. It's good for what ails you.

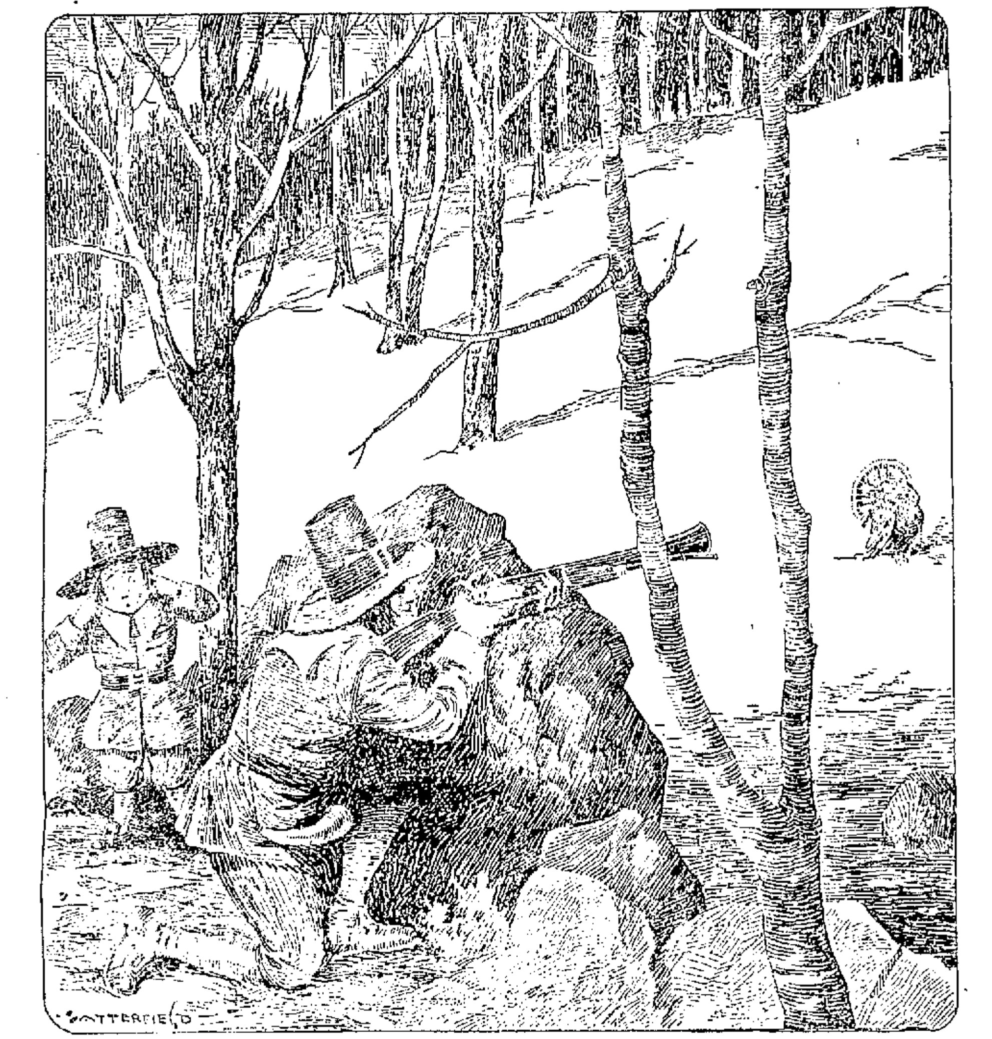
DAY OF THANKS

THANKSGIVING DAY originated as a time of thanks for plentiful harvests which made it certain that the early settlers of America would be able to endure the winter without starving.

Thanksgiving has gradually come to mean much more. It is the time of thanks for all such blessings as good crops, prosperity, health, peace, children, happy homes. In short, it is the one time of the year when the whole nation, regardless of creed or sect, unites in recognition of the spiritual—of our dependence on Almighty God.

Those early New England pioneers endured severe hardships. They lived close to starvation, in fearful cold, amid hostile Indians. They had little to be thankful for, yet they devoutly gave thanks. Surely we should be made thoughtful and appreciatively humble as we ponder how much more we have to be thankful for than the Pilgrims.

YE OLDE THANKSGIVING



ST. ANNE'S CHURCH

On Thursday at 10.30 a. m., Thanksgiving Day services will be held in St. Anne's church. Music will be under the direction of William G. Heller, organist, and the choir of men and boys will sing. Rev. Appleton Grannis will make an address appropriate to the occasion. This service will last just one hour. The public is cordially invited.

WASHINGTON SCHOOL

Thanksgiving day exercises were held in the Washington school today, with the grammar and primary departments presenting well arranged programs. Principal, John E. Carr, and the teachers who trained the children were well rewarded for their efforts for the little ones gave their parts cleverly. In addition to the entertainments it was announced that the children of Miss Kilpartrick's class had collected a large amount of fruit and vegetables to be given to some needy persons for Thanksgiving day.

The exercises for the grammar department were given by the pupils of the sixth grade under the direction of Miss Sanders and Miss Coughlin. They consisted of piano solos by Dorothy Scott, Dorothy Duggan, Evelyn Harmon, Marie Fitton, Gladys Heathcock; violin solo by Rossalie Gately; recitations by Uriel Lemkin, Mildred Harvey, Mendell Berman, Phyllis Miller, Elinor Thomas, Helen Souza, Theodore Wick and Harold Silver; dances by Natalie Roode and Mabel Perry; dialogue by Frances Willey, Madeline Philbrick, John Lyons and Edward Walsh; singing by Miss Sanders' class, singing by a semi-chorus composed of Virginia Silva, Emily Correia, Glenice Thompson, Emile Vallerand, Cecil Petrie and Kenneth Lawson; dialogue by Ruth Lutz, Doris Brown, Ruby Ware, Mary Hogan.

The exercises in the primary department was under the direction of Miss McQuestion, Miss Agnew, Miss Duffin, and Mrs. Griffin, Miss McQuesten's class being host to the others. All classes contributed songs and there were recitations by Margaret Jamieson, Naomi Blake, Paul Lundwall, Eleanor Sullivan, Leon Parker, Esther Petrie, Doris Evans, Brenda Ryan; songs by Nava Gordon, Henrietta Curley, Leah Walton, Eleanor Shay, Ernestine Correia, Royal Diette and Billy Flynn. This part of the program was followed by a very pretty Pilgrim play under the direction of Miss McQuesten with the following taking part: Pilgrim men—Wesley Decatur, Billy Sullivan, Marshall Hird, Royal Diette, Billy Flynn, Hugh Rooney; Elder Brewster, Donald Duggan; Pilgrim women—Henrietta Curley, Eleanor Shay, Betty Hull, Vera Sullivan, Frances Belleros, Kathryn Beach, Leah Walton, Dorothy McDermott, Ernestine Correia, Susan Green; Dutch children—Vera Nickles, Grace Stoddard, Albert Peabody, Edward Stone.

Berton Braley's Daily Poem

THE DAY OF FILL-FULLMENT

There isn't any question
  That overeating brings
A lot of indigestion
  And other kindred things;
But though our rules of living
  Are strict and sane enough,
We sit down on Thanksgiving
  And we stuff.

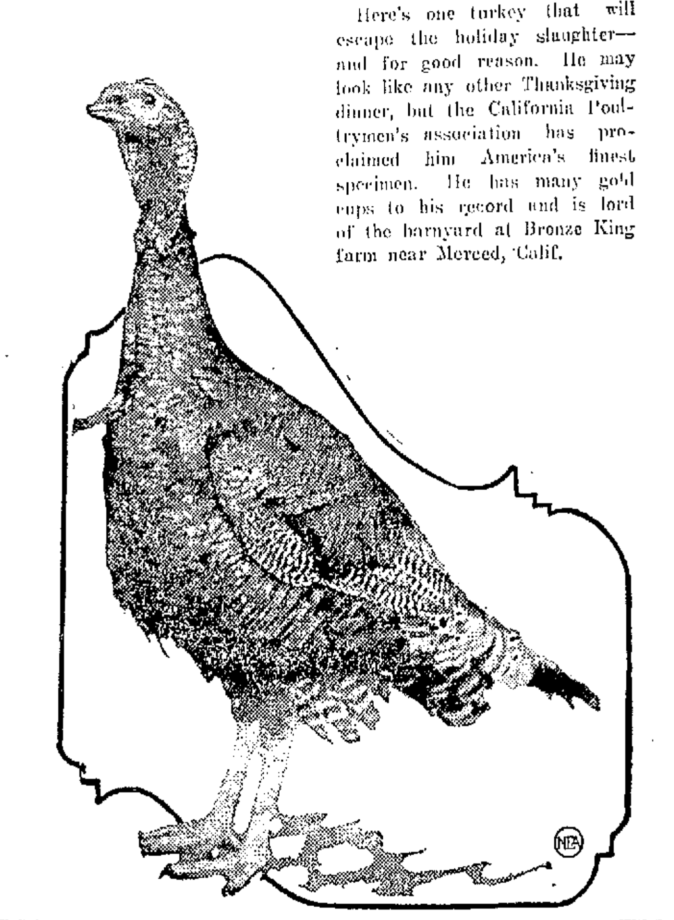
In brisk November weather
  With diet rules ignored
The household gets together
  About the groaning board.
And though the sky be murky
  We care not for its gloom,
We have a portly turkey
  To consume.

We're thankful for each blessing
  That we have come across—
("Please help me to that dressing
  And more cranberry sauce"),
For all our joys we're grateful
  Thanksgiving is the word
("I'll take another plateful
  Of that bird.")

Our duty lies before us
  Friends, husbands, children, wives,
Come join in on the chorus
  Of forks and spoons and knives.
Let happiness and mirth be
  About the planet spread
And everyone on earth be
  Overfed!

THIS BIRD HAS NO FEAR OF AX

Here's one turkey that will escape the holiday slaughter—and for good reason. He may look like any other Thanksgiving dinner, but the California Poultrymen's association has proclaimed him America's finest specimen. He has many gold cups to his record and is lord of the barnyard at Bronze King farm near Merced, Calif.



THANKSGIVING CHEER FOR POOR FAMILIES

Thanksgiving good cheer was spreading fast through Lowell's foreign colonies today. A good-sized stream of holiday delicacies enclosed in colored baskets or paper parcels, as happened to be the case when friendly gifts from unknows, came to the Church of All Nations for distribution by Pastor H. J. Skeirik and an aide corps of hard-working assistants.

Vegetables innumerable, meats, oranges, fruits in variety, preserves, tidbits in vinegar solutions, tea, coffee and cocoa, pastry confections and lots of other nice things were packed up in proper receptacles in the church kitchen this morning and made ready for the basket-carriers who started on their happy rounds this afternoon.

Last year the Thanksgiving dinners went out from the little chapel and children's recreation quarters on Suffolk street. Only memories cling to that ancient haven today, the quarters being now leased by a busy merchant who has erased everything that was once refulgent with bounty, good-will and Christian fellowship.

Among this morning's substantial gifts received by the workers at Church of All Nations, were remembrances provided by the members of Highland Union church, this city, and the Trull family of North Tewksbury.

HAPPY CHILDREN AT DAY NURSERY

Fifty-five happy, contented, grateful children sat down to a bountiful Thanksgiving repast with all the "fixin's" tendered them this noon by the matron of the Day Nursery, Mrs. Nelson, in the Nursery's quarters in First street. The feast was spread in the large dining hall which had been appropriately decorated for the occasion in the season's colors. Following the dinner, various games were played by the children, who were not obliged to return to school. Stories were told by the matron and her assistants during the course of the afternoon and sweets and fruit were passed around. At 4 o'clock a luncheon was served to all upon the return of the school children and more games played. At 5.30 the youngsters, as thankful as young hearts can be, returned to their homes after participating in the joyous all-afternoon Thanksgiving festival provided for them by their kind matron.

FIREMEN'S BALL AT THE AUDITORIUM TONIGHT

The annual concert and ball of the Lowell Firemen's Relief Fund association will be held in the Memorial Auditorium this evening and a gay scene is predicted. Plans for this event have been in the making for several weeks and nothing has been overlooked to make it a memorable one.

The program will open with a concert overture by Campbell's augmented orchestra and this will be followed by the grand march, which will get under way at 9 o'clock.

Robert W. Broadbent is general manager of the affair, and will be assisted by the following:

Thomas F. Sullivan, assistant general manager; floor director, Archie E. Keneflck; assistant floor directors, James F. Nelligan and Joseph A. Ready; chief aids, James P. McCready, Hugh F. Finnerty, George W. Cumming, Paul A. Johnson, William J. Graham and Thomas F. McColough; treasurer of L.F.F.A., Capt. Edward F. Cunningham; secretary, Lieut. George H. McDermott; reception committee, Chief Edward F. Saunders, First District Chief James C. Sullivan, Second District Chief Daniel H. Crowley and Third District Chief Thomas F. Saunders.

DARING HOLDUP NETS $20,000

Seven Armed Men Rob Bank Messengers in Heart of Seattle's Business District

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 28.—A daring and apparently well planned holdup of two Bank of California messengers at a street intersection in the heart of Seattle's business district late yesterday, netted seven bandits $20,000 worth of negotiable bonds. No trace of the robbers, who were heavily armed, had been found early today.

A small automobile blocked the path of the messengers' car at Jackson street and Second avenue, a crowded intersection and two men leaped out, covered the bank messengers with pistols and snatched two satchels containing the bonds and checks. Two other men stepped out from the sidewalk, and hand-cuffed the motorcycle policeman to his machine. A fifth prevented a pedestrian at the curb from giving aid. Two other members of the gang were seen in the bandits' automobile. When the first pair darted back into their automobile with the satchels, the bandits who were on foot escaped through the crowd.

Thousands Out to View Fire

the foot of Woodward avenue, was one of the oldest in the city and some of the buildings burned had been standing 50 years. They were as tinder before the flames.

Every downtown fire company, many from the outlying sections and three fireboats fought the flames.

Two minutes after the first alarm had been sounded, the fire had eaten into the Finsterwald warehouse and great flames, that lighted up Windsor, across the Detroit river, were shooting skyward. Before the fire company could reach the scene, the flames had spread to the six story building across an alley.

Three persons were injured, one probably seriously.

It was the most spectacular fire that has visited the Detroit business district in years.

One Perished in New York Fire

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—One man was burned to death and about 20 other persons were burned, four of them seriously, in a fire which swept through a five story tenement on West 111th street, early today. The dead man, who was burned beyond recognition, was found on the top floor. Ten families were forced to the street in scanty attire, many being assisted through smoke-filled hallways by firemen. The cause of the fire is unknown.

BOWLING AT ARMORY

The opening of the bowling season at the State Armory on Westford street last night resulted in a victory for the team from Co. D, 182nd Infantry over Co. C from the same organization. The pinfall was 1330 for the victors and 1283 for the vanquished team. Basketball teams are being organized among the various military units using the armory and it is expected that a large amount of competition will be shown. The various indoor athletics are run under the direction of the Armory Athletic association.

LOWELL DISTRICT COURT

Autoist Who Bumped Into Traffic Beacon is Charged With Drunkenness

Failing to stop and make himself known after the machine which he was operating bumped into and practically demolished the traffic beacon and light at Central and Market sts. about midnight last night, Clarence G. Baker of Thirteenth street was arrested after a chase, which extended through the downtown streets and in the Highlands as far as Smith and Westford streets, and arraigned in district court this morning on charges of drunkenness and operating an automobile while he was under the influence of liquor. He waived the reading and on a plea of not guilty was continued in $400 until Dec. 8. Sergt. James Kennedy apprehended Baker, after trailing him in a commandeered machine.

In imposing a fine of $20 on James McDowell, charged with operating without a license, Judge Enright emphasized previous statements that offenses of this nature must be stopped and that unauthorized persons will not be extended leniency in his court. McDowell was the driver of a truck which skidded in Thorndike street last Saturday noon and crashed into a machine owned by the Crescent Towel Supply Co., damaging a wheel and mudguard of that machine.

Robert J. Lawson was found guilty of non-support of a minor child and was ordered to contribute $7 weekly to its support.

A former suspension of five months in the house of correction, hanging over William Briere, was revoked and he was ordered to stand committed on the sentence. He was charged with drunkenness. His wife appeared against him and told the court she "would rather live on a 'crust' than tolerate him any longer."

Anthony Dubinski, drunkenness, was given a sentence of three months in the house of correction, suspended for one year.

DEFECTIVE WIRE THE CAUSE OF FIRE

After a thorough investigation as to the cause of the fire in the J.&P. Quinn Coal company's yards last Monday night, the police, according to Captain Petrie, have practically concluded that defective electric wiring was responsible. The investigation, which was prompted by a suspicion of incendiarism, was concluded late yesterday afternoon.

SOFT-DRINK QUESTION ON THE BALLOT

"Shall licenses be granted for the sale of certain non-intoxicating beverages in this city?"

This question will appear on the ballot at city election next Tuesday per order of the secretary of state. It applies to the sale of beverages containing less than ½ of 1 per cent alcoholic content, mainly near-beer.

What would happen in the event of a "no" vote prevailing is difficult to state, but it is believed such an expression of opinion would lead the license commission to refuse the issuance of licenses to petitioners for near-beer emporiums.

Judging from recent expressions of opinion on the question, however, it is fair to assume that a "yes" vote will predominate to no uncertain extent.

Although it is believed that the total vote next Tuesday will be somewhat larger than that of primary day when hardly 40 per cent of the registration went to the polls, it is said that in wards 6 and 7, both large numerically, a very small vote will be registered because of the absence of councillor contests. Persons familiar with conditions in those two big voting districts said today that interest in the election is very low and a small vote is expected.

DEATHS

CRAIG—Mrs. Elizabeth Craig, a well known and highly respected resident of this city for over 50 years and a member of the Sacred Heart parish, died this morning at her home, 21 Swift street after a brief illness. She was ever ready and anxious to help those in distress and her many kindly and charitable acts will long be remembered. She leaves two daughters, Miss Katherine Craig and Miss Annie Craig, two sons, Michael and John Craig, one sister, Mrs. James Gallagher and two grandchildren.

RUPA—Martin Rupa, a well known resident of this city, died last night at the State hospital in Worcester, after several weeks' illness. His home was at 71 Andover street. The body will be brought to this city today by Undertaker Joseph J. Sadowski.

MANGAN—Miss Annie Mangan, a well known old resident of St. Margaret's parish, died yesterday at her home, 28 C street, after a long illness. The body was removed to the rooms of Undertakers O'Connell & Fay, 658 Gorham street.

Would Withdraw State Support From Schools

whole of Massachusetts are under burden enough now without saddling the maintenance of the textile schools upon us," said one mill man this morning. "If state support is withdrawn from these schools they'll find themselves pretty much up against it in my opinion. They would have to stand or fall upon their own resources.

"The mills are not unfriendly with the schools—quite to the contrary they are generally approved and endorsed. They are not without their many good points but we can get along without them and probably would find it necessary to do so rather than to support them.

Mills Taxed Enough Now

"The schools do good work but nevertheless we should not be expected to support them. We are taxed enough now without hanging three schools upon us additional tax orphans. In this connection it might be well to remind Mr. Jackson or whoever is fostering this plan that the textile schools of Massachusetts are training the candidates of our competitors from other states and from foreign markets.

"Surely we should not be expected to foot the whole bill for the education of those whose very ambition is to defeat our New England industries. The mills could better afford and would prefer to conduct their own training schools inside their individual mills and have there as students youth who would be more likely to do good, not harm, to their personal business."

Another manufacturer here expressed himself along the same line but mentioned one or two other angles. "We are interested in the textile schools and think that it is great for the state to support them," he said. "However, if it is left to the mill men to support them, you'll soon find your schools boarded up indefinitely. Most of us are glad to place graduates of the regular courses and to advance night school students, but when it comes to paying the textile school's bills, I think you'd find most of us would quit cold.

Says Raise Tuition Rates

"Why should Lowell mills pay the bills for educating students for southern and foreign mill work, our competitors of the present and future. If the state wants to reduce its bill, let it start a revision of its tuition schedules. Youths from outside the state can come here for a pittance far below the cost of training and go through these schools. In the meantime the mills of Lowell and of all New England are fighting for their very existence. Real economists and real patriots should be figuring how to ease our tax burden instead of how to increase it."

President C. H. Eames of the Lowell Textile school, in speaking to a reporter this morning, declined to comment when mention was made of the Jackson plan.

BOYS AND MEN LEAD

Have Higher Native Intelligence Than Girls and Women, Says Dr. Douglas

SPOKANE, Wash., Nov. 28.—Figures and gradings procured from exhaustive examinations show that boys and men have a higher native intelligence than girls and women, Dr. A. A. Douglas of Washington State college declared in an address before the Spokane County School Teachers' association.

He added, however, that the margin was so slight as to be negligible. All examinations so far devised tend to show the male's superiority, especially after the fourth grade, he asserted.

FUNERALS

CARNEY—The funeral of Mrs. Katherine Carney took place this morning at 8.30 o'clock from 14 Highland street, and proceeded to the Immaculate Conception church where, at 9 o'clock, a funeral high mass of requiem was sung by Rev. Owen P. McQuaid, O.M.I. The choir sang the Gregorian chant, the solos being sustained by Mrs. Hugh Walker and Mr. Charles Smith. Mrs. Hugh Walker presided at the organ. Burial took place in St. Patrick's cemetery, where the committal prayers were read by Rev. Fr. McQuaid, O.M.I. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertakers M. H. McDonough Sons.

REED—The funeral of George F. Reed took place this morning at 8.15 o'clock from the home of his daughter, Mrs. Walter J. L'Esperance, 16 White street, and was very largely attended by relatives and friends including Mayor John J. Donovan, who was a lifelong friend of the deceased. The cortege proceeded to St. Michael's church where, at 9 o'clock, a high mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. James F. Lynch. The choir, under the direction of Miss Margaret Griffin rendered the Gregorian mass, the solos being sustained by Miss Griffin and Mrs. Margaret (McDonough) Maguire. Mrs. Ella Reilly Toye presided at the organ. There was a profusion of floral offerings as well as many spiritual bouquets. The bearers were Messrs. Thomas M. Reed, William E. Reed, Walter J. L'Esperance and Romeo Bernaby. The burial took place in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery, where the committal prayers were read at the grave by Rev. Fr. Lynch. The arrangements were in charge of Funeral Directors James W. McKenna Sons.

JEWETT—Funeral services for Walter S. Jewett were held at his home, 19 Boynton street, yesterday afternoon, Rev. Charles S. Otto, pastor of St. Paul's Methodist church, officiated. Post 120, G.A.R. was represented by George H. Nutting, commander; Charles W. Nevers, adjutant; George E. Clogston, J.V.C.; George Barnett, chaplain; Alvin W. Stockwell, officer of the day; Charles H. Stickney, quartermaster, and Charles W. Prouty. Post 42 was represented by Joseph Denis, who read the burial service of the order. The bearers were Robert J. Fullerton, George H. Gallagher, Geo. F. Worthen, Jr., Asa Stickney and Jas. L. McDonald, all of Admiral Farragut Camp, Sons of Veterans. Burial was in Edson cemetery, where the burial service was read by Rev. Mr. Otto. The funeral was under the direction of Undertaker W. Herbert Blake.

BLADES—Funeral services for Mrs. Clara Blades were held at the rooms of Undertaker W. Herbert Blake last evening, Rev. Henry Quimby, rector of St. John's Episcopal church, officiating. Burial took place in Edson cemetery this morning.

GONSALVES—The funeral of Virginia Gonsalves took place yesterday from the home of her parents, Joseph and Adelaide Martin Gonsalves, 29 C street. Services were held at St. Anthony's church, the prayers being read by Rev. Joseph Grillo. There were many beautiful floral offerings. Burial took place in St. Patrick's cemetery. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertakers M. H. McDonough Sons.

HIGH MASS OF REQUIEM

A high mass of requiem will be celebrated at St. Joseph's church at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning for the repose of the souls of the deceased members of St. Joseph's College Alumni. A special program, appropriate to the occasion, has been prepared by Choirmaster Telesphore Malo and all members of the alumni will attend in a body. At 9.30 o'clock at St. Jean Baptiste church a high mass of requiem will be celebrated for the deceased members of Court St. Antoine, O.F.F. It is the usual annual custom to have a requiem mass celebrated for deceased members and all are invited to attend. A special invitation is tendered the parents of the deceased to be present at the services. The members of the court will assemble at the clubrooms on Moody street at 9 o'clock and march in a body to the church where the centre aisles will be reserved for them.

CARD OF THANKS

We, the undersigned, wish to extend our sincere thanks for the many kindnesses shown us during the death of our beloved brother. Especially are we grateful to the Lowell Order of Eagles. One and all shall ever be held in loving remembrance.

THANKSGIVING BASKETS FOR POOR FAMILIES

Donations totaling $126.45 were received in the drive conducted this past week for Thanksgiving baskets to be distributed among poor families of the city by the Al Luttringer players.

The Opera House players will distribute the baskets, over 40 in all, to various poor families tomorrow. All of the members of the company have expressed a desire to aid in the distribution and Vi Browne, Mr. Morgan and Mr. Meland have promised to use their cars in making the calls.

The Mahoney garage has offered to furnish free any additional cars or drivers that may be desired. The baskets, with contents bought from local dealers at cost price and less because of their desire to aid such a worthy cause, will be furnished families whose names were furnished by the local charities.

Several appealing notes were received in the past week by Manager Barholt and these families will all be cared for. The players will personally make the deliveries tomorrow morning. Besides the cash contribution placed in the sealed boxes used by the ushers at each performance, many jars of jellies, jams and preserves as well as quantities of pies, cakes, fruits and groceries were received from theatregoers who expressed themselves as highly pleased at being given the opportunity to co-operate.

Mrs. Bertha Geoffrey and Leo Arsenault of Lowell and Lena Curtin of Cambridge, all seriously injured in the Tyngsboro accident Sunday which proved fatal to Daniel Sullivan, are reported as still in critical shape at Corporation hospital.

Miss Constantina Coutchouras, former Greek worker at the International Institute, has resigned her position to accept that of teacher at the Manchester, N. H., high school.

Miss Marguerite Woodbury, office secretary of the International Institute, will spend Thanksgiving week-end with her brother, Mr. Leroy Woodbury, of Worcester.

Last night the Greek bishop of New England, Joachim Alexopoulous, was entertained at the Ansonia Cafe by a group of leading Greeks consisting of Athas Spilios, president of the Boston Greek community, Javas Anagnos Reverent Sousiides and John Vlahos.

From word received today from Hugh C. McOsker, chairman of the board of election commissioners, it is believed he will be able to return to his work the first of next week, after an illness which has kept him under the care of a physician for the past two weeks.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Edmond Simard and Miss Dorothy Devarenne were united in the bonds of matrimony at 7 o'clock this morning at St. Joseph's rectory by Very Rev. J. E. Turcotte, O.M.I. The couple were attended by Mr. Mederic Simard and Mr. Odore Desmaris. The bride was attired in a brown suit with hat to match and carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses. Following the ceremony a reception was tendered the couple at the home of the bridegroom's parents. A wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents, following which the couple left on a wedding trip to Torrington, Conn., and upon their return will reside on Pawtucket street.

Landry—Genest

A wedding of interest to residents of Pawtucketville took place this morning when Mr. Leonard Landry and Miss Ida Genest, daughter of Councillor and Mrs. Arthur Genest, were united in the bonds of matrimony at a nuptial mass celebrated at Ste. Jeanne D'Arc's church at 7.45 o'clock this morning by Rev. Charles Denizot, O.M.I. The couple were attended by Miss Blanche Gauthier, cousin of the bride as bridesmaid and Mr. Octave Landry, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. The bride and bridesmaid wore navy blue poiret twill suits and silver hats. The bride carried a bouquet of American beauty roses while the bridesmaid carried a bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums. A reception and wedding breakfast were tendered the bridal couple at the home of the bride's parents, 475 Varnum avenue, following which Mr. and Mrs. Landry left on an extended wedding trip to Connecticut and surrounding points of interest. Upon their return they will reside in the Ricard apartments on Moody street, where they will be at home to friends after Dec. 8.

CONDITION IMPROVED

The condition of Loretta Foley, six-year-old girl who was badly injured last Wednesday evening when struck down by an automobile, the driver of which continued on his way without rendering any assistance to her, is reported today at St. John's hospital as slightly improved.

About the middle of December Engineer Kearney will submit to the board of public service his recommendations for paving in 1924 and plans to have the program be a continuance of work accomplished this year and in 1922.

Sheds For Street Trucks

The public service board will meet at the city stables in Broadway on Friday afternoon of this week to confer with Building Superintendent Francis A. Connor on the matter of providing suitable sheds for the winter storage of street department trucks and other road equipment. At the present time these machines are not adequately protected and the board desires to have them all under cover in suitable sheds before winter sets in.

The regular weekly meeting of the board will be held at the office of the street department at 4 p. m.

DRILL LAST NIGHT AT STATE ARMORY

Forty members of the various local units of the Organized Reserve took part in the first drill of the organization last night at the state armory.

The men were divided into squads according to their regiments and the following officers were in charge of the instruction: Major Francis J. Toohey, artillery drill; Capt. Geo. Faneuf, drill with French 75s. Lieut. Ishmael Parks calisthenics, Lieut. Parks and Sergt. Timothy Kimball, infantry drill, and Capt. Clarence G. Livingston, hygiene and sanitation.

The next drill will be held Dec. 11 at the armory. Following the regular drill the Organized Reserve pistol team, bowling team and basketball team will enter in competition with similar teams composed of National Guard members.

THANKSGIVING OFFERINGS

The Lowell Social Service league is receiving applications through their office, from persons who are desirous of giving baskets laden with food to poor families on the occasion of Thanksgiving. The Lowell Normal school has offered to donate 25 baskets in this manner. Anyone wishing to aid worthy families may secure the names of these families from the offices of the Social Service league by telephone.

Big Drop in Turkeys

fresh-killed turks is today's average price in the largest Lowell markets.

You can buy an unlimited amount of the fresh-kills from 35 to 40 cents. Two Kearney square markets flashed new window bulletins early this morning, announcing price drops from 50 to 35 cents for finest birds.

A few markets are asking 40 and 42 and refuse to cut prices lower. Others on Gorham, Middlesex and Merrimack streets have taken down yesterday's 40 and 45-cent placards and today simply advertise "Finest fresh turkeys at lowest prices in Lowell."

All of the markets who carried red and blue signs with 40 and 45-cent figures emblazoned yesterday, discarded them today.

Overstocked—curtailed retail demand—this is the average dealer's excuse for today's impressive price-cuts on poultry offerings.

The sudden slashing of prices for the popular Thanksgiving birds follows a glutted market the heaviest-stocked poultry market in years. Business has been demoralized in the market districts, for the previous firm prices no doubt kept family dinner buyers off and retarded prompt sales of high-price birds. Yesterday's distributions to housekeepers from the popular marketing stalls of the city were far from up to last year's sales records. When the doors were locked on the storage rooms last night, most of the storekeepers found stocks so heavy that it was realized only a portion of it could be unloaded today, even with a real rush of the Christmas epidemic brand.

With Lowell buyers generally conservative this fall in all goods purchased, according to local business men who know, the marketmen have felt the buyers' retrenching methods and freely admit it. And so this morning, with counters and ice boxes and many cellars loaded to the gunwales with fresh-killed birds, New England's, westerns and lots of delectable southern-raised, added to a monstrously large stock of regulation cold-storage offerings moving slowly, prices were revamped, slashes made on everything on the calendar and today Lowell housekeepers can save a lot of money by taking advantage of the glutted sales markets.

No marketman will deny that the markets of New England today are greatly overstocked. Late shipments reached Boston yesterday and demoralized the Hub markets. In the Faneuil hall districts wholesale prices for fresh Vermont birds and other fancy selections dropped to 22 cents by the wagon load.

Local dealers complained yesterday that Lowell housekeepers are not buying freely this year. They explain that every possible inducement has been offered to encourage buying. There are wonderful selections in other lines outside the realm of the turkey. Geese, ducks, quail, roast pigs, excellent lamb, pork, beef prices lower than last year, particularly on the geese and ducks.

Some dealers say they wish they hadn't stocked up quite so heavily for today's last rush that isn't such a rush after all, most of the turkey sellers admit. Some fear a big hold-over stock which may have to be retailed after the holiday at even lower prices than those decided upon for today's "finals."

One Kearney square merchant's right hand man said: "Heavy stocks, slow movements, that is why prices were cut heavily this morning. Turkeys haven't moved speedily as we expected, neither has other poultry which is offered in abundance at fair prices. We are trying to kick a little life in today's trading. We believe before nightfall that we will have all the business we want. The lower prices are getting out the buyers right now. The weather is just right for the finish."

ROTARIANS REMEMBER THANKSGIVING DAY

Lowell Rotary remembered Thanksgiving Day and what it means to Rotarians today.

There was no elaborate observance at the clubrooms on Dutton street, but numerous members of the charitable group were on hand this morning to put the "finishing touches" on the turkey dinner baskets. These were distributed this afternoon by Major Walter R. Joyes to several needy families whose names had been given to the Rotary "rescue crew" late last week.

Rotary obtained all fresh-killed birds this year and Major Joyes got a 30-cent price for the lot. The dealer who made the price for the Rotarians said they could have as many more as they wanted at that same price.

No events of a social nature for Lowell Rotary were scheduled for tonight at the Dutton street club, with the exception of the regular festivities of club members and guests. But Christmas is coming and a Rotary Christmas is always worth waiting for.

IDENTIFIED AS SLAYER OF N. Y. DRUGGIST

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Michael O. Mensarus, one of the six men arrested in the Bronx today in connection with the slaying and robbery of two Brooklyn bank messengers Nov. 14, was identified as the slayer of Jacob Bankoff, druggist, fatally shot when he resisted a holdup in his store the night of Nov. 12. The identification was made by Clement De Vries, Bankoff's clerk.

WARNED AGAINST HOLIDAY LIQUOR

Uncle Sam through his never-sleeping liquor enforcement agents sounds a pre-Thanksgiving day celebration warning to all persons to be chary about what they imbibe during the ceremonials in the vicinity of the home or club punch bowls. Even Moe and Izzy over in New York are panting with trepidation this very hour, worrying about what may happen tonight and tomorrow during the old-home festivals.

The liquor spotters warn the public that immense shipments of imitation liquors are flooding the eastern states. Massachusetts and Rhode Island are particularly unfortunate in this respect. The agents declare that shipments of wood alcohol were made to various U.S.A. districts in 1919, about the Christmas season, and more than 100 deaths resulted.

It is said that a possible repetition of that disaster will be averted if persons heed the revenuers' warning and refuse to purchase liquor of any kind anywhere at all times.

Moonshiners are reported to be preparing for a harvest tonight and tomorrow. Here is a class that has no regard for human lives when the profits are coming. It is reported that the bootleg class in both New York and New England territories are redistilling not only denatured alcohol but practically every product on the market with a large alcoholic content.

Beware, then, the stuff that isn't always what the labels say it is. Make a ginger ale or orangeade with tomorrow's dinner and be on the safe side.

THINKS MAN WAS BADLY INJURED

Charles Pappas, of 176 Cross street, reported to the police at 8.15 o'clock last night that at 12.15 o'clock yesterday morning while driving his truck on George street he had struck and knocked down a man giving the name of Charles Ballos.

Mr. Pappas reported that before he could render any assistance to Ballos two men came along and picked Ballos up and carried him away. He believed Ballos was badly injured for he was unable to pick himself up and seemed to have considerable trouble in walking even with the aid of his two companions.

WOMAN CAN KEEP A SECRET

Premier Baldwin Goes to Glasgow to Beard Radicals in Their Den

LONDON, Nov. 28.—Election canvassers in Great Britain have found that a woman can keep a secret after all. They are complaining that while it always has been and still is possible to draw from the men some idea of how they are to vote, it rarely is easy and in most cases is impossible to draw this secret from the women; consequently the canvassers cannot frame anything like a close estimate of the result of the polling on December 6. The women voters, the observers say, listen readily to the candidates, are fond of asking questions, but they are far more reserved than the men in expressing their own opinions and show no inclination to pledge themselves to support any party.

Commenting on this feature of the electoral campaign, the Daily Mail says that woman as a newcomer in politics is less susceptible to party ties and traditions and that it seems her view is more concerned with the domestic and bread and butter side of things than is the men's.

Prime Minister Baldwin is going to Glasgow tonight to beard the radicals in their den, but whether his speech will be listened to is doubtful. Many anti-labor speakers are complaining that they cannot get a hearing, especially in constituencies where the communist element is strong.

Herbert Asquith was persistently shouted down last evening in Paisley, a few miles from Glasgow. A body of men calling themselves "the anti-parliament communist federation," flourished a red banner inscribed "Hail Bolshevik Russia" and every time Mr. Asquith began to speak, a great outcry was raised. Ultimately quiet was restored for a short interval, but everything the speaker said was greeted with derisive comments. Attempts to put a resolution were defeated by the uproar, and Mr. Asquith was obliged to quit while his opponents booed and sang "The Red Flag."

SAYS HUNGER STRIKER SUICIDE

Bishop Cohalan Refuses Christian Burial for Commandant Dennis Barry

Republicanism in Ireland Wicked Attack on Church and Souls of Faithful

LONDON, Nov. 28.—Bishop Cohalan of Cork has refused Christian burial for Commandant Dennis Barry, who died from the effects of a hunger strike at Newbridge, says a Press association despatch from Cork today.

Explaining the reasons for his refusal in a letter to the Cork Examiner the message states, Bishop Cohalan says he regrets very much being obliged to take this course, but declares that if it were his own brother, he would deal with the case in the same way under the circumstances, due warning having been duly given beforehand.

"Republicanism in Ireland," the message quotes the bishop as adding, "has for the last twelve months been a wicked and insidious attack on the church and the souls of the faithful committed to the church's care. By church law anyone who deliberately takes his own life, is deprived of Christian burial. I shall interpret the law of the church and refuse Christian burial in such cases. I feel bound to do it."

COMMISSIONER WALSH ON DECK AGAIN

United States Commissioner Richard Brabrook Walsh has sufficiently recovered from his recent severe siege of laryngitis so that he will hold hearings here on Friday morning. A large docket awaits him, cases having been piling up for the past three weeks during which time he has been too ill to hold a session.

A large number of alleged Volstead act violators from Lawrence, Worcester, and suburban towns are to be arraigned at Friday's session which from present indications will require the full day.

TAXI AND TOURING CAR IN COLLISION

Mrs. George Johnston of Birmingham, Ala., and Miss Margaret Scruggs of Brenton, Ala., were painfully injured early last night when the taxicab in which they were riding collided with a touring car at the corner of Pine and Wilder streets. They were taken to the Corporation hospital in the ambulance. Mrs. Johnston was cut about the face and received a fractured jaw. Her companion received only minor cuts and was sent to the Hotel Marlborough after her injuries were treated.

According to the report of the accident, the taxicab was being driven down Pine street when, at Wilder, a touring car operated by Albert H. Evans of 468 Wilder street attempted to cross Pine street. As the cars collided the glass windows of the taxi were broken and flying glass cut both passengers. The driver of the taxicab, Leo Desaulnier of 82 Royal street, and the touring car driver, both escaped injury.

Mrs. Johnston was in this city to visit her daughter, a student at Rogers Hall, and Miss Scruggs was also visiting Miss Johnston. They were being driven to the Hotel Marlborough for dinner when the accident occurred.

BIG SOCCER GAME HERE TOMORROW

The Lowell Olympic Soccer club will furnish the fans of this section with a good attraction tomorrow afternoon when their team faces the Y.M.S.C. club, composed of players from Lowell, Cambridge and Hudson, at Bunting park at 2.30. These teams have met before, the Olympics winning the first game in this city by the score of 1 to 0, and the Y.M.S.C. taking the second encounter at Hudson by a two and one count. Tomorrow's game will be the rubber.

Since their last game, the Olympics have strengthened their lineup and hope to land the verdict. They will have to show a lot of stuff, however, as the Y.M.S.C. is a tough aggregation to beat and have recently won over the fast Ludlow, New Bedford and Boston outfits.

Tomorrow's clash will take place at Bunting park and will be handled by Harold Fairbrother. The following are asked to report at the grounds at 1.30: Williamson, Edgar Clark, Berwhistle, Morning, S. Campbell, Maloney, Swanton Tully, Nelson, Keith, McKerchar, Emerson, Blair, and J. McLuz. The kick-off will be at 2.30.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 28.—A quiet wedding of Baron Carn von Pach-Winther, writer and explorer of Denmark, to Mrs. Frances Struck Lilley, daughter of Carl Frederick Struck, Minneapolis architect, was revealed here yesterday. The ceremony took place Thursday at a Hollywood rectory. They will live in Hollywood.

SEEKING RELATIVES OF ALICE WHITEHEAD

The police of Leominster today telephoned the local police for assistance in locating the relatives of Alice Whitehead, said to be a former resident of this city, who died yesterday in Leominster. There are five Whiteheads listed in the Lowell directory, but inquiry of each of them proved fruitless in identifying the dead woman.

CASES SETTLED

Grace A. McCurdy and Mary C. Toomey, the two women who were arrested by Officers Clyde Aldrich and Simon Lane for shoplifting in Chalifoux's store about two weeks ago, and who were found guilty of larceny and given time to pay a fine of $75 each, presented themselves in district court this morning and paid over the money to the clerk of court. They were then allowed to go.

JOHNSON FOR SOLDIERS' BONUS

Presidential Candidate Opposed to Administration's Foreign Policy

Favors Reduction of Income Taxes for Those with Incomes of $10,000 or Less

CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—Joining issue on national problems with the present federal administration, Senator Hiram Johnson last night placed before the country some of the principles which will form the background for his campaign for the republican presidential nomination.

Senator Johnson, during the course of his first public utterance since announcing himself a presidential candidate, expressed opposition to the administration foreign policy, endorsed a soldiers' bonus and a plan for reduction of income taxes for the benefit of those with incomes of $10,000 or less as well as suggesting remedies for the country's agricultural ills.

Opposition to any policy that would commit America to "undisclosed European adventures" was declared.

"I do not protest against an American policy toward Europe," the California senator said. "I protest against an American policy which does not know what it is, and which seeks to discover itself, or to hide itself by first going into a conference with Europe.

"It is humiliating that we cannot speak our mind save with the consent of other nations, or in conjunction with them," he said. "If an administration does not like an existing situation abroad, why not say so.

"Our position in the world is such that our utterances would be of supreme importance. Throw it into conference where there are no morals, where it is in helpless minority, and is lost."

The candidate called the recent proposal for a reparations conference as a "transparent subterfuge contrived by gentlemen who, having notoriously tried, and having notoriously failed, to get us into the politics of Europe directly through the League of Nations, now wish to get us into the politics of Europe through the indirect road of pretending that a participation in European economic affairs in a conference called by governments and consisting of the appointees of governments would not take us into European affairs."

He declared that the bonus pledges by responsible heads of the dominant political party constitute in reality a promise, a solemn pledge "and we must keep faith." Even with the bonus taxes could be considerably reduced, Senator Johnson said. Lower freight rates, extension of the co-operative marketing and development of waterways were suggested by the senator as aids to agriculture.

Early in his speech, the California senator asserted he was not enunciating a platform but many of his hearers expressed belief that statements he made would be incorporated as planks.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 28.—Authorities in the vicinity of Jackson, Cal., are searching for an old mining tunnel in which Philip Oleson, known as "Sonora Red" is believed to have lain for 10 days, handcuffed and bound, according to a despatch to the Examiner here.

James Kennard, a prisoner in the county jail at San Andreas, has confessed to Sheriff Joseph Swing that he manacled and tied Oleson ten days ago and left him in an old tunnel, the location of which he has forgotten, because Oleson owed him money, the despatch says.

JUDGE VICTIM OF PECULIAR INFECTION

Superior Court Judge Stanley E. Qua was about again this morning after being confined to his home since the close of court last Friday. The judge is the victim of some mysterious infection which specialists called from Boston have failed to successfully diagnose. An infection set in on his face last Friday, causing considerable swelling and almost complete temporary loss of sight.

The swelling reached its high point late Saturday and on Sunday commenced to go down. The cause has not been determined. No sickness accompanied the infection.

MELROSE MAN SUES

Papers were served on the city treasurer and city clerk this morning in an action of tort brought against the City of Lowell in the sum of $5000 by Robert M. Vaughan of Melrose. He claims he fell and sustained a serious injury to one ankle on the morning of June 19 of this year while walking through West Third street, near the Provencher garage.

WEAK, RUN DOWN AND AILING

Lydia E.Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Brought Relief When Other Medicines Failed

Winston-Salem, N. C.—"I was weak and run-down and had trouble with my side. I had been taking medicine for a long time and nothing seemed to do me any good. My husband went to the drug store and he said to the clerk, 'I want the best medicine you have for women's troubles.' He gave him a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has helped me. In a short time I was able to do my housework, and now I am not only able to do every bit of that and washing and ironing, but I help my husband at the store and feel good all the time."—Mrs. L. K. MYERS, 1409 E.14th St., Winston-Salem, N. C.

For Indigestion

Mi-O-Na Is Guaranteed to Promptly Relieve Stomach Distress

People go on suffering from little stomach troubles for years and imagine they have a serious disease.

They overeat and force on the stomach a lot of extra work.

But they never think that the stomach needs extra help to do extra work.

If these people would take a Mi-O-Na Tablet with or after meals it would be a great big help to the stomach in its strain of overwork.

Mi-O-Na helps your tired out stomach to do its work and banishes the cause. No matter what you eat or drink Mi-O-Na will sweeten your sour stomach and stop gas belching in five minutes. The heaviness disappears and the stomach is greatly aided in its work of digestion.

And Mi-O-Na not only promptly relieves all distress but if taken regularly will banish indigestion.

Druggists everywhere and Green's drug store sell Mi-O-Na on the money back plan.—Adv.

HER BOY HAD ALWAYS BEEN WEAK AND PUNY

Now He Eats Everything in Sight and Romps With Playmates

"My four year-old boy had been weak and puny since birth, and had constipation and indigestion. Nothing did him any good until we tried Milks Emulsion. Since using it, he can't get enough to eat and has outgrown his childhood trouble. He plays out with the children now, and he was never able to do that before."—Wm. Heart, 421 Bundy ave., New Castle, Ind.

Weak, ailing children usually start eating and getting stronger from the very first bottle of Milks Emulsion. Most children like to take it, because it really tastes good. A trial costs nothing.

Milks Emulsion restores healthy, natural bowel action; it is a truly corrective medicine, doing away with all need of pills and physics. It promotes appetite and quickly puts the digestive organs in shape to assimilate food, and thus build flesh and strength. Milks Emulsion is strongly recommended to those whom sickness has weakened; it is a powerful aid in resisting and repairing the effects of wasting diseases. Chronic stomach trouble and constipation are promptly relieved.

This is the only solid emulsion made, and so palatable that it is eaten with a spoon like ice cream.

No matter how severe your case, you are urged to try Milks Emulsion under this guarantee—Take six bottles home with you, use it according to directions and if not satisfied with the results, your money will be promptly refunded. Price 60 cents and $1.20 per bottle. The Milks Emulsion Co., Terre Haute, Ind. Sold by druggists everywhere.—Adv.

THE RIALTO THEATRE

See "The Village Blacksmith," a Human Story With a Wonderful Cast

If you think you are thrill-proof or think your tear-well has gone prohibition, just take a trip up to the Rialto theatre and sit through a showing of "The Village Blacksmith," the latest William Fox melodrama that opened a week's run there Monday.

William Fox knows how to put lively film entertainment together, and he has made a dashing 1923 melodrama out of "The Village Blacksmith." Doubtless, Longfellow would have appealed to the Authors' league if he had lived to see this day. But he knew nothing about scenarios. Nothing has been omitted from the screen version. There is a flapper, a he-gossip, a round shouldered college boy, who steals the church funds from among the bungalow aprons in the lovely heroine's bottom drawer; a head-on train collision and half a dozen other forms of film punch dearly loved by the sob-hungry and laugh-crazy public.

There is a frightful storm that drenches the heroine just as thoroughly as any ever filmed. One lost count of just how many mean-spirited citizens "The Village Blacksmith" did K.O. last night, but there were several to spare. His fighting spirit remained the same in spite of deaths, wrecks and slanders. Of these he met as many as Job.

One of the best things about "The Village Blacksmith" is the cast. William Falling is a perfect specimen for the mighty smith—brawney-tanned, with long crisp hair. He gives a really admirable performance with conviction and sincerity. Bessie Love and Virginia Valli are both excellent in the leading feminine roles. George Hackathorne has done few better things than the role of Johnny, the crippled son. He has little opportunity for acting in a wheelchair but was given a great chance by being compelled to crawl face downward through mud and rain to avenge his sister's honor.

THE STRAND

Marshall Neilan presents his story, "The Eternal Three," at the Strand for the week-end, beginning with matinee tomorrow. It's a great picturization in every sense and will surely meet with the enthusiastic approval of the patrons. It delves deeply into the life of today and reflects the story frankly and fearlessly, of a man who had faith in a woman—and of another man who destroyed that faith. It is one of the most absorbing themes that life can offer, told by a master director, enacted by a cast of stars and photographed in Mexico and America. The problem by Neilan is fascinating. Dr. Walters, a famous surgeon, marries a young woman, who eventually becomes attached to his foster son, Leonard. The young man's weakness for a pretty face causes him to forget filial devotion and he arranges to elope with Mrs. Walters. He suffers from a serious injury that results in mental affliction. In the meantime, the doctor becomes aware of true conditions, and when the time comes to perform a delicate operation on the brain, the operator—Dr. Walters—realizes that by an undetected twist of the knife he can rid himself of the one who is breaking up his home and bring back to him the happiness to which he is entitled. How he meets this situation and what comes of it forms the stirring and unexpected climax of the picture. Hobart Bosworth, Claire Windsor, Bessie Love, Raymond Griffith and others are in the cast. It's a photoplay of society's hidden secrets, of the amazing armours and furious flirtations of idle wives—one of the most daring, yet truthful themes that the screen can offer. Don't miss it.

Besides the above, there will be the usual comedy and weekly, as well as other features that go to make up a superior picture program.

Today offers the last times to see George Arliss in "The Green Goddess." Don't miss it.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Final performances will be given this evening at the Merrimack Square theatre of "The Light That Failed," Rudyard Kipling's famous drama, and "Daytime Wives," an absorbing study of the value of the modern business girl to men whose wives have little or no interest in their business affairs. There will be a complete change of program for the second half of the week, beginning tomorrow afternoon.

For Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Manager Peterson has secured a brace of attractions that will bring delight to every movie fan. Tom Mix, one of the screen's most popular heroes, will be seen in "Mile-a-Minute Romeo," a new masterpiece of the western plains. The other attraction will be "The Sidewalks of New York," a drama of the famous East Side, with an all-star cast.

Ingenious plot complications give "Mile-a-Minute Romeo" an unusual charm for a Tom Mix picture. By which is meant that in addition to the breathless action and expected number of thrills, Mix offers a story of considerable interest.

One of the uncommon situations presented is the Machiavellian scheme of exterminating two rivals by contriving to get them to fly at each other's throat.

The crafty lover informs both rivals separately that each has insulted the other. A gun fight ensues in which the rivals learn that they have been the dupe of the third rival, and that their fight was "framed" to kill either or both of them.

Lucky Bill, played admirably by Tom Mix, is one of the dupes. Having wounded the other dupe in the "framed" fight he offers to compensate by helping the latter elope with the girl. He is double-crossed innumerable times and finally forgets his diffidence so far as to attempt to get the girl for himself.

In no previous production, perhaps, does Tom Mix display his horsemanship so skilfully. Throughout the production he is almost entirely riding—wild. We do not believe this situation makes it easy to emote and for that reason declare Mr. Mix's performance extraordinary. Patty Jewel, leading lady is very satisfactory.

There will be the usual excellent surrounding program. The management announces for the entire week of Dec. 2 Pola Negri's latest and greatest masterpiece, "The Spanish Dancer." A special prologue has been arranged to precede this noted production. Local dancers under the direction of Miss Blanche Perrin will take part.

NOVEL EXHIBITION AT THE BELMONT STORE

Perhaps the most unusual and effective method of displaying evening gowns and frocks is being used by the Belmont store on Merrimack street. This display while not original is understood to be the only one outside of New York city.

Mr. Challoner the local manager has arranged several wax figures gowned in the latest mode in a ballroom scene just back of the main entrance every evening with an array of colored spotlights playing on them, bringing out the features of each gown just as they would appeal to one observing them at an evening function, and giving the passerby an opportunity to observe the charming lines and fine materials of which these Paris and New York gowns are made.

Much favorable comment has been heard from the ones who have already enjoyed this novel exhibition and everyone who appreciates artistic effects should look in at the Belmont shop this evening.

REGAINS 18 POUNDS LOST WEIGHT

Taking WINCARNIS

"I was very sick; lost almost 18 pounds in weight; was extremely weak and nervous, and could not get a single night's sound sleep. I had constant medical attention and the best of wholesome foods, but my condition grew more alarming until I began taking Wincarnis, which helped me from the first few doses.

I have completely regained my former weight and strength, sleep soundly every night, eat most heartily and have an abundance of energy. My husband and my mother were so amazed at the effect of Wincarnis in my case that they both began taking it as a tonic. Today, they are just as loud in praise of Wincarnis as I am, and we do wish it were known to every weak, nervous or run-down person."

BAD BREATH

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Get at the Cause and Remove It

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, act gently on the bowels and positively do the work.

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

All the benefits of nasty, sickening, griping cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without griping, pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Take one or two every night for a week and note the effect. 15c and 30c. Adv.

THANKSGIVING DINNER AT THE Y. M. C. A.

"Red Triangle Villagers" sat down to a bountiful Thanksgiving dinner in Y. M.C.A. hall last evening, more than 60 resident members partaking of the good things provided. The "Villagers" are occupants of the Y.M.C.A. dormitories. The banquet was served under the able direction of Mrs. Valentine Wilmot, who was presented a bouquet of roses by the "Villagers."

"Mayor" Archibald D. Grant called attention to the supper scheduled for next week Wednesday night, when A. L. Santesson will speak on "Ten Years in Australia." Horatius R. Leggat entertained with baritone solos, Chester Graver accompanist. Alvah Sturgess offered a pleasing group of character sketches, and William Ward entertained with clever readings. Choral numbers closed the program.

CARDINAL PRINCE OF CHURCH 12 YEARS

Tuesday marked the 12th anniversary of the elevation of Cardinal O'Connell to the Sacred college. He was created a cardinal by Pius X on Nov. 27, 1911, and is dean of the Roman Catholic hierarchy in the United States.

The cardinal was ordained to the priesthood on June 8, 1884. While attached to St. Joseph's church, in the west end section of Boston, he was chosen rector of the North American college in Rome. He was consecrated bishop of Portland, Me., May 19, 1901, and was chosen by the pope as his representative on a mission to the mikado of Japan. His success in this assignment brought him the thanks and commendation of the pope.

Cardinal O'Connell was made assistant at the pontifical throne Jan. 4, 1905, and named archbishop of Constantia and coadjutor, with the right of succession, to the archbishop of Boston Feb. 8, 1906. He succeeded to the see of Boston Aug. 30, 1907.

A LATE EDITION

"FATHERS' NIGHT" AT GREENHALGE SCHOOL

"Fathers' Night" will be observed appropriately by the Greenhalge School Parent-Teacher association, Thursday, Dec. 6. Members of the organization have arranged a first class program and hope that the fathers of the school children will gather in round numbers to help the community public spirit program along.

The special program for this evening will be largely musical. Everett Fox and George Heeley will present "Campus Dreams" and other selections on the violin and piano. Marie Carr and Andrew Carr, juvenile dancers, will also entertain. Supervisor Burr F. Jones of the state elementary education division spoke on "Progress and Problems of Education."

RAILROAD'S REASONS FOR HIGHER FARES

The railroad's reasons for desiring increased fares were given the Downtown Men's club at First Congregational church last night by Robert H. Newcomb, executive assistant for the Boston & Maine. Mr. Newcomb said that because of the thickly settled immediate suburbs of Boston it is necessary that heavy local trains be made up and that on the first few stops from North station these cars become well emptied and are unproductive units for the remainder of the run.

He spoke strongly against permitting western roads to gain operation of our New England stystems. His address followed a supper and business meeting of the club presided over by Otis W. Butler. The dinner was served under the direction of Robert S. Fulton, Joseph Wilmot, and Fred Milne.

C.M.A.C. LADIES' NIGHT

Plans have been completed for the Ladies' Night to be held at the C.M.A.C. building in Pawtucket street this evening under the auspices of that organization. Already a large number of tickets have been sold and indications point to an evening of entertainment and enjoyment on the part of all attending. Each ticket entitles the holder to a chance on a beautiful prize to be given by Donat Brunnelle, president of the association. A fine musical and entertainment program has been arranged by the committee in charge and an open house will be the feature of the evening.

LOWELL WASTE COMPANY HAS GOOD BUSINESS

Business is increasing at the Lowell Waste company on Gorham street. It has been increasing noticeably for some weeks past. Receipts are coming in much more freely and steadily, today.

Comparing today's business with that transacted six months ago, this corporation is in far better shape, with increasing amounts of stocks in the purchase markets and the outlook promising.

Treasurer Butler told The Sun today that a substantial amount of work is now being turned out regularly, with receipts of cotton wastes collected from local textile mill areas in larger amounts.

While a cotton waste concern cannot always operate on regular working schedules during periods when textile mills are on part time and operating irregularly, the current stagnation in the latter markets has not affected Lowell waste markets. The present improvement in the Gorhaam street plant output is believed to indicate that general conditions in the local textile world are firmer and production slowly increasing.

The Lowell Waste company is now collecting cotton wastes from all active textile mills in Lowell and vicinity, and the supplies are much larger than they were earlier in the present year.

The waste now coming in is run promptly through the separators, washing, pickers and cleansing departments and promptly sold to markets now using the material to advantage at prices much higher than those ruling before raw cotton bounced upward to 35 cents a pound. Prices on the Gorham street mill's products are stiffer than they were, as costs have risen, although costs of the collected waste often vary.

There is no apparent near shortage in the markets now supplying the Lowell Waste plant and real optimism rules today at the offices on Gorham street.

Advertisers who use The Sun consistently get greater returns on the money invested than through any other Lowell newspaper. There's a reason. The Sun goes into more homes in Lowell and suburbs than any other Lowell paper and ninety per cent. of Sun readers read no other Lowell newspaper.

WILL HOLD WHIST PARTY

A whist party, under the auspices of the Children of Mary sodality of St. Louis' parish will be given in the parish hall this evening. A large number of tickets for the affair have been disposed of and several beautiful prizes have been donated by members of the sodality and their friends to be awarded the winners of the highest points. Together with the whist, a fine musical and entertainment program has been prepared by the committee in charge.

AUTO BUSINESS GOOD

November Business Excels Fondest Hopes of Motor Vehicle Dealers

Motor vehicle dealers, almost without exception, report that their November business this year exceeded their fondest hopes, while several report that the volume of sales during the past month has been most astonishing. Although it is only a month to Christmas and the time of year has come, as evidenced by last Saturday's storm, that driving conditions are likely at any time to become disagreeable, local dealers are continuing to make sales with surprising frequency. They might almost be entering upon the spring activity rather than upon winter's supposed dullness, judging by the orders that are being booked and the deliveries which are being made.

This does not mean, of course, that business is at the year's top figure; but it is clear that the fall and early winter season is better than last year, and that the purchasing of new cars is being continued later than has been the custom in the past. Almost all dealers agree that their sales for the month of November, for example, far exceeded those affected in the same month last year, and this means, also, that this was the best November ever experienced in the trade.

Formerly it was expected that in the month of November sales would drop practically to the vanishing point; in fact, there was practically no purchasing from early November until after the first of the year except for spring delivery. Each dealer was resigned to a trade fate which seemed to decree that during a period of from two to four months there would be no sales. But with the entry of the closed car into popular favor, and the establishment of motor vehicles as an essential part of the general scheme of transportation, that cold season hiatus has gradually been reduced. And this year, thus far, it has been less apparent than in any previous year.

THE COAL QUESTION

Governor Pinchot's conference of governors, called to pass upon a plan for improving the anthracite situation, has proved to be a boomerang that puts Mr. Pinchot in the attitude of being largely responsible for the evils to be corrected. Only a few governors attended and Governor Silzer of New Jersey and Governor Preus of Minnesota, turned the tables on the Pennsylvania executive, advising him to call a special session of the state legislature to remove the coal tax and other legal restrictions that have led to trouble in the mining regions.

Pinchot's plan was largely a repetition of the recommendations of the Federal Coal Commission relative to licensing wholesale coal dealers in order to prevent speculators from cornering the coal supply and charging a profit before letting it pass into the hands of real dealers.

One suggestion which was his own was that the anthracite states should pool their issues so as to secure the best treatment possible. The conference proved a fizzle and Governor Pinchot so far from making political capital out of it actually lost ground. He was responsible for conceding practically all the miners wanted, knowing that the full amount would be added to the price of the coal, and yet he had the insincerity to issue a statement that it remained only for President Coolidge to take steps to reduce the price.

The coal question is still unsettled and while the federal government may use its influence to bring about a reduction in price, the fact remains that while the mines are owned as at present, the state of Pennsylvania can do more to bring about satisfactory conditions in the mining and sale of anthracite than can the federal government. Pinchot tried to make the coal question the political issue by which he would build up his prestige as a presidential candidate, but his scheme has fallen flat. His conference of governors has exploded his boom by exposing the hollowness of his pretensions.

TRAFFIC PROBLEM

Now that the remonstrants have been heard on the proposed traffic regulations, the city council will use its judgment in adopting rules that while relieving some of the traffic tangles, will not interfere with the business of the stores which it is our duty to foster and protect.

As to expending large sums on the through thoroughfares in order that tourist traffic will be diverted from the business district, there will naturally be a well grounded protest. It can hardly be said to be good business policy to direct through traffic away from our principal streets and along the outskirts of the city. It would be a poor way to advertise Lowell.

THANKSGIVING

Tomorrow, Thanksgiving, will afford an opportunity of calm contemplation of our position in the world, as compared with that of other peoples, and a realization of how much we have to be thankful for.

We must assuredly appreciate the fact that we are living in a country far enough away from Europe to save us from her broils, her misery and her afflictions—not that we should fail to extend our humane sympathy to suffering everywhere; but that there the disturbance, the conflicts and the menace of war, seem to be chronic, so that nobody can be assured of peace and contentment for any extended period.

That we are not so harassed by national and international quarrels is certainly one strong reason why we should be thankful. That we live under a constitution that guarantees to all law-abiding citizens the right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness is another inestimable privilege for which we should be profoundly thankful to Divine Providence. This is truly one of the rarest and greatest blessings vouchsafed to any people; and it is not fully appreciated by our people in general.

While we have reason to rejoice at the privileges and the opportunities we enjoy in this land of freedom, we cannot close our eyes to the ills of other nations, and hence it becomes our duty often to lend a helping hand to tide them over distress or to induce them drop the conspiracies of war and join in Christian concord for their common good. But at the same time charity begins at home and this is the season for its bounties.

Those who cannot view the higher blessings of life enjoyed by the people of this country are apt to conclude that because business at present is a little dull, there is slight reason to be thankful; but this is merely a temporary depression such as comes occasionally and is quickly followed by business activity. It would be more serious if those who are idle did not have bank accounts on which to draw; and we can safely say that very few except the reckless spendthrifts are without the wherewithal to enjoy a good dinner at Thanksgiving. Upon those who are possessed of abundance of the world's goods devolves the obligation of sharing with the poor, the needy and the afflicted so that all may be partakers of the festal cheer and have reason to be grateful even for the humane spirit and kindly [illegible]tions of the Thanksgiving season.

BUSINESS OUTLOOK

"I think we will have continued prosperity well into the summer of the coming year," says George F. Baker, New York banker. His business men and financiers consider him an able prophet.

His statement does not imply that business depression may be on the calendar after the middle of 1924. It merely means that he's playing safe. No one can predict business conditions, with any degree of accuracy, more than nine months ahead.

It used to be a red letter day when the railroads of our country moved a million cars of freight a week. But up to the 10th of November there had been 21 such weeks this year.

The railroads, so far in 1922, have moved 427 cars of freight for every 271 cars in the corresponding period of last year.

This plainly means that business is getting ready for a busy winter and a busy winter will probably be followed by a busy spring and so on. The country is not going to smash as the pessimistic seem to suppose.

BOGUS DIPLOMAS

William P. Sachs, formerly state superintendent of schools in Missouri has made the statement that 15,000 persons are practicing medicine in the United States under fraudulent diplomas. Possibly he knows what he is talking about and if his statement be true, many of the bogus diplomas may have been issued in the state of Missouri. It is well, therefore, to inquire of Mr. Sachs to what extent Missouri contributed to the total he has mentioned. The state of Connecticut is now investigating a bogus diploma mill that has been in operation there with clients or practitioners as they are called, scattered all over New England. While such frauds are worked upon the public, it is well for those who have to call in medical aid to make sure the men they patronize have graduated at reputable medical schools.

SLANDERING A CITY

The Lawrence Telegram complains bitterly about a sensational article published in a Boston paper and reflecting upon the city of Lawrence. It represented that Lawrence was suffering from an epidemic of typhoid fever, although the records of the health department for October and November show that there was not a single case of typhoid in the city. The correspondent who sent out a story of that kind is a sensational faker. He is probably of the same class as the writer who was sent here a few weeks ago by a Boston paper to write up a sensational story of the alleged violations of the liquor law. He represented that this city was almost wide open, although an agent of the Anti-Saloon league a few weeks before had made a survey of the conditions here relative to the enforcement of the liquor law, and reported that Lowell was comparatively a dry city. We presume that we may as well become reconciled to the fact that the faker like the poor we have always with us.

LOWER TAXES

It is gratifying to find that the question of reducing taxation as proposed by Secretary Mellon is not to be made a partisan measure. One of the first to come out in favor of Mr. Mellon's plan was Senator Walsh of Massachusetts who voiced the prevailing democratic sentiment as regards the proposition. The democrats in fact favored this reduction in 1921 but it was defeated by a republican vote in congress. There is, therefore, no ground for assuming that it will meet with democratic opposition when it comes before congress. The chief trouble will probably be that the republicans now viewing every [illegible] of the kind will [illegible] to [illegible] at the national [illegible] will [illegible] to tie this one [illegible] with the [illegible] of the bonus and [illegible] both.

TURKEYS PLENTY

Turkeys are very plentiful this year, department of agriculture reports. It says five million pounds of turkeys are in cold storage, [illegible] and a half times as much [illegible]. So plentiful are the [illegible] that they have been [illegible] to 26 cents a pound [illegible] growers.

That gives but a [illegible] idea of the price at which turkeys are being sold here at present. The prices, however, are lower than was expected and lower than [illegible] were paid at Thanksgiving.

Have we a firebug, or several of them in our midst? It would really seem so.

A Thought

Made Him Tired

"Yes, I was awfully fond of that girl," said Brown. "I believed she was perfect, until I saw something about her last evening that made me tired." "What in the world was that?" inquired Jones. "Another fellow's arm," replied Brown sadly.

She's a Champion

Paris claims the sandwich-buttering champion of the world. She is a French girl who learned her art in this country and advertised as follows in a Paris newspaper: "Young girl having served three years in America, capable of buttering 111 sandwiches with 400 grams of butter, desires a job in a big cafe." Four hundred grams are equal to 14.11 ounces.

The Sign Settled It

Entering a bar in Montmartre, a Parisian came upon a heated dialogue between the barkeeper and a customer. The latter was holding a counterfeit ten franc bank note in his hand and gesticulating wildly. "You have given me this fake note," he shouted, "and I want good money for it, or I'll have you arrested." But the barkeeper was unperturbed. He simply pointed to a sign behind him which read: "We do not take back counterfeit money."

"Gee, Some Hat!"

The American actor, Edward Robins, who is making big audiences laugh in "So, This Is London!" at the Prince of Wales theatre, London, decided to buy a hat a few days ago, so he went to a famous Piccadilly hatter's. The actor intimated that he would like a hat that, when he returned to New York, would make his friends exclaim: "Gee, some hat!" He tried on a hat, liked it and inquired of the salesman what he thought of it. The salesman's reply was: "Gee, some hat!"

The Kid Was Wise

Hughes was bringing a friend home to dinner and he was simply beaming with pride as he walked with him from the railroad station and pointed out all the local landmarks on the way. As they approached the house Tommy, son and heir, came running out to meet his father. "Ah, here comes the finest youngster in the world to meet his dad!" Hughes exclaimed, and extended his arms to greet the lad. "Isn't he a sturdy little chap?" he demanded of his friend as he held the boy up in his arms. "He certainly is a bright little fellow," the friend admitted, "And whom does daddy love more than any one else in the world?" asked Hughes of his little hopeful as they walked on. "Daddy!" replied the child in decided tones.

Ambition

It's great to be an author,
And make yourself a name.
It's fine to be an artist,
And win undying fame.
Who wouldn't be a poet,
Renowned in every land,
Or a world-famous sculptor—
Now wouldn't that be grand!

To be a matchless singer
Must give one keen delight.
We look up to the statesman,
Proud of his lofty height.
But few of us who'd like to rise
Can get up very far,
And most of us must be content
To be just what we are.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

After an extended vacation, Police Officer John W. Mahan signalized his return to active duty last week by capturing a man who was masquerading as the owner of Ferry's court in this city and who had duped another man into loaning him $595 by the use of this pseudonym. "Big Jack," as Officer Mahan is generally known, succeeded in capturing his man after a wild chase in an automobile which he commandeered after seeing the alleged thief attempting to dispose of a stolen watch. It was quick work, and good work.

A blind man, familiar to passersby in Merrimack street, was at his usual stand yesterday with a cup extended awaiting contributions from charitable pedestrians. It chanced that a legless man, who seemed on intimate terms with his companion-in-distress, approached and bade him good morning. "How's everything with you today?" inquired the blind man. "Oh, I can't kick," philosophically responded the legless one. Isn't that optimism?

Sometimes amusing incidents occur at meetings of the public service board. At the regular meeting last Thursday afternoon, a petitioner appeared and after being heard he was told that he should appear before the board at the next meeting. The petitioner objected to this on the ground that he couldn't afford to loaf another day and lose $12 pay. "What, you make $12 a day?" inquired Chairman [illegible] Murphy. "You make more than I do," he added when the petitioner answered his question in the affirmative.

The United States Army Recruiting News says that the library system of the army consists of 263 post libraries containing 55,000 volumes and 156 traveling libraries of 50 volumes each. UNCLE ROBERT PLAYS SANTA CLAUS AT AYER HOME AND CITY FARM

Inmates of Chelmsford Street Hospital Glad to Meet Unknown Benefactor of the Poor and the Helpless—Children Made Happy at Ayer Home

"Uncle Robert" woke up many somnolent echoes in "Old Stone House" on Pawtucket street yesterday afternoon just before bedtime tales and Dreamland. Just ask Hazel or Ida or Esther or Benny of the brick-red hair to sing you that Will Rogers sugar bowl song, or repeat that new class yell—"2—4—6—8, how we do appreciate Mrs. Tarr."

"Uncle Robert's" new all-American Santa Claus idea went big yesterday at Ayer Home. We'll advertise it free.

Aeons ago in early Lowell social history, one Colonel Jefferson Bancroft and his charming wife regularly entertained 'mid eminently formal splendor, intimate friends and neighbors of the ante-Colonial township, who invariably considered it an honorable demand that brooked no denial when their names were checked on "Stone House" guest party invitation lists.

In later years when the Bancroft manor house passed to the ownership of James Cook Ayer, son of old Connecticut, who came to Lowell to win name and fame everlasting, the latest ultra-modern household goods of old and new world's best contributions were installed and the munificent and friendly Ayers were delighted to continue the customary dispensing of baronial hospitality. It was, in truth, very ne plus ultra, too, in those bygone days.

And today—or rather, yesterday—in just plain 1923 business clothes walked to the front door of "Old Stone" house (Ayer home it is called now) and took charge of the dispensation for one solid hour of smiling good cheer that was worth a million ordinary hours of every day life to a happyland aggregation of nearly 100 ecstatic Lowell boys and girls.

This was "Children's day" at Ayer home, because "Uncle Robert" wanted the children to be there every one and run things to suit themselves. And they did just that. And a good lot more, too, with the exception of one or two minutes, perhaps, when "Uncle Robert" was giving the boys and girls a little heart-to-heart talk about how to spell the word l-o-v-e and what l-o-v-e means in Lowell and everywhere.

"Uncle Robert" also requested that his tiny listeners, silent for the nonce, live clean, befriend all who need friendship, dispense kindly aid, work hard, waste not, do good deeds and—well, "Uncle Robert" went above the whole gamut of the code of genuine Christian living. He then solemnly testified that he had full faith that the innocent little congregation sitting respectfully and in an impressive cluster before the speaker's throne, would folow his sincere advice.

"And will you do it, folks—will you?" exclaimed "Uncle Robert," as he lifted up his arms and swept the group of earnest boys and girls with eyes appealing.

"We will!" came the answer, a ringing cheer following that fairly made the conservatory windows of old "Stone House" rattle in musical collaboration with the joyous tumult from obedient youthful heartstrings.

Perhaps it was the Thanksgiving spirit that helped to make the afternoon more mellow with anticipation on the part of the young folks summoned to the cosy reception hall with the big bay windows through which the late afternoon sun had just filtered a last rapturously-hued farewell for the day. Perhaps because it was whispered that a man called only "Uncle Robert" and no last name at all, was about to appear suddenly from somewhere, just like a modern Santa Claus without cap or bells.

Or it may have been because so many Lowell folks were suddenly popping out of big limousines at the front door and swishing in hastily, to see what was going on, probably, and perhaps prepare for the coming of mysterious "Uncle Robert"—who knows?

Whoof! Two boys of the home-made gingham shirt family had spied him first!

"He's coming, Miss Tarr. He's coming, Mrs. Tarr!" etc.

"Uncle Robert" had arrived.

Lowell's philanthropic visitor yesterday looks exactly like the "Uncle Robert" we had conjured up. Quite tall, with soft-graying hair of good texture and expertly trimmed; grayish moustache not too large or too small, were but incidentals that help to frame, as it were, a face of quiet charm, a friendly face without obtrusiveness or arrogant self-importance—briefly, a well set-up everyday American business man in good health, upstanding, vigorous—and a man with a kind heart. Even trim eye-glasses do not speckle the negative.

Love for fellowmen exudes from this generously-laden visitor to old Lowell. Real heart-throb stuff, not in the making, but in the full complement of his being beyond the shadow of a doubt.

Picturesque though "Uncle Robert" may be to some who come near to see and wonder curiously what his aims and aspirations really are, the philanthropist who was the guest of the inhabitants of Lowell yesterday, proves forcibly one great fact, that he who gives shall receive.

Mayor Donovan came in a bit late to join the festivities, spoke briefly and received a royal welcome to the children's party.

"Uncle Robert" likes the newspaper boys, young and old et cetera. He even presented one fast-graying hero of the pencil-pushers' brigade with a paper cap and a funny whistle and a dish of real ice cream, just to make him enjoy the children's day festal, we suppose, and forget the approaching fifties.

The newspapermen, clusters of them, were conscripted with ribbons on to distribute, or help distribute, the baskets containing lolly-pops, ice cream, animal crackers, George Washington paper helmets and cocked hats, dolls, tiny carts with wheels that will turn, blocks, alphabetical and picturesque, whistles and more whistles blown gleefully in praise of the pre-Thanksgiving day Santa Claus. The hilarious din splintered every echo that ever remained of old-time happy days of similar quality in "Old Stone House."

Perhaps "Uncle Robert" wasn't delighted when the children sang solos, duets, quartets and choruses. Tuneful excerpts from old and new masters—melodies dear to folks of other times—one heart-touching lilt that might have been sung by some crinoline lady long before the war in the Pawtucket street baronial hall—possibly. It was the children's best treat for "Uncle Robert" and he joined in more than one chorus with a baritone effort that led the vocal procession—yes!

And please jot down in your nonforgettery book that little, bobbed-hair Hazel will some day be one of the nicest little coloraturists ever graduated from the "Old Stone House" singing school.

AT THE CHELMSFORD STREET HOSPITAL

The inmates of the Chelmsford Street hospital were given an opportunity to forget their cares yesterday, and many kindly old faces were wreathed in smiles for several hours on the occasion of the trip made by "Uncle Robert," the unknown benefactor of the poor and helpless, to that institution. All the old ladies and gentlemen were gathered in the assembly hall to wait the coming of their friend, who was accompanied by Mayor John J. Donovan and Superintendent Joseph H. Gormley. A few words were spoken by each of these men, the mayor reassuring his audience that he would back up his past performances and do all that lay within his power to aid them in spending their remaining days in comfort. Rev. Edward Babcock also presented a message of cheer to the old folks after which Uncle Robert told them that they have nothing to be sorry for in the mere fact of being poor.

"It is only happiness and a feeling of joy at being alive that counts in this world," he said, "and when you see other people riding around in their expensive cars, with fur coats and other personal adornment, pity them, for many of them do not know what true happiness is. Keep a smile on your face all day long and you have something that the richest men in the world will envy you for."

The keynote of Uncle Roberts receipe for a good time is informality, and he did not talk long but had the nurses pass out the ice cream cones, cady, lolly-pops and for the old gentlemen, pipes and tobacco, and then just sat back and enjoyed to the utmost, the looks of joy and contentment on the happy recipients of his gifts.

In return, different individuals among the gathering came forward and in a spry manner performed jig steps and sang songs. Little Mae Conway and her mother also were present to aid to the measure of good cheer and Al Forrest played the piano. When the time came for him to say good-bye, there were repeated calls for him to return again at his earliest opportunity, and amid a perfect bedlam of cheers and waving of rattles, he departed to bring sunshine to the Ayer Home for children, but left much of it behind to warm the hearts of the city's charges, who will remember him for many a day.

FOR TELEGRAPHERS AND STATION AGENTS

The United States railroad labor board announced on Monday morning an increase in wages, affecting about 5,500 railroad telegraphers and station agents, and aggregating $364,482. The important decision was issued from Chicago late Sunday night and sent by wire to all sections of the country.

General Agent Frank Brown at the Middlesex street railroad station has received no official notice of the increases as yet, neither is he sure that the sweeping increases for the 5,500 agents and telegraphers include the railroad employes in the Lowell district.

Telegraphers at the railroad station have received no notification regarding the railroad labor board's action, although they are inclined to feel that they will be included in the new wage increases.

Down in the yard towers where more telegraphers are employed by the B. & M. and N. Y., N. H. & H. lines, no information regarding new wage awards was forthcoming. Some operators doubt that the local division was included in the labor board's decision, which was announced without naming the railroad companies—26 in all—affected.

The labor board has explained, in granting increases for 5,500 agents and telegraphers, that it had tried to correct existing inequalities without attempting standardization and without granting a general increase. The payment of a punitive rate of time and one-half for overtime to telegraphers and station agents was also awarded, and a few other changes in rules authorized.

The parties in the case are the Brotherhood of Railway Station Employes, the order of Railroad Telegraphers and 26 railroad corporations.

Lowell rail employes learned last night that the plan pursued by the labor board was to deny increases on roads where it found the existing rates equal to the average paid on comparable roads in the same territory, and to award increases on other roads which bring their rates up to the average paid in their territory by comparable roads. In some cases the increases affect one group of employes and not another. They range from two to five cents an hour.

It was also stated in the labor board's announcement that some members of the wage-adjustment group favored a general increase and that some opposed any increase at all.

It is believed by rail managements that the payment of time and one-half for overtime will result in a material reduction in the amount of overtime work required. The board claims that overtime work has always been largely in the employers' control.

The board has denied a request for punitive rates for work on Sunday and holidays. It claims that "such work is expected by the public, cannot be avoided and should not be paid for on a punitive basis."

FREE TURKEYS AT ASSOCIATE HALL

All roads lead to Associate hall tonight where ten wonderful turkeys will be given away to the holders of the lucky numbers. Every one will have a number and each will correspond to one on the wheel. The management has made all arrangements for the prizes to be presented and while it will only take a few minutes to conduct the drawing the interruption will not interfere with dancing to any great extent.

These prize birds are as fine a lot as one would care to gaze upon and if appearances count for anything they should make a most delightful meal. As an added attraction dancing will continue until 1 a. m. with Miner-Doyle's orchestra furnishing the music. With such features and the small admission charged it should prove one of the big nights of the year at Associate. The admission is 40 cents. With the best dance floor and best music in town a large crowd is anticipated. Come early and stay for the fun.

Thanksgiving will be celebrated with a battle of music between "Mal" Hallett's famous Broadway orchestra and Lowell's own premier dance orchestra, Miner-Doyle's. For those who like to dance Associate offers the best in this line and there will be something going on every minute. Dancing on Thanksgiving night will start at 8 o'clock.

Lowell business men have been invited to a "claims congress," to be held at the Copley Plaza hotel, Tuesday, Dec. 4, starting at 10 a. m. It is expected that at least two hundred delegates from the freight claims offices of the railroads of the country and Canada will attend. Shippers of merchandise are also invited to take part in the discussions. Freight claims are to be discussed from every angle. The American Railway association already has a freight claims prevention division, members of which also will be present to offer suggestions covering better handling of shipments of New England merchandise.

The fiftieth anniversary of the birth of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers will be observed in Boston and 15 other large terminal railroad cities of the country with special exercises, next Sunday. There will be public gatherings in the evening. The members will hold meetings exclusively for trainmen in the afternoon. Lowell will be represented at the anniversary celebration if the "extra" freight lists are not all choked up for Sunday transmission.

FRATERNAL NEWS

A well attended meeting of Court Merrimack, 11, Foresters of America, was held last night in Grafton hall. Considerable business was transacted and five applications for membership referred to the court physician. Following the business meeting remarks concerning the order were made by Past Chief Rangers John F. Hendrick, Arthur Bernhart, Peter F. Gill, Thomas C. Mooney and John McCollough. A card party, with chickens and turkeys as prizes, followed the meeting and was greatly enjoyed.

Over 150 members of the local aerie of Eagles participated in a pitch tournament in the rooms of the organization in Central street last night. Interest in the game was at fever pitch from beginning to end for the prizes were Thanksgiving turkey, chicken and duck. George W. F. Carey won the turkey, P. W. P. Thomas H. Corcoran the chicken, and Thomas H. Scanlon the duck. The following committee had charge of the evening's entertainment: Secretary, John M. Hogan, James E. Donnelly, Charles C. Schloss, David J. Hackett, Thomas F. Quinn, Jr., Chaplain William A. Sheehan, Trustee William F. Carey, Assistant Secretary Martin J. Crowe and W. P. Thomas F. Quinn.

A BETTER SHAMPOO

It contains considerably more cocoanut oil than the ordinary shampoos, making it not only a greater cleanser, but more economical as well.

GOURAUD'S ORIENTAL COCOANUT OIL SHAMPOO

thoroughly removes all dust, dirt and dandruff from the hair, leaving a clean, healthy scalp. The brilliant, wavy appearance obtained is due to the scientific proportioning of cocoanut oil, which glosses the hair and stimulates the roots into greater activity. Gouraud's Oriental Cocoanut Oil Shampoo is so far superior that the difference is noticeable at once.

The name "Gouraud" is backed by over 80 years of public confidence. Gouraud's Oriental Cream, Gouraud's Medicated Soap, Gouraud's Oriental Cold Cream are products which have won world-wide fame through exceptional merit.

Mrs. George Allan England tells her story of Mazola

Corn Products Refining Co.,
New York

Gentlemen:

SEVERAL times I have had guests ask me how I made my French dressing. They have remarked on its superior taste and quality. I always tell them my secret is simple—and inexpensive. I use Mazola for it.

Its superiority as a salad-oil is equalled by its quality when used for shortening pastries. It never gets rank or strong, or makes heavy, oily pastry. I like it, too, for frying and cooking, because of its delicacy and purity.

Then too, it's economical. Less of it is required for the same result, than any other oil.

Flavor, Purity, Economy—these tell the story of Mazola.

Very sincerely yours,

(Signed) MRS. G. A. ENGLAND

Glenwood
Makes Cooking Easy

You can cook everything on this menu all at once with a Gold Medal Glenwood

NOT even a dinner party has any terrors for a Gold Medal Glenwood. With its three capacious ovens, four covers for coal and five gas burners, it can do all the cooking that any one person can take care of.

See, for instance, how this range would make it easy to get ready every item on this dinner menu:

1. Soup—on a gas burner.
2. Steak—in the gas broiler.
3. Potatoes—on a coal cover.
4. Peas—on a gas burner.
5. Stewed Tomatoes—on a gas burner.
6. Pie—in the coal oven.
7. Hot Biscuits—in the gas oven.
8. Coffee—on a coal cover.

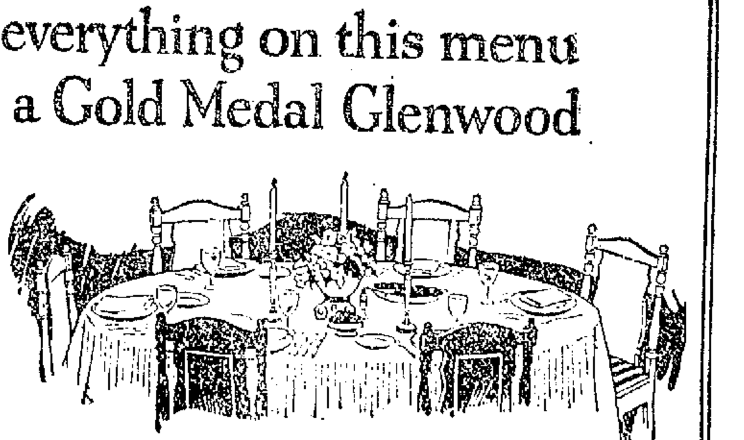
—and there's still room for the tea kettle.



A Gold Medal Glenwood is actually two ranges in one. Each section is completely equipped with every modern device to save time and trouble. Finished in ebony black or pearl-grey porcelain enamel. It really does make cooking easy.

DARTMOUTH AND COLUMBIA MEET IN THEIR FINAL GAME OF SEASON

Green Hopes to Register Its First Success Over Haughton Football in Polo Grounds Tomorrow Afternoon —Cornell-Penn. Game at Franklin Field

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Dartmouth hopes to register its first success over Haughton football tomorrow afternoon, when, at the Polo Grounds, its gridiron eleven battles Percy Haughton's Columbia team in the final game of their respective seasons.

The football representatives of the Hanover, N. H., institution, have attempted five times to vanquish Haughton-coached teams, yet never have succeeded. They first opposed Haughton football in 1908, when the present Columbia coach became head coach at Harvard, and continued annual engagements with the Crimson and the Haughton system through 1912.

During the five seasons prior to Haughton's regime at Cambridge, Dartmouth won two, tied two and lost once in engagements with the Crimson, but the tide swung with the advent of the famous tutor.

The Green which defeated Harvard 16 to 0, this year, holds out high hope of victory tomorrow. But the Hanoverians have slumped to some extent since mid-season, while Columbia has come forward steadily, despite reverses, throughout the season. It is no secret that Haughton has pointed his men for the Dartmouth game. With the brilliant Koppisch leading its offensive, the blue and white may cause an upset.

On comparative records, however, Dartmouth shows to better advantage. The only real basis of comparison is through Cornell, which downed the Green, 32 to 7, and a week later trounced Columbia, 35 to 0.

That was Dartmouth's only reverse, however, while Columbia also lost to Williams and Pennsylvania, and was tied by Amherst.

A capacity crowd at the Polo Grounds, another 55,000 gathering at Franklin Field to witness the annual Cornell-Pennsylvania game, the 35,000 who may watch Pittsburg and Penn State and probably 20,000 at the West Virginia-Washington & Jefferson game will make Thanksgiving day a big factor in boosting the season's football attendance record.

BASKETBALL TONIGHT

Fitchburg Comes Here to Play Lowell in New England League Game

Smarting under two defeats in as many starts, the Lowell basketball team of the N.E. league will meet the Fitchburg quintet in the Crescent rink tonight, determined to break into the win column.

The Fitchburg team comes here highly touted as a club that has held its own with Clinton for several seasons. These clubs have been rivals for many a day and are greater "enemies" this season because of the fact that Fitchburg has signed up Pitnoff, long a star for Clinton.

Dick Anderson, who heads the visiting aggregation, is a thorough student of the game, and he has given much study and consideration to the selection of his team. He is particularly pleased with the work of Scott, his 200-pound guard. He plans to send the big fellow after Arthur Ryan of the Lowell team, feeling confident that if he can stop this star he will greatly minimize Lowell's offensive operations.

Ryan, however, is out to play the "giant" off his feet. In the two league games played to date Ryan has shown considerable speed and accuracy and he avers that he has now struck his stride. Fontaine, D. O'Connor, J. Foley, Kamp, Dalton and Lew are in form and they are prepared to travel at a whirlwind clip in an endeavor to land the award this evening.

The game will start at 8.15, with Billy Wilson in charge.

FOOTBALL

The Lisbon Juniors would like to play the Stanley Wildcats or any team in the city weighing 115-120 pounds. A game is wanted for Thanksgiving day. See manager at Gallagher's pool room, Central street, between 6 and 7 o'clock, tonight.

The Oakleaves Seconds regret to state that they have disbanded after winning 12 out of 15 games played. Their most recent game was a 6-6 tie with the Ashlands of Malden.

FIVE-MILE RACE ON NORTH COMMON

There is considerable interest in the track events to be run off on the North common tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. A five-mile race and a one-mile race will be the features.

Both races are open to all and indications point to a large number of participants. Frank Ricard has donated cups for the winners in both events, while S. Glazer has donated the second prize for the five-mile events.

Mr. Ricard will be the starter of both events. The judges will be Mike Rynne, John Coughlin, William Salmon and S. Glazer.

Among those expected to appear in the races are Fred Couture, Francis Curtiss, Ralph Smith, Christy Robby, James Cote and Joe Wells, all of Lowell, and Thomas McNulty of Nashua, George Goddard of Natick and Luigi Ticoni and William Pendville, both of Lawrence.

COMING BOUT IMPORTANT FOR BILLY MURPHY

Billy Murphy faces the most important bout of his career here on Thursday night when he steps into the ring against Jimmy Fruzetti of Brockton in the main event of the Moody club show.

The bout will mark Murphy's passing from the featherweight class into the lightweight division. He has met many of the notable feathers in this section, while a number of others have refused to enter the same ring with him.

Realizing the difficulty in getting matches and knowing well that continued activity in the ring is necessary to attain success and reach the top, his manager after careful consideration decided to put the local boy into Benny Leonard's division.

For his first battle in the new class he has agreed to take on Fruzetti, knowing that if Murphy can withstand the attack of the Brocktonian and show to advantage he will be able to take on the most of them.

Fruzetti, who held the New England lightweight title three times, is a rugged, hard-hitting performer. He's a fighter and this explains his many ups and downs in his class. When he held the title he never refused to meet a worthy opponent. Johnny Clinton, South Boston Johnny Downes and others of their calibre were among those he gave a crack at his title.

Murphy wants to be in the best of condition and he has been training for several weeks in anticipation of the match. He expects to come into the ring at 131 or 132, but three pounds less than Fruzetti will weigh.

Tommy Fall, who made good in his professional debut a week ago, will meet Babe Adams of Lawrence in this week's semi-final.

Pancho Villa's flyweight championship will not be involved when he meets Patsy Wallace in Philadelphia Dec. 16. The weight is 116 pounds.

Teddy Hayes, who trained Jack Dempsey for his fight with Carpentier, has been re-engaged by the champion, and will accompany him on his European tour.

Gene Tunney, American light heavyweight champion, has started training for his bout with Harry Greb at Madison Square garden, Dec. 10.

New Bedford fans are excited about the appearance of Johnny Dundee against Al Shubert in that city Thursday night.

Jimmy Goodrich, Buffalo's sensational lightweight, will clash with Bobby Tracy, another Bison, at Buffalo Thursday evening.

MALONE KAYOS WARD IN THIRD ROUND

BOSTON, Nov. 28.—The real Jack Malone, the genuine "wonder" boxer, uncovered his long latent prowess in the ring of the Arena last night and in three rounds beat George Ward, the great Elizabeth, N. J., welterweight, so completely that Referee Johnny Brassil stopped the bout as the tall Jerseyite lay helpless on the floor, his head supported by the lower strand of rope.

Seven times before the St. Paul teamster appeared as a principal in boxing matches and seven times he won, but never did he inflict very severe punishment upon his opponent. Last night, however, it was different. He recognized in tall "Gentleman George" an unusually skilful boxer, fast on his feet and a terrific right hand puncher. He appreciated, too, that if he is to get the recognition that is unquestionably his due, from Johnny Wilson or middleweight champion Harry Greb, that he must beat Ward decisively—and that's just what he did.

He was eager to win last night and to win as quickly as possible and he therefore made the first real fight he has ever made in Boston. Ordinarily, Jack, one of the geniuses of the ring, is content to win the decision. If he can outpoint his antagonist without inflicting unnecessary punishment he is satisfied.

Just now Malone has his eye on the middleweight championship. Conservative judges of boxing [illegible], he is the uncrowned [illegible] of the world's [illegible]weights, however, but to get a [illegible] at Greb's crown he must first remove several obstacles in his path, and it fell to the lot of poor Ward to be one of those obstacles.

LOWELL'S BIG GAME TOMORROW

Stage All Set for Annual Gridiron Classic at Alumni Field

Biggest Crowd in City's History Expected — Game Starts at 10 O'Clock

On the eve of what promises to be one of the most interesting high school gridiron clashes in this city in years, the Lowell high team is confident of giving its traditional opponent, Lawrence, the hardest battle of her 1923 schedule when the two elevens meet at Alumni Field tomorrow morning. Both teams finished their training stunts yesterday and all that remains now is a clear, bright day. The attendance, judging by the preliminary sale of tickets, should break all records in this city for high school football. Besides the local rooters, it is estimated that almost 2000 Lawrence supporters will be on hand when the referee's whistle blows.

The spectators who in the past have experienced difficulty in identifying the players, will be aided tomorrow by the use of huge numerals attached to the jerseys of the participants. The numbers are 12 inches in length and will appear in the following order: Sheehan, 1; O'Neil, 2; Barron, 3; Ryan, 4; Honan, 5; Sutherland, 6; Cavanaugh, 7; Kosciolek, 8; Heron, 9; Taplin, 10; Calkins, 11; Sullivan, 12; Sharkey, 13; Casey, 14; Higgins, 15; Kelley, 16; Gib[illegible], 17, Spaulding, 18; Henderson, 19; Willard, 20; McIntire, 21; McM[illegible], 22; Keefe, 23; Allard, 24; J. [illegible], 25; [illegible], 26; [illegible], 27; Morris, 28; [illegible], 29; Burke, 30.

JIMMIE LISTON
Coach L.H.S.

Over in Lawrence Coach M[illegible] and his assistants, Tom H[illegible] and [illegible] have perfected a [illegible] football machine which will [illegible] the biggest and most [illegible] of the season. The team is in wonderful physical trim, all the players being in tip-top shape for the [illegible] engagement. Capt. [illegible] will watch the game from [illegible] as he passed the [illegible] last Sunday. It is [illegible] will direct activities [illegible].

Asked for a statement concerning the chances of the Red and [illegible] against Lawrence, Coach Liston said [illegible] afternoon that he expects his team [illegible] tomorrow morning and [illegible] the Lawrencians one of the [illegible] of the year. The [illegible] of fans who have already formed [illegible] opinion as to the outcome of the [illegible], their judgments being based [illegible] the comparative scores of Lowell and Lawrence against the [illegible] are due, according to [illegible] those in the know, [illegible]. The Lowell team [illegible] against Lawrence tomorrow will be an entirely different Lowell team than any seen in action to date. It will be an eleven imbued with a spirit to conquer in the objective game of the season, a game in which a win will cover a multitude of sins, footballistically speaking, and not, as a Haverhill scribe writes, a game in which "Lawrence should take Lowell like Grant took Richmond, only it took Grant four years and it should take Lawrence about four minutes."

The game will start at 10 o'clock sharp. The local student-body will occupy seats on the left hand side of the field or in the third-base bleachers, while the Lawrence cohorts will have a reserved section in the first-base bleachers.

To insure the best possible protection for players and fans alike, Faculty Manager James Conway has contracted for a squad of 30 policemen to be on duty during the game. Special parking spaces will be allotted to those going to the game via automobile.

Ready Lowell! Ready Lawrence!

FOR CITY CHAMPIONSHIP

Cadets and Belvideres to Clash at Alumni Field Tomorrow Afternoon

Without fear of contradiction, followers of the O.M.I. Cadet and Belvidere A.A. football teams, which meet to determine the 1923 city championship at Alumni field tomorrow afternoon, state that the largest amount of money ever involved in a gridiron game in this city will change hands with the outcome of the big and much disputed clash. The Cadet-Belvidere game will go on at 2.30 o'clock with the first-string men of both contingents ready to answer the call to battle.

The advance dope has it that the crowd will exceed the record-breaking gathering which assembled on the green sward for the memorable Butler-Cadet game on Columbus day. This is saying a great deal when one takes into consideration the fact that that battle was witnessed by some 8000 rabid fans. But, it is contended, the rivalry existent all season between the Cadets and the Belvideres exceeds even that so evident in past Cadet-Belvidere engagements. The Cadets have been going along at a rapid clip all season, losing only to the heavier Fairmounts of Lawrence in one of the bitterest games ever staged at O'Sullivan park in the down-river city. The Belvideres have found it an extremely difficult proposition to arrange games. Somehow or other, various teams seemed to shun them, but in the games in which they have participated, they have come through with colors flying. Their most noteworthy achievement and the incident that had a lot to do with the arranging of tomorrow's game was their brilliant victory over the Lawrence C.Y.M.A. on the North common last Sunday. The Belvideres, principally through the great work of Artie Conway, were able to pin a 12 to 0 defeat on the strong Lawrence aggregation, while the entire personnel of the team made a deep impression on the 2500 fans who took in the game.

Against this same C.Y.M.A. team, the Cadets fought a spectacular, no-decision tie on the old Fair grounds the first part of the season and in a return engagement on the North common the locals emerged a 7 to 0 victor. A comparison of the scores, while interesting, cannot have any direct bearing in tomorrow's fray, as both teams will use a systematic method of attack with a bagful of trick plays thrown in.

Final practice sessions were held by both teams in the high school annex last night, the Belvideres going through secret drills from 7 to 8 o'clock and the Cadets following from 8 until 9 o'clock. General optimism was expressed in both camps.

To insure against possible arguments, the managements have arranged to have Eddie Casey, coach of Tufts and former Harvard All-America backfield star, handle the game, assisted by Mark Devlin of Holy Cross and now coach of the Lawrence high school squad, as umpire, and Ned Pendleton of Dartmouth, as head linesman. Adequate police protection is assured to keep the playing field free of spectators.

Final announcements as to players eligible to participate in the game is made as follows:

Cadets—Dan and John O'Connor, Curran, Dostaler, Neary, Troville, McKinstrey, Taplin, Egan, Brodeur, Crowe, Payton, Coughlin, Lemoine, Nelligan, Murphy, Twohey.

Belvidere A.A.—Desmond, Heathcock, Kierce, Donnellan, White, McAdams, Gleason, Locke, Conway, Sullivan, Whitely, Hill, Egan, Byrt, Normandin and Dacey.

PONIES CHALLENGE PRINCETON A. A.

It has come at last. The Ponies today issued a challenge to the Princeton A.A. for a game to be played on the Lakeview avenue grounds next Saturday afternoon and the Princetons in all probability will accept the challenge.

Centralville fans have been looking forward to a Princeton-Pony clash since the two were organized and with today's announcement, interest in the proposed tilt increased by leaps and bounds. Both teams are products of Centralville and have good records to date. The game will undoubtedly prove the biggest drawing magnet of the day, as no other games are scheduled in the city for next Saturday afternoon.

Coach Bill Crossland of the Ponies and Coach Owen Nerney of the Princetons will get together tonight to arrange for the big meeting. Meanwhile the teams will continue to practice and keep in shape for the clash. The Ponies are in fine trim, all the players coming out of the Salem game last Sunday unscathed. The Princetons have not played since they took the Oakleaves into camp a week ago Sunday, but they have held nightly rehearsals and are anxious to meet the Ponies for the title of Centralville champions.

Princetons Want to Play Sunday

Since the receipt of the above, the Princetons have come forward with a statement that, owing to the fact that three of their players work Saturday afternoons, they cannot play at that time, but are willing to take on the Ponies for any amount of money next Sunday.

Presenting the most talked about football player of the year, Red Grange of Illinois. Grange is the young man who thrice crossed the Nebraska goal line in the sensational 21 to 7 victory scored by Illinois over the conquerors of Notre Dame. In every game that Illinois has played, Grange has succeeded in crossing the opponent's goal line one or more times. Some record.

"UNDER THE SPOTLIGHT"

Big Musical Production by Y. M. C. I. at Auditorium Tomorrow Night

There will be cause for rejoicing on all sides tomorrow, it not only being Thanksgiving day, but also the day that the Y.M.C.I.'s big musical production, "Under the Spotlight—1923," will be presented. "Bigger and Better" is what's going the rounds concerning this great show. Last year's big production is still fresh in the minds of the Lowell public and capacity houses no doubt will greet the young players both nights of the show. Dancing will follow the performances both nights, until 1 o'clock, Brodericks' orchestra furnishing the music. Tickets have been selling rapidly for the show, and all are urged to secure their tickets at once. A short resume of "who's who" in regard to the men soloists follows. Mr. Andrew A. McCarthy, Lowell's sweetest baritone singer. Next in line we have Raymond Kelley, whose marvelous singing of "You Remind Me of My Mother" in last year's "Spotlight" created such a furore, will be heard again this year. Mr. Kelley, like Mr. McCarthy, has picked the best song number available, "Ten Thousand Years From Now," McCormack's great success, being his offering. Charles J. Keyes, singing-acting comedian, will be seen in a specialty offering. Sam Scott, popular local business man and a leading Elk of the city, will be right on the job with his bagpipes to enliven things.

Sam is right there when it comes to pulling music out of the "pipes." Charles Cluncy, singing-dancing comedian, steps right into female impersonating in his comedy number, "Oh, You Candy Kid." Remember the "Bamboo Babies." The endmen comprise a sextet of funmakers. Heading the list is that inimitable Frank McCartin, dean of endmen, who never grows old, and who is just as popular and as much in demand as the day when he first started out to amuse the Lowell public. Ed (Tip) Handley, another old favorite, will add greatly to the first part with his clever antics and witticisms. Patrick Maguire will also be "in the swim," and his clever rendition of "Louisville Lou" is sure to go over big. Maguire is a clever singer and comedian, and his countless friends expect big things of him in the "Spotlight." The young fellow himself in the personage of Edward Cawley, just "Edw," will sing those "Blue Hoosier Blues" just as they should be sung. Frank O'Neill, another comedian par excellence, will sing that comedy riot song, "Oh, Min." Frank is a great favorite with his audiences and will liven up the proceedings from time to time with jokes. A young man whose work will stand out prominently in this year's show, as it has in others, is Joseph Craven. Joe is a real honest-to-goodness comedian and can sing and dance. He will render that family song, "Maggie" in first rate style and will be one of the hits of the show.

All roads will lead right into our spacious Auditorium tomorrow and Friday evenings.

The O'Reilly Troupe, the Misses Peggy and Blanche O'Reilly and William Hinkley, has been secured as an extra added attraction, and these talented young people are bound to go over "big." The troupe has a contract with the B. F. Keith people and expects to go on the "boards" at any time in the near future.

Slept in Chair for Years

It was necessary for Mrs. M. L. Moody, of 265 Upham St., Melrose, Mass., to sleep in a chair for years because of rheumatism and the terrible pain she experienced when she would lie down. Mrs. Moody states that almost every joint in her body was afflicted. Her knees were sore and stiff, wrists, fingers and hips were also sore and painful, and it was necessary to depend on two crutches when she had to go about the house.

A thorough treatment of Weldona enabled Mrs. Moody to discard her crutches, and she is now able to sleep in a bed, go up and down stairs, and, in fact, is entirely free from rheumatism, even the deformities of the fingers have disappeared.

Weldona has been remarkably successful in the treatment of rheumatic conditions. A free book, "Germs of Rheumatism," may be obtained by addressing Weldona Co., 132 Boylston St., Boston, Mass. Weldona is sold at Dow's and other drug stores.—Adv.

M'CORMACK POPULAR

Celebrated Tenor, Who Sings Here Dec. 6, Holds Audiences Under His Spell

John McCormack, the celebrated tenor, who will be heard in the Memorial Auditorium December 6, has become an institution with the music-loving public of America. His song recitals, like the laws and customs of the time, as Webster would say, "are persistent elements in the country's social order."

McCormack's listeners are held completely under the spell of his song. They laugh when he wishes it, and many of them cry. They are exalted to shouting enthusiasm or stilled to breathless silence. Ordinary applause soon ceases to serve as expression for their approval. They call him endearingly by name and beg for this or that number of his repertory.

JOHN McCORMACK

The reasons for Mr. McCormack's popularity are by no means catalogued with the statement that he is an Irishman and a tenor. His voice is exquisite. His song defines every virtue of vocal art. His enunciation is like music itself. His diction has life and pulse; it is a thing of beauty and of eloquence to sway a multitude. His song, be its burden grave or gay, bears the impulse of a simple, wholesome personality. It sustains the semblance of spontaneity as though born of an irresistible desire, yet conforms to the measured order of a faultless interpretative intention. In short, Mr. McCormack is a great artist, and if there are any other reasons for his success omitted in this list, the reader may supply them for himself.

Seats are on sale in the Victrola department in Chalifoux's.

The Lowell Memorial Auditorium has a seating capacity of 4000. Imagine the Auditorium filled to capacity twenty times and you will get some idea of the number of people who read The Sun daily, and 50 per cent, of the 80,000 readers of The Sun take no other Lowell newspaper.

VICTIM OF RUM PIRATES

Rum-Runner Lost Liquor, Two Checks for $3000 and Nearly Lost Life

Was Pushed Off Boat Into Water—Kept Afloat by Clinging to Auto Tire

LUBEC, Me., Nov. 27.—That Victor Chaisson of Bangor, alleged rum-runner, who was brought here yesterday morning in a chilled condition from being in the water several hours near Campobello Island, N. B., was the victim of rum pirates, was brought to light today. Chaisson, it is said, lost his cargo of holiday liquor and two certified checks for $3000, and nearly lost his life.

He had purchased 150 cases of liquor in St. Stephen for which he had given the checks and, it is told, with his pilot, had taken the cargo to Snug Cove, on Campobello. At the suggestion of his pilot the transfer of the liquor to a larger boat was agreed upon and early in the morning two men came aboard and the work of transfer was nearly completed when the men started up their engine and pushed Chaisson into the water when he attempted to jump aboard.

Chaisson was able to keep himself from drowning by clinging to an automobile tire that was used as a bumper and tieing himself to the craft with the bow line. When rescued by passing fishermen he was in an exhausted condition but today was able to be taken to his home in Bangor.

Chaisson had not been robbed of his cash, apparently, as he had $45 in money in his pockets in addition to his bankbooks showing a balance of from $20,000 to $25,000. Chaisson has notified the banks to stop payment on the checks.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Sensational fluctuations in Davison Chemical Co. stock, which twice recently has brought it under the scrutiny of New York stock exchange officials, again today sent exchange observers scurrying to Davison trading post.

Makes a Family Supply of Cough Remedy

Really better than ready-made cough syrups, and saves about $2. Easily and quickly prepared.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this simple home-made cough syrup, which is easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with syrup, using either plain granulated sugar syrup, clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, as desired. The result is a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle and heals the sore, irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations to break up severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

SAGE TEA BEAUTIFIES AND DARKENS HAIR

Don't Stay Gray! It Darkens So Naturally That Nobody Can Tell

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost overnight if you'll get a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old famous Sage Tea recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, say well known druggists here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound tonight and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.—Adv.

But we don't ask for you to take our word for it, go to Green's drug store or any good druggist and get a bottle, and if it doesn't do as we promise get your money back. It will be there waiting for you.—Adv.

ROTARY CLUB MEETING

Rev. W. Quay Roselle of Malden Divides Program With "Uncle Robert"

The spirit of Rotary is 2,000 years old, Dr. W. Quay Roselle, Malden pastor and Rotarian, told the Lowell Rotary club in an interesting address at the weekly luncheon held at the Boys' club yesterday. He quoted as one of the principles of Rotary the saying of Jesus of Nazareth, "the first Rotarian," "Let him that would be greatest among you become the servant of all."

Dr. Roselle invited comparison between this saying and the official motto of Rotary. "He prospers best who serves the most." Dr. Roselle expressed his pride in the fact that the spirit of service dominates Rotary and that service, a word abused by its enemies, is again gaining appreciation of its full meaning.

Uncle Robert, himself a New York Rotarian, was introduced by B. S. Pouzzner as "Uncle Bob." He spoke briefly of his plan for a Parents' day on the second Sunday in May of each year instead of a Mothers' Day and the proposed Fathers' Day. He announced he had offered prizes for the best essays by Lowell school children on the plan.

Plans for the annual Charity ball, to take place on Dec. 28, were reported as progressing smoothly and all indications point to its being the banner social event of the season. The next committee meeting will take place at Cole's Inn, Friday noon.

Dr. H. E. Davis presided at the meeting and announced a committee to confer with chamber of commerce members on the feasibility of the community chest plan for Lowell. Named on this committee were Jude C. Wadleigh, Harry G. Pollard, George M. Harrigan, Frank Kenney, Robert W. Thomson and Clarence Howe.

H. Hutchins Parker was named by Dr. Davis as chairman of the day for the next meeting of the club.

The committee on boys' work, appointed to take charge of the annual Christmas observance at the Boys' club, was named today and includes Royal White, Robert W. Thomson, George Wagner, Elias McQuade, and Clarence Weed.

MATRIMONIAL

At a nuptial mass celebrated yesterday morning at Ste. Jeanne d'Arc church, Mr. Albert Proulx and Miss Juliette Gervais, two well known young residents of Pawtucketville, were united in the bonds of matrimony, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Emile Bolduc, O.M.I. During the mass hymns were sung by the choir, with Miss Dion presiding at the organ. The bride was attired in black velvet with fur trimmings and wore a blue hat with silver trimmings. She was attended by Miss Flore Proulx, while the best man was Mr. Leon Gervais. At the close of the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride, 229 White street, and at noon the happy couple left on a two weeks' honeymoon trip to New York. Upon their return they will make their home at 227 White street.

Pratt—Larocque

The wedding of Dr. Ernest F. Pratt and Miss Lillian Larocque took place Monday afternoon at St. Joseph's rectory, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Alphonse Archambault, O.M.I. The bride wore navy blue chenille with fur trimmings and black picture hat. The bridesmaid was Miss Irene Larocque, while the best man was Mr. Alfred Pratt. Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride, 19 James street. After a honeymoon trip to New York, the couple will make their home at 456 Stevens street.

Brennan—Gilligan

Mr. James Brennan and Miss Margaret Gilligan were united in marriage Monday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the rectory of the Immaculate Conception church by Rev. John J. Duffy, O.M.I. The bride wore a gown of gray canton crepe, with Chantilly lace trimmings and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley. Miss Helen Kearns, a cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid. She was attired in pink silk with hat to match and carried Kilarney roses. Mr. William Brennan, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. The bride's gift to the bridesmaid was a gold wrist watch. The best man received gold cuff links from the bridegroom. After an extended honeymoon trip Mr. and Mrs. Brennan will be at home to friends at 16 Chase street.

Trouville—Dufault

Mr. Stanislas Trouville and Miss Genevieve Dufault were united in marriage at St. Joseph's rectory at 8 o'clock Monday morning by Rev. Alphonse Archambault, O.M.I. The couple were attended by Mr. Alphonse Trouville and Mr. Henri Dufault, fathers of the bridegroom and bride, respectively. The bride was attired in a gown of brown chiffon velvet with hat to match and carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, 108 Salem street, where a wedding breakfast was also served. After an extended wedding trip to New York, Mr. and Mrs. Trouville will reside at 108 Salem street.

Messier—Brodeur

At a nuptial mass celebrated at 8 o'clock Monday morning at Notre Dame de Lourdes' church, Mr. Alfred Messier and Miss [illegible] Brodeur were united in marriage by Rev. Lucien Brassard, O.M.I. Mr. Pierre Brodeur and Mr. Adelard Messier, fathers of the bridegroom and bride, respectively, assisted the couple. Miss [illegible] Lavigne presided at the organ and under the direction of [illegible] appropriate selections were rendered by the choir. A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, 10 Joffre street, following the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Messier were the recipients of many beautiful gifts.

VON METZEN RESIGNS

DUESSELDORF, Germany, Nov. 27.—Herr Von Metzen has resigned as foreign minister of the provisional government of the Rhineland republic. He declared in his letter of resignation that he had spent his entire private fortune for the separatist cause, and cannot afford to continue. Also since the idea of a separate Rhineland has been accomplished, he feels he can work more successfully in a private capacity than [illegible]."

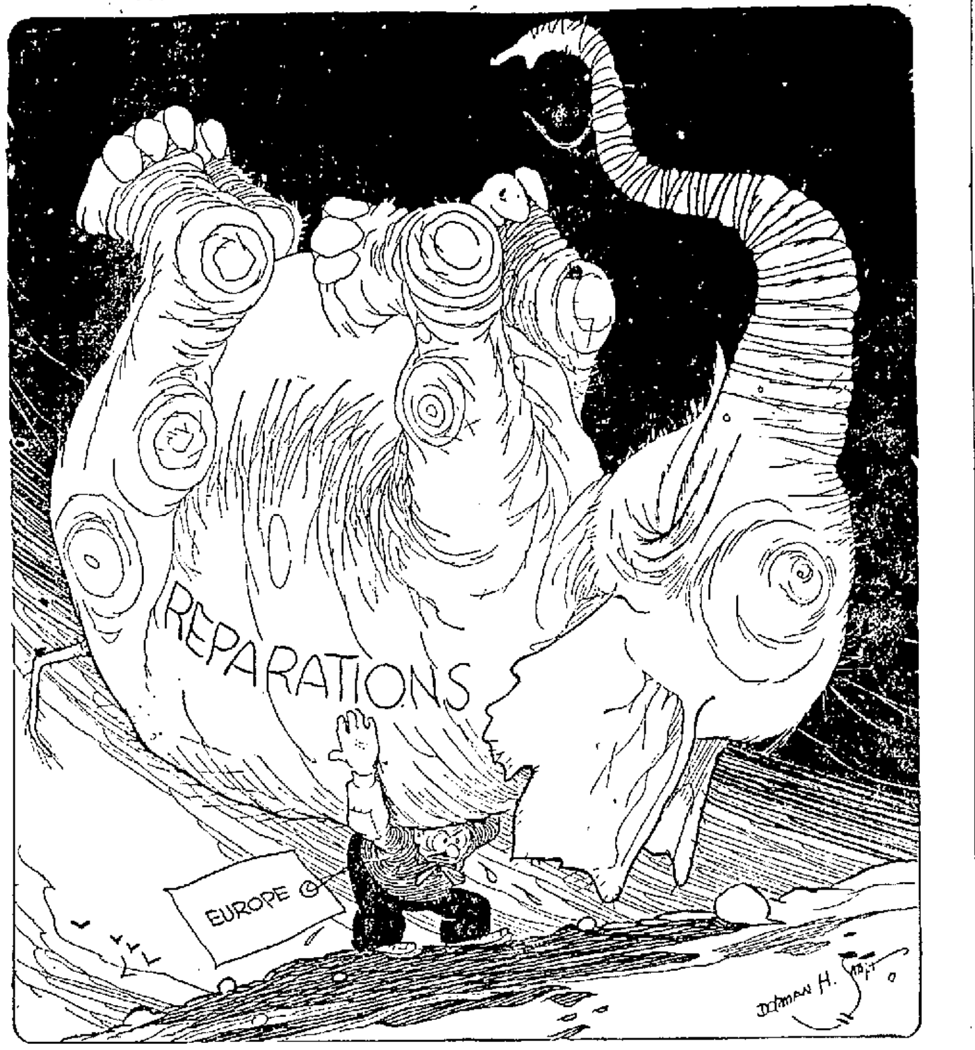
THE KING-PIN OF ALL THE WHITE ELEPHANTS



"BOY TROTZKY" HELD

New York Bomb Squad Discovers Band of Juvenile Revolutionaries

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—The police bomb squad today reported the discovery in Harlem of a band of juvenile revolutionists led by "a boy Trotzky" —Leo Granoff, aged 11.

Lieut. James J. Gegan said he had been put on the case by Justice Hoyt of the children's court, after Granoff had been arrested on a technical charge of juvenile delinquency. His arrest occurred shortly after midnight on Nov. 15, when he was alleged to be distributing communist pamphlets.

The police say they had learned that nearly a score of boys and girls all under 14, had been meeting Saturday afternoons at a house on East 103rd street. There they were met by a man who gave them for distribution radical pamphlets.

FOUR INJURED IN HEAD-ON COLLISION

SPRINGFIELD, Vt., Nov. 27.—Walter Pfeiz, 14 years old, of this town, was badly hurt and three other persons sustained minor injuries in a collision between a trolley car and an electric freight locomotive on the trolley line between Springfield and Charlestown, N. H., today. The boy, who had been riding in the front vestibule of the car was caught between the car and the locomotive. One leg was broken and he was badly cut and bruised.

F. D. Cox, a traveling salesman of Albany, N. Y., Harold Stiles, conductor of the car, and Lovell Comstock, a Charlestown boy, were cut by flying glass. Fred Wallace of Charlestown, who also was riding in the vestibule, jumped into the Black river when he saw that a crash was inevitable, and Fred Olney, motorman of the passenger car, jumped to the ground, both escaping injury.

The crew of the passenger car asserted they had orders from a despatcher giving them a clear track at a point two miles south of this village where the accident occurred.

TO PREVENT WEARING MASKS

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Nov. 27. (By the Associated Press.)—The state senate today adopted a clause in the bill to regulate secret orders making it a misdemeanor to wear a mask. The action was greeted by proponents of Klan legislation as the greatest concession made thus far by the group opposing strict regulatory laws. The vote was 23 to 12.

HERMIT'S CAVE RUM-RUNNER'S STOREHOUSE

BOSTON, Nov. 27.—A cave reputed to have been dug by a hermit many years ago on a tract of wild pasture land now owned by the city was found today to have been converted into a rum runner's storehouse. After the police had seized a truck loaded with 200 cases of alcohol in the Dorchester district, they traced its course back to the cave, and there discovered 150 cases of alcohol stacked in near piles. James Fiore, driver of the truck, was detained pending an investigation.

The cave is 25 feet from the sea wall along the shore of Dorchester bay and is in what is known as the Cow Pasture, a part of which is now used for a city pumping station. A semi-circular opening leads by a flight of steps to the dirt floor of the cave, 20 feet under ground. The walls and arched roof are made of brick and cement and some moldy furniture, said to have been used by the old hermit, is still there.

The police found in the cave a dinner pail, cup and saucer, knife and fork, supposed to have been used by a watchman for smugglers, who presumably brought the alcohol ashore at the seawall. How the truck got past the fence about the city property and the strong gate which the police found with its heavy lock fastened and intact, is still a puzzle.

TREADWAY MOVES TO CUT COAL PRICES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Representative Treadway, republican, Massachusetts, who has been active in advocating steps to relieve the coal situation in New England, issued a statement today, calling on Gov. Pinchot of Pennsylvania to call a special session of the Pennsylvania legislature and recommend repeal of the $8,000,000 tax levied against citizens of other states.

SAYS GRAND JURY SITTING ILLEGAL

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 27.—Dr. James A. Christian, recently deposed as secretary of the Connecticut Eclectic Medical society, was at the meeting of the society here today and in an interview, after saying that he had no comment to make, said:

"I'll tell you one thing, though, and that is that the grand jury sitting in Hartford, is illegal. The call for it was unconstitutional."

Asked for an explanation he replied: "Never mind, you'll find out all about it soon enough."

The meeting was called, it was understood, to transact routine business.

TRIO HELD AT ST. PAUL

Believed Connected With Counterfeiters Involved in Rum-Running Activities

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 27.—Federal secret service agents, operating here, believe that three persons, one a woman, under arrest, are connected with a national counterfeiting organization which has grown up in connection with the activities of rum runners off Highlands, N. J., and other Atlantic seaboard points.

Those held are Joseph Brown, in jail in Minneapolis, and Mrs. Alice Sweeney of Minneapolis, held in St. Louis, Mo., and her husband, Homer Sweeney, alleged whiskey runner, arrested in Peoria, Ill.

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES

CRYSTAL SPRINGS, Miss., Nov. 27.—A cotton boll weevil eradicator has been found in the Argentine ant, according to Mance Dees, a planter near here.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—A leading bank this afternoon reported a sale of German marks at 14 cents a trillion.

HARTFORD, Conn., Nov. 27.—Two cases of pellagra have been reported in this state and the state department of health has warned physicians to be on the lookout for puzzling skin diseases.

DEED PROPERTY TO EPISCOPAL CHURCH

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—Believed without precedent in American church history, the Garrett Biblical Institute, the Methodist Episcopal Theological seminary at Evanston, and Northwestern university, Methodist, have deeded property valued at $150,000 to the Episcopal church with the only condition that the ground be used for the training of clergy of the Episcopal church, the Rt. Rev. Charles P. Anderson, Episcopal bishop of Chicago, has announced.

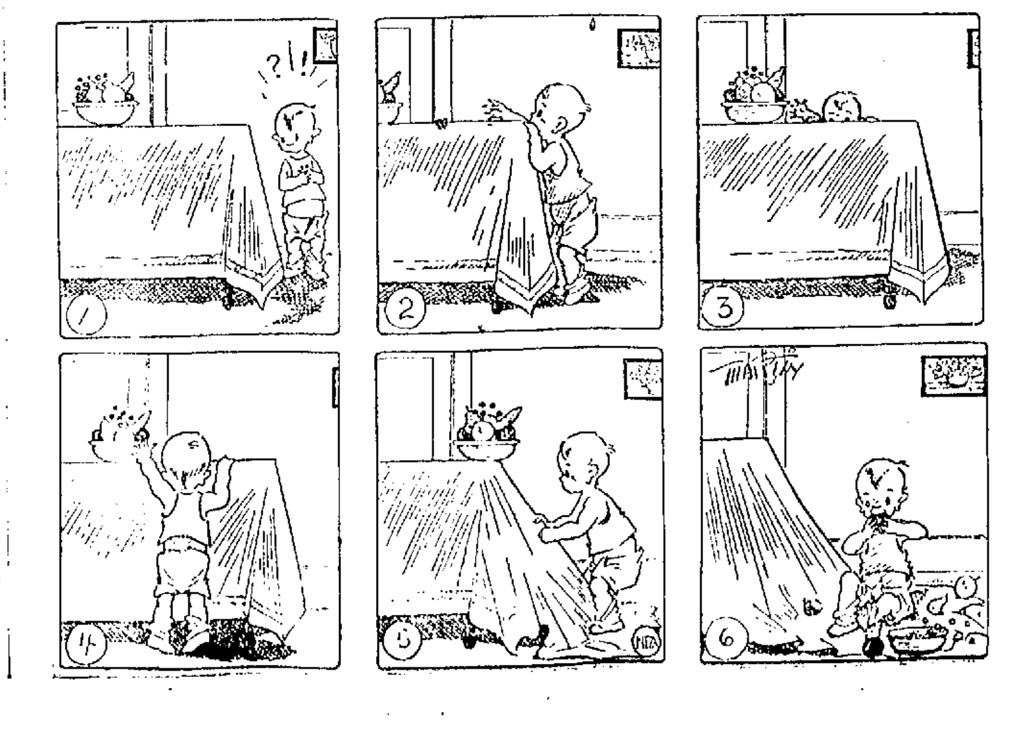
Plans for an Episcopal seminary to be erected on the site have been prepared.

"NOT VALID IN JEWISH HANDS"

STOLP, Pomerania, Nov. 27.—Anti-Jewish feeling has been manifested in a novel form by the appearance of the new local emergency paper money, based on rye values, issued by the agrarian union on which are printed the words "Not valid in Jewish hands."

Attempts are being made to declare such a restriction illegal.

TAKEN FROM LIFE



U. S. SCHOOLS BEHIND BRITISH

LONDON, Nov. 27.—The assertion that the achievement of American schools is far below that of British was made by Prime Minister Baldwin last evening, in an election speech at Bristol. Replying to the statement of a laborite speaker that the conservatives were opposed to popular education, the premier said: "We hear a great deal about American education, but from such opportunity as I have of consulting those who have visited American schools I do not believe the actual achievement of those schools is comparable to that of our schools. That judgment has been endorsed by American educators themselves. I am told a highly competent observer has said that on the whole an American boy of 15 is in knowledge and achievement about two years behind an English pupil of the same age."

DISCOVERY OF GOLD IN N. Y.

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 27.—Mining claims filed in the secretary of state's office during the past 11 months, alleged the discovery of gold in seven places in New York state, it was announced today. In some cases the claims include also silver and platinum, while one includes copper, lead and tin. Other claims were filed on a garnet deposit and a Feldspar cropping. Scientists have held gold never will be found in paying quantities in this state. Prospectors said they found gold in the towns of Dix, Schuyler county; Edwards, St. Lawrence county; Orleans, Jefferson county, and Bleecker, Fulton county. Gold and platinum were said to be found in the town of Ohio, Herkimer county, and gold and silver in Pleasant valley, Dutchess county.

ROUND THE WORLD CRUISE

PLYMOUTH, England, Nov. 27.—A special service squadron under the command of Vice Admiral Sir Frederick Field, sails today for a 307-day round the world cruise which will take the vessels to various British dominions, the United States and South America. The ships comprising the squadron are the battle cruisers Hood and Repulse, and the light cruisers Delhi, Dauntless, Dragon and Danae. After calling at Sierra Leon, the squadron makes Cape Town, India, Singapore, Australia, Honolulu, Esquimalt and Vancouver, B. C., from whence it proceed to San Francisco for July 4. The Hood and the Repulse pass through the Panama Canal on the start of their journey, while the light cruisers go to Callao to take part in the Peruvian independence celebration.

PLAN TO ABSORB INHERITANCES

BIG RAPIDS, Mich., Nov. 27.—Senator Woodbridge N. Ferris is opposed to fortunes being used at the discretion of heirs, and will go to Washington prepared to boost legislation that would all but absorb inheritances, he said here last night in his "home town" farewell. He leaves for the capital tomorrow. Young men and women, he said, would be better off and make higher marks in the world, if they started life with little.

JEWS IN OFFICIAL PROTEST

BERLIN, Nov. 27.—(Jewish Telegraphic Agency) An official protest against the mistreatment and the plundering which Jewish citizens of Poland, together with other Jews, suffered during the recent disorders in Berlin has been lodged by the Polish ambassador with the chancellor. More than 100 individual claims are cited by the Polish authorities to show that the police authorities, far from defending the Jews attacked, went so far as to encourage the plunderers.

AUTOIST FLEES AFTER KILLING GIRL

BOSTON, Nov. 27.—Miss Catherine McKinnon of Portland, Me., who had been teaching school in Saugus, was struck and killed last night by an automobile which sped away without its occupants being identified. The accident occurred at Huntington avenue and St. Albans road, in the Roxbury district. Miss McKinnon formerly taught in the state school for boys at South Portland, Me., and later in the grade schools of that city.

SEEDED DRAWS FOR TOURNEYS

LONDON, Nov. 27.—Seeded draws will probably be made for all future lawn tennis championship tournaments at Wimbledon. This system of scattering star players through the various sections of the draw to prevent one top notcher from being put out of the tournament by another in the early rounds has been approved by the council of the Lawn Tennis Association.

ENDOWMENT OF $200,000

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—An anonymous endowment of $200,000, the proceeds of which are to be devoted to research work in the department of pediatrics in Cornell university medical college in New York city, was announced today.

THE MANUFACTURE OF MODERN TIMEPIECES

The Lions' club of Lowell met yesterday noon in the Y.M.C.A. for their regular weekly lunch, with C. E. Bartlett presiding. The speaker of the day was A. S. Flint, of the Waltham Watch Co., who addressed the members of the club on the subject of the manufacture of modern timepieces.

At the time of the opening of the Waltham factory the production was five watches each day, and at that time it was thought that a market would never be found for so many timepieces, but today the output has grown to 3000 daily. The cost of a watch is 95 per cent labor and 5 per cent material, he declared, and went on to give interesting facts concerning the processes that it is necessary to put the steel through to make parts such as hairsprings, in which the value of a single bar of steel increases to approximately $10,000.

During the war the United States engaged the Waltham Co. to make time fuses for shrapnel shell, that would be accurate, and Mr. Flint described the problems of making an instrument that would stand the pressure of 2800 pounds on each grain of metal, and would remain in adjustment and function properly while whirling around with a speed of 25,000 revolutions each minute.

A quartet composed of Edward Cotter, Dr. G. F. Martin, Victor Carey and J. P. Hollingworth gave selections during the dinner. The speaker was introduced by Lee Smith.

TRADE IMPROVING

MANCHESTER, England, Nov. 27.—Two ballots taken of the members of the Federation of Master Cotton Spinners on the question of continued short time running in the mills using American cotton have failed to show the necessary majority either in favor of a 24 hour or 32 hour week. Short time will therefore cease next week. The decision is regarded as an indication of improving trade.

SEEKING HER BROTHER

Miss Minnie McMaster, matron in a local down-town theatre, appealed to The Sun yesterday to aid her in locating her brother, Thomas, who has been residing at her home, at Wamesit st., for several years and who strangely disappeared about three weeks ago, the sister declares, leaving no word as to his future whereabouts.

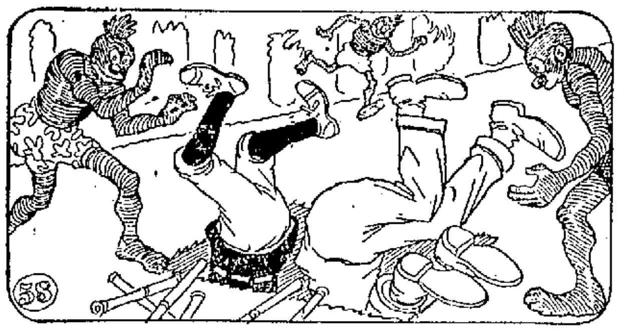
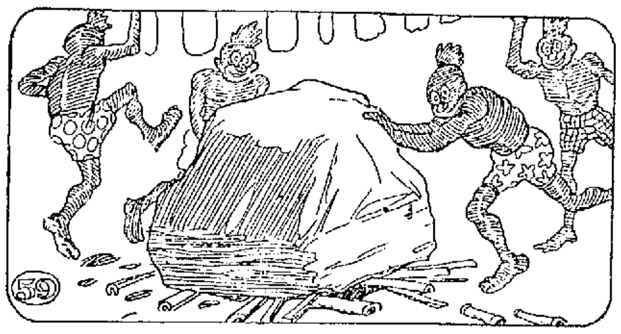
Jack Daw's Adventures. Chapter 20



Jack and Nick and Bibbs then kneeled down to take some of the gold as Jinks gathered it up. They were so interested that they did not hear the approach of several natives. Suddenly all three were hurled headfirst down into the hole with Jinks. The antives had surprised them.



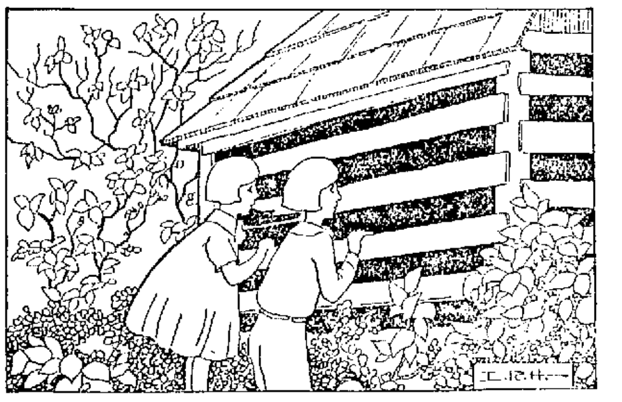
At first there was a wild scramble down in the gold hole. Then Jack looked up above just in time to see the natives push a great rock over the opening above. The four sailors of the Betsy Claire were caught in a trap. And they could hear the wild shouts up above them.

"We've got the gold all right," moaned Bibbs, "but what can we do with it when they've got us trapped!" "Don't give up!" whispered Jinks. "We've ben in worse places than this." And then he pulled out a long knife and told Jack to start digging into the side of the ground. (Continued.)

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

QUEER FOLKS IN A QUEER HOUSE



THE TWINS PUT THEIR EYES TO ONE OF THE CRACKS.

Nancy and Nick came to a queer-looking house in Dixie Land.

"Hello, here, what's this?" cried Nick. "Every other board is gone off the sides. What do you s'pose has happened?"

"It must have been a storm," suggested Nancy.

"Perhaps they ran out of boards," said Nick, "and had to put them on this way to make them reach. It's a good thing Dixie Land is warm. Such an open house would never do up north. Let's look and see what's inside."

"That's not polite," said Nancy. "Suppose the people are at home. Even if they are not, it isn't nice to peep into people's houses."

"You may look all you want to," called a voice suddenly. "We've heard every word you said, anyway."

Without waiting to be asked twice, the Twins put their eyes to one of the wide cracks and looked inside with all their might. There wasn't a thing to be seen but some more boards going across the space inside like clothesline on a washing day.

"We're up here!" called the same voice again. "We're up on the stick nearest to the roof. Can you see now?"

"I see two brown bats hanging by their feet," said Nick.

"Well, that's us," called one of the bats. "We live here."

Nancy laughed. "Why, it's a terribly big house for such a small couple, Mrs. Bat. But ifs you have so much room, why do you live in the attic?"

"It's a little difficult to talk so much upside down," said Mrs. Bat, "particularly when one is sleepy. Bartholomew and I always sleep in the daytime, being out all night doing our marketing—well, as I say, it's a little difficult to talk upside down, but if I let go with my feet, I have to fly every second and then I can't talk at all. There! I'm all out of breath!"

"And I'm glad of it," grumbled Mr. Bartholomew Bat. "I can't get a wink of sleep for your chattering."

"But it's such a big place for you," went on Nancy, not paying any attention to grumpy old Mister Bat.

"Oh, it's not for us," corrected Mrs. Bat. "This is a tobacco house. It's where Mister Dixieland Farmer hangs his green tobacco leaves to dry. The tobacco isn't ready to bring in yet so we just borrowed the place. These cross-beams are so handy to hang on! Besides the wide cracks in the sides are so convenient for us to fly in and out. I'll tell you what the cracks are for. They are left there on purpose. It's so the wind can blow through and dry the tobacco when it's hanging on these sticks like clothes on a clothes line on wash day."

"Oh, do shut up and go to sleep," growled Mister Bat again. "One of these days they'll be bringing the tobacco in and we'll be out of a home. You'd better sleep while you can."

"We're going anyway," said Nick, not minding Mister Bat's poor manners. "Goodby!"

SEARCH FOR GIRL ENDS, BODY FOUND IN RIVER

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 28.—Miss Marguerite Dearth, 22, who disappeared from the home of her parents, Judge Clarence W. and Mrs. Dearth, in Muncie, Ind., Nov. 1, and whose body was found floating in the Ohio river, here, yesterday, committed suicide in the opinion of officials. Discovery of the floating body by W. B. Daugherty, steamboat captain, brought to an end a search for the missing girl that had extended to all parts of the country.

Due to the length of time the body had been in the water, difficulty was encountered in establishing identification, but this was accomplished through comparison of numbers on a wrist watch found on the body with those given in descriptions of the girl, which had been broadcast.

News despatches from Muncie stated that Miss Dearth had been suffering from a great mental strain at the time of her disappearance.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts—Middlesex, ss. Probate Court.

To the heirs at law, next of kin and all other persons interested in the estate of William Felstead, late of Everett, in said County, deceased.

Whereas, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased has been presented to said Court, for Probate, by Amelia E. Scraggs who prays that letter testamentary may be issued to her, the executrix therein named, without giving a surety on her official bond.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the seventeenth day of December, A. D. 1923, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in The Lowell Sun, a newspaper published in Lowell, the last publication to be one day at least, before said Court, and by mailing post-paid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate, thirty days at least before said Court.

Witness, George F. Lawton, Esquire, First Judge of said Court, this fourteenth day of November in the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three.

SCHOOL BOARD HOLDS MEETING

Mrs. Pearson Springs Surprise by Nominating Supt. Molloy for Secretary

Mrs. Slaughter Said Mrs. Pearson's Motion Was Direct Attack Upon Her

Mrs. Gardner W. Pearson sprung a real surprise at a meeting of the school committee last night when, within a few minutes of adjournment, she moved that, in accordance with the new rules, a secretary be elected and she nominated Supt. Hugh J. Molloy for that position.

Mr. Bruin immediately jumped to his feet before any discussion could be started and moved that the matter be laid on the table.

Mr. Mullin, Mr. Delaney and Dr. Slaughter all objected to Mrs. Pearson's motion, Dr. Slaughter saying, "I think this is a direct attack upon me, coming up for re-election. In fact, I know it is and I am willing to take it along with the other things that have been put over."

A roll call vote on Mr. Bruin's motion to table the matter resulted in a vote of four to three in favor, Mrs. Pearson, Mr. Riley and Mayor Donovan voting no.

The meeting was called to order at 8 o'clock.

Following the reading of the minutes of the last meeting, Mayor Donovan asked permission to change his vote on the matter of increasing primary principal's salaries from "aye" to "not voting." Such permission was granted him.

A letter from Headmaster Henry H. Harris of the high school was read in which he accepted full responsibility for the so-called banquet of the Masters' club in the high school lunchroom. A detailed report of the expenditures and receipts of this banquet accompanied the letter.

Thomas M. O'Brien was elected a teacher of sheet metal drafting at the evening vacational school. He received the votes of all members but Mrs. Pearson, who voted for Thomas Wilde.

A letter from Principal Fisher of the Vocational school was read in which he stated that, because of the falling off of registration in the machinists' class, he would not need an additional teacher as previously requested.

Miss Doris Sanborn was unanimously elected a teacher of cooking at the Normal school, under the vocational department, to succeed Miss Eleanor Sutton who recently resigned. A letter of thanks was voted to Miss Sutton for her services to the school department.

In accordance with a request at a previous meeting, Supt. Molloy announced that the only emergency substitutes for high school work are Mrs. Monahan and Mr. Palmer.

Mr. Bruin asked Mr. Molloy if he knew Mr. McGowan was available. Mr. Molloy answered in the negative. During a discussion of this matter Mr. Bruin stated that Mr. McGowan had written Mr. Molloy stating his willingness to do emergency work at the high school. Mr. Riley acknowledged having seen the letter written, addressed and stamped, but did not see it mailed. Supt. Molloy denied receiving the letter and objected to insinuations that he had received it.

On motion of Mr. Delaney it was voted that the superintendent write to each substitute asking if he or she is willing to do emergency substitute work and requesting a written reply so that there will be a permanent record of those who desire such work.

The matter of opening cooking and other vocational classes at the Bartlett and Morey schools came up for discussion. With the exception of Mr. Mullin, each member had something to say about such classes in certain districts of the city and Mr. Delaney suggested that the business of increasing these classes be stopped as it is very expensive. He further suggested that he did not believe it was up to the school department to educate adults. No definite action was taken on this matter.

Business Agent Henry Williams reported that for a no-school signal, steam sirens could be purchased at prices varying from $400 to $600, subject to a 30 per cent discount, and that electric sirens could be purchased at prices from $250 to $375 net. A discussion on the advisability of doing away with the no school signal followed in which Mayor Donovan and Mrs. Pearson favored its abolishment. On motion of Mr. Delaney it was voted to instruct the business agent to have the largest mentioned electric siren shipped to Lowell, after Dec. 1, for 30 days' trial.

It was voted on Mr. Delaney's motion that the business agent present to the board the expenses for cooking and sewing classes in the continuation, vocational and elementary schools of the city. Mrs. Pearson alone voted in the negative.

Several communications concerning readjustment of salaries and increases of salaries for teachers and janitors were read and tabled. It was suggested that Mr. Molloy discuss the matter of salary increases and readjustments with the president of the teachers' organization and he agreed to do so.

On motion of Mr. Mullin it was voted to hold a special meeting to take action on such salary adjustments on Friday, Dec. 21.

MOTOR TRUCK DRIVERS

Applicants for Licenses Unable to Read English Will Be Rejected

Under a new regulation immediately effective no more special licenses will be issued motor truck drivers of owners who are classed as illiterate, unable to read English. This regulation does not affect illiterates already licensed, for the renewal privilege is conceded to be theirs, but all new applicants unable to read English will be rejected.

This puts all applicants for licenses to operate motor vehicles on the same footing. Heretofore pleasure car owners were not permitted to qualify for licenses if they could not read English and special licenses were issued to illiterate truckmen.

The largest number of illiterate licensees is said to be in Lawrence. Other mill cities like Lowell, Fall River and New Bedford, with suburban districts more or less of the same character of population, also have large numbers of illiterates holding these special licenses. Examiners yesterday informed applicants here of the new ruling and it was the first information that any had of it.

DELIGHTFUL CONCERT

Auditorium Crowded to Hear Miss Claire Dux and Pietro A. Yon Last Night

No musical program to be given at the Memorial Auditorium this season will give more delight than the one presented last evening in the Moses Greeley Parker series by Miss Claire Dux, soprano of the Chicago Civic Opera association, and Pietro A. Yon, organist. Let it be said that each is an artist of proved ability, who melded their chosen selections into a program of rare merit that caught the fancy of the audience at the very start and held it to the close. The audience, by the way, completely filled the Auditorium, there being only an occasional vacant seat on the floor, with parquet and balcony filled to absolute capacity.

The success of the concert came after a day of disappointments, for at the 11th hour the Parker trustees were notified that Mme. Sigrid Onegin, contralto of the Metropolitan Opera company, would be unable to fill her engagement because of sudden throat trouble. Fortunately, however, it was learned that Miss Dux was in New York and a query brought the reply that she would come as a substitute. Yesterday afternoon, to add to the perplexities and troubles of the trustees, members of the building commission and the architects, the organ motor gave out and for a time it was thought extremely unlikely that the instrument could be used. A substitute motor was secured, however, flanked by auxiliary batteries, and the storm clouds began to move out of vision. They disappeared completely when Miss Dux and Mr. Yon began the presentation of their excellent program.

In comparison with its first performance the organ was a revelation. A great opening has been cut in the balcony wall next to the organ chamber to allow an easier passage of sound. Last night this opening was covered with cloth, but now that it has worked out so successfully, it is believed a similar opening will be made on the other side of the balcony, each to be covered with ornamental grill work, and still another opening made in one of the proscenium panels.

The organ was heard in all its beauty last evening, the added sound exits being coupled with the dexterity and ability of Mr. Yon, who handles the instrument as a master. His selections were brilliantly executed and captivated the audience.

Claire Dux undoubtedly will be heard again in Lowell. She possesses a clear soprano voice of great beauty and particularly through her pianissimo tones did she score an unqualified success. No more lovely effects have been attained by an artist on a local platform within memory. Charm of manner is also hers in unstinted measure and she combined personality, artistic ability and a glorious voice in a program of songs and arias that found spontaneous response in the appreciation of her audience. Helpful piano accompaniments were played by Mr. Michael Raucheisen.

RECEIPTS ON DELIVERY OF INSURED MAIL

Commencing Dec. 1 employes of the postoffice department will be required to take receipts on delivery of insured mail, according to instructions received by Postmaster Xavier A. Delisle. The ruling will have especial application to parcel post matter and receipts will have to be signed for all of the thousands of insured parcel post packages which are certain to form a part of the usual heavy Christmas mail.

Regardless of method of delivery, whether by carrier or through boxholder, a record is now necessary. For the present the office of delivery will be required to prepare the receipts. Third Assistant Postmaster General W. Irving Glover has instructed that the same form now in use for registered and C.O.D. receipts be used. Each receipt is to bear the original number and name of the office and the state of origin of the parcel.

Under instructions of Mr. Glover the addressee will be called upon to sign for mail. When this is not done the addressee's name must first be written and then the name of the receiving agent signed on the line below. Records of these receipts must be kept and this will require considerable more clerical work at the local postoffice.

The ruling is the culmination of difficulty encountered by the department in handling indemnity claims. Much fraud has been possible under the present system whereby a receipt is not insisted upon and the department has no means to prove delivery. Employes handling insured mail were more prone to laxity under the regulations not requiring a receipt, it is held.

IN HIGHLANDS DISTRICT

Investigation of Postal Facilities First Move in Opening of Station

An investigation of the postal facilities in the Highlands district in reference to the opening of a postal station there was made yesterday by Postoffice Inspector D. J. Rapp of Boston, working under instructions from the Washington office.

Mr. Rapp and Postmaster Xavier A. Delisle made a careful investigation of the mail situation in the Highlands and while no definite statement could be obtained, Postmaster Delisle stated that he is pleased with the progress of the department in this matter and believes something definite will be forthcoming from Washington in the near future.

Agitation for a postal station in the Highlands district was started about the same time that the postal authorities decided to give Centralville a station. Numerous requests from residents of the Highland section for such a station were received by Congressman John Jacob Rogers and he in turn notified the postoffice authorities. Several investigations have since been made but nothing definite has been done.

Recently Rep. Fred O. Lewis has taken the matter up with the postal authorities and it is felt locally that with both the congressman and the representative working for a postal station, that such a station will be located in the Highlands district if the postal authorities believe it is necessary.

RETURNED VERDICT FOR DEFENDANT

A superior court jury in Cambridge yesterday afternoon returned a verdict for the defendant in the civil action of Sarah Hood, widow of and executrix of the estate of C. I. Hood, against George Parker of Dracut.

The suit was brought because of an accident which occurred in March of 1919, when Parker's runaway horse crashed into an auto owned by the late Mr. Hood. A personal injury suit, Rogers vs. Parker, also brought in connection with this runaway, was dismissed.

Judge John Brown presided at the trial. Marvin Taylor of Boston for the plaintiff and Donahue & Donahue for the defendants.

HELD UNION MEETING

A. O. H. Divisions and Ladies' Auxiliary Launch Membership Campaign

At an enthusiastic meeting of the members of the three local divisions of the Ancient Order of Hibernians and the ladies' auxiliaries in their headquarters in the Grosvenor building last night, was launched an energetic membership campaign calculated to result in a substantial increase in numbers and, eventually, the establishment of new and exclusive A.O.H. quarters in this city.

Last night's meeting was captioned "Chaplain Night," in honor of the spiritual directors of the organization. Rev. John J. McGarry, D.C.L., of St. Patrick's church was unable to be present owing to an unavoidable out-of-town call, but the gathering was graced with the presence of Very Rev. Daniel J. Keleher, Ph.D., pastor of St. Peter's church and chaplain of Div. 8, A.O.H., who addressed the assemblage. Other speakers were Bartholomew Crowley of Haverhill and Jeremiah J. O'Sullivan of Lowell.

As the membership drive is sponsored by the newly organized good and welfare committee, James J. McManmon, president, and Miss Catherine Gaffney, secretary, the meeting last night was in charge of that committee. Mr. McManmon presided and introduced the various speakers.

Previous to the formal opening of the evening's program, he gave a comprehensive outline of the nature of the good and welfare organization, saying that it was formed to promote interest in Hibernian social activities and to arrange for a series of events during the coming winter months. The committee consists of four members from each division and from the ladies' auxiliaries and will meet once a month for social and educational purposes. A Christmas party is on the calendar for next month, while in January, an open meeting and entertainment will be held. In February, a grand installation, in accordance with the degree ritual of the county officers, will be conducted; in March, a St. Patrick's day celebration; in April, a communion breakfast, in May, a May party; in June, an outing or field day. The committee also recommends the formation of debating clubs, athletic teams, planning boards, community service functions and an energetic application of the current slogan: "Each brother get a new member."

Mr. Crowley was the first speaker of the evening and gave an enlightening talk on the omissions of Irish names in American history; the work of the Irish among the colonists, in the Revolutionary and Civil wars, and of their settlements in New England and other American colonies. His talk showed maximum research and was attentively listened to by his audience.

Very Rev. Dr. Keleher remarked that he was always glad to be with the Hibernians. "You deserve encouragement," he said. "And I am anxious to see your organization expand, an organization whose history embraces two of the finest principles man can adhere to—deep, true love of native land and love of religion. These are the corner-stones of Hibernianism."

Jeremiah J. O'Sullivan was the concluding speaker and asked the members to do everything in their power to bring young men and young women into the organization.

Delightful solo numbers were contributed by Mrs. Margaret McDonough Maguire and Mrs. Nora Regan Longtin, while Miss Irene Lawlor and William Quinn obliged with piano selections.

A memorial mass for deceased members of the A.O.H. will be celebrated in St. Patrick's church tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock.

BOY SCOUT RALLY AT HIGH SCHOOL

Streamers, Gifts of Late President Harding, Presented by Congressman Rogers

With practically every Boy Scout in the city in line, all the troops of Lowell formed yesterday evening at the city hall and with a squad of police in front, marched to the old high school building, and took seats in Coburn hall. Addresses here were made to the scouts by Scout Executive Edwin J. Mellen and Congressman John Jacob Rogers.

The streamers won during the membership campaign held last year were presented by Mr. Rogers in conjunction with his address. He affirmed his belief that the scout movement is the greatest thing that is being done in this country for the growing boy, at the present time, and in illustrating his point, told of a St. Louis judge who stated that in 1400 cases he tried in juvenile court last year, not a single instance was recorded of a Boy Scout being one of the youths in trouble. Following this, he urged the boys never to forget the precepts they were learning, and then presented the streamers, which were the official gift of the late President Warren G. Harding to the organization of which he was an honorary vice president by virtue of his office, and in which he took such a heartfelt interest. The troops to which the decorations were awarded were Troops 2, 4, 5, 10, 18 and 30 of Lowell, 1 of Billerica and 1 of Dracut. In connection with the awarding he took occasion to pay a compliment to Dr. John H. Lambert, president of the local council, and cited him as the example of a citizen and man that the boys should strive to emulate.

Following the presentation, the scouts marched to the annex of the high school, where Scout Executive Mellen discussed future plans for the winter activities. He hoped that at the time the spring rally is held he would see 3000 scouts in line and well equipped and trained, and announced that at the time of this rally there would be troops present from Boston, Malden, Fitchburg, and other towns who would enter into competition with the Lowell boys in various contests along the line of scouting.

Following his talk, the boys were treated to a delicious supper of sandwiches, cookies, ice cream, cake and milk, by the members of the executive council of Lowell. The boys were given a short rest after the food was eaten and the competition between troops in scout contests was started. Deputy Scout Commissioner Albert Thurston aided Mr. Mellen in the supervision of these contests, in which the Dracut troop amassed a total of 46 points to the 18 of Troop 10 of Lowell, its nearest rival. Other troops in scoring were Troop 1, six points, and Troop 4, three points.

The results of the races were as follows:

Knot-tying—Each member of competing troops to tie nine different knots. Won by Dracut troop 1; second, Lowell troop 10; third, Tyngsboro troop 1.

Signalling—Ten letters of Morse code received by each member of competing troops. Won by Dracut troop 1; second, Lowell troop 10; third, Tyngsboro troop 1.

Equipment race—Two scouts from each troop putting down equipment in line, then replacing. Won by Dracut troop 1; second, Dracut troop 1; third, Lowell troop 4.

Emergency carries—Five-man team from each troop using chair carry, fireman's lift and improvised stretcher successively. Won by Dracut troop 1, and second, Lowell troop 10.

Mayor Donovan to Aid Harding Memorial

WOULD WITHDRAW STATE SUPPORT FROM TEXTILE SCHOOL

State Treasurer Jackson Suggests That Schools Be Maintained by the Textile Industry—Lowell Mill Men Opposed—Mills Have Burdens Enough

The proposed plan to withdraw state support from the textile schools at Lowell, Fall River, and New Bedford as a step toward lowering the burden of state taxes, put forward in a recent address by State Treasurer James Jackson, has met vigorous objection.

Mr. Jackson is of the opinion that the cost of maintaining the schools should be borne by the textile industry itself on the ground that there is no more reason that the state should support textile schools than that it should support glass blowing or shoemaking schools.

Mill men of Lowell interviewed regarding the proposal of the state treasurer present a solid front in opposition to his plan. They brand it as not only contrary to the public interest and dangerous to the welfare of the schools but also impracticable of accomplishment and unpromising for the amount of money it would save the state even if carried out.

TWO LOWELL MEN REAPPOINTED TO STATE POSITIONS TODAY BY GOVERNOR COX

(Special to The Sun)

BOSTON, Nov. 28.—Two Lowell men were reappointed today to prominent positions by Gov. Cox in the nominations sent to his council. Edward F. Fisher again was named as associate commissioner in the department of labor and collection, and Fred W. Jenness, commissioner of firemen's relief. There were 26 appointments in all, including Arthur W. Gilbert of Belmont, as commissioner of agriculture; Everett E. Stone of Springfield, as commissioner of public utilities; Sanford Bates of Boston, as commissioner of correction, and Payson Dana, commissioner of civil service.

MAYOR LENDS HIS AID TO FUND FOR HARDING MEMORIAL

Accepts Invitation of Governor Cox to Become Honorary Member of Massachusetts Committee—President Coolidge to Issue Harding Proclamation

Mayor John J. Donovan has been asked by Gov. Channing Cox to become an honorary member of the Massachusetts committee to carry out the purpose of the Harding Memorial association for the erection of a suitable mausoleum at Marion, Ohio, and to establish scholarships to enable young men to train for public service.

The mayor immediately forwarded his acceptance, offering his assistance in every possible way.

President Calvin Coolidge is honorary chairman of the Harding Memorial association, with members of the cabinet as trustees. Governor Cox has been asked to become honorary chairman of the Massachusetts committee and Louis K. Liggett has been named active chairman and Hon. William A. Gaston, treasurer.

President Coolidge intends to issue a proclamation in the week of December 3, asking for suitable services and contributions for the erection of a mausoleum and the establishment of scholarships. Certificates of membership are being prepared containing a picture of Harding and setting forth the purposes of the association. These certificates may be obtained by any school child or any young man or woman in colleges by contributing any sum from one cent to one dollar. No larger amount will be received in any event.

Three Persons Injured—100 Policemen Keep Order Among Spectators

DETROIT, Nov. 28.—Fire starting from an overheated stove in a watchman's shanty early today, destroyed the Detroit & Windsor Ferry Co. dock, housing United States immigration and customs offices, spread to the six story Muner building, which was burned to the ground, and then destroyed a four story warehouse and several small buildings on Woodward avenue and Bates street. When the fire was brought under control, a few minutes after 5 o'clock this morning, the total loss was estimated at $1,500,000.

The warehouse of the Finsterwald Furniture Co. was consumed by the flames, fanned by a brisk easterly breeze. The fire-swept section, at

Paving Operations Brought to Close and Engineer Kearney Begins Work on Recommendations for 1924—New Sheds for Trucks to Be Built at City Yards

More than 80,000 square yards of new paving were laid on Lowell streets this season.

At the close of work yesterday afternoon the street department completed its paving schedule for 1923. The Mammoth road job was finished at that time and the regular paving gang was released for repair work which began this morning. This gang went out today with a list of breaks in granite block paving caused by the Electric Light corporation, telephone company, water works and street railway company and will work in repairing them until severe weather sets in.

The street department, led by Engineer Stephen Kearney, with Assistant Superintendent Joseph Garrity in charge of outside work, may look back upon a splendid season, as the following figures show:

Granite block paving, 22,685.51 square yards; asphaltic concrete,

Barlow M. Diamond and His Brother Joseph, Make Important Admissions of Their Part in Robbery and Murder of Brooklyn Bank Messengers

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Barlow Morris Diamond and his brother, Joseph, have made important admissions of their part in the robbery and murder of the two West End bank messengers in a Brooklyn elevated station Nov. 14, District Attorney Dodd announced today after seven additional arrests had been made.

Both Diamonds denied firing the shots which killed the messengers, from whom $43,000 was stolen, but furnished the names of three gunmen alleged to have done the actual slaying, according to Mr. Dodd, who said that descriptions of the trio had been sent all over the country.

Mr. Dodd also announced that Anthony Pantano of Brooklyn, one of those

VERDICT FOR DEFENDANT IN SUPERIOR COURT

A verdict for the defendant was found this morning by Judge Nelson P. Brown in jury-waived superior court session here, in the case of Mikel Libzis against John Rizgin, both of Carlisle. The suit involved the sale of property there in connection with which plaintiff charged deceit was practised by the defendant. Mr. Howard, of Qua, Howard & Rogers for the defense, contended that the alleged conversation on which the deceit charge was based took place on a Sunday and therefore did not constitute the basis for a suit at law.

It was further contended by the

LET US GIVE THANKS FOR OUR MANY BLESSINGS

"What I'd Like To Be Thankful For"—A Symposium of Thanksgiving Wishes of Five American Celebrities

BY WILL ROGERS

I suppose I ought to have a lot of things to be thankful for besides turkey with the wife and kids, but I ain't satisfied.

Of course I'm having a lot of fun making two-reel comedies, but I hanker to show my art and get fan letters from flappers like they write to Valentino and Lew Cody and those other handsome devils.

WILL ROGERS

I ain't got such a bad figger—that's how I got by in the Follies—but I wish I had the sex appeal to get into DeMille's nightgown drammers.

That's what I'd like to be thankful for!

BY BABE RUTH

One more home run to beat out Cy Williams? Well, that would have been nice.

Beat Harry Heilmann for batting honors? That would have been sweet.

BABE RUTH

One more chance at the old pill in that world series eighth inning, with three men on base? Say, I'd have given my shirt for one more sock.

But if I only had somebody, up here on this farm, to get out and chop all the wood that's waiting for me—that's what I would like to be thankful for.

BY MARY PICKFORD

First, I should like to be thankful for having done something immortal, for having left some indisputably lasting impression; not in a narrowly selfish or vainglorious sense, but in the assurance that some work of mine was accounted a worthy relic of our common human striving and an honor to my profession.

MARY PICKFORD

Second, for having freed myself of that fear, that timidity which is the weed strangling humanity; keeping many of us in old ruts, reluctant to assert and do the valid things for which we might be temporarily misunderstood.

Until I have achieved them, I shall be thankful that I retain the active dissatisfaction which spurs one on to desired accomplishment.

Co-Editor with H. L. Menken of the American Mercury

I'd be thankful if the taste of the American public would improve up to the point where it would be possible to produce "The Last Night of Don Juan." I'd be thankful if a traveling man ever came to New York and asked to see something besides a girlie show.

NATHAN

I'd be thankful if Americans got over the passion for expressing everything in figures—57 varieties, 99 44-100 per cent pure, 100 per cent. American, etc.

BY SENATOR MAGNUS JOHNSON

First, I should like to have the opportunity to be thankful for the complete absence of poverty, misery, hatred, heartache and worry throughout the entire world.

JOHNSON

Second, I should like to be thankful for the existence of prosperity and happiness among the farmers, workers and business people of America. The knowledge that every person in the world was enjoying the full fruits of his efforts would make me very thankful indeed. And while the realization of these desires seems far away, yet I find it within me today to raise my voice in thanks that we are making progress toward the consummation of these ideals.

TOM SIMS SAYS

Be thankful you don't smoke. It's a bad habit. Be thankful you do smoke. It's lots of fun.

Be thankful you don't drink. Makes you drunk. Be thankful you do drink. Keeps you from being sober.

Be thankful you have hair on your head. Looks nice. Be thankful you are bald. Saves combing.

Be thankful you went to college. Great asset. Be thankful you didn't go to college. Great asset.

Be thankful you don't eat onions. Onions smell. Be thankful you do eat onions. Onions taste fine.

Be thankful all girls are not blondes. Blondes are dizzy. Be thankful some are blondes. Blondes are dizzy.

Be thankful you have a home. Very enjoyable. Be thankful you have no home. Taxes are too high.

Be thankful you are married. Real happiness. Be thankful you are not married. Real happiness.

Be thankful you can sing. Singers are welcome. Be thankful you can't sing. Singers are pests.

Be thankful you have an auto. Great convenience. Be thankful you have no auto. Great nuisance.

Be thankful you are rich. Saves worry. Be thankful you are poor. Can't lose your fortune.

Be thankful you are thankful. Makes you thankful. Be thankful you are not thankful. Be thankful.

THANKSGIVING PARTY AT OLD LADIES' HOME

An exceptionally entertaining and interesting Thanksgiving program was given at the Old Ladies' home in Fletcher street, at 6.30 o'clock last evening, by members of the Pollyanna, Golden Rule and Lithuanian clubs affiliated with the International institute. The program was given in the general assembly hall and for the benefit of those who were unable to attend the entertainment in the lower hall, the girls gave short programs in the individual rooms. Baskets of fruit were distributed by the girls and a merry time was enjoyed by all, with each and every one promising a return visit to the home. The program as given follows:

America,
All.
Recitation,
Blanche Malinowska
Polish National hymn,
Golden Rule club.
Dance,
Helen Vrettas, Fortina Pelecasis.
Recitation,
Helen Vrettas.
Greek Shepherd dance,
Pollyanna club.
Lithuanian Love song,
Stasia Davis.
Recitation,
Gertrude Lynn.
Lithuanian Jig,
Gertrude Lynn, Mary Guise.
Star Spangled Banner,
All.

A new club has been formed at the institute, the "Little Climbers," composed of Greek girls of about 12 years of age. The first meeting will be held on Friday next, from 6 to 8 o'clock, and a cooking class will be started. The officers of the club are: President, Anastasia George; secretary, Mary Giannarakos; treasurer, Pota Contas.

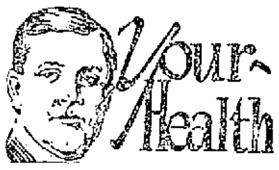
COMPLETE PLANS FOR THANKSGIVING

At a luncheon held at the Y.W.C.A. yesterday about 25 members of the Tri-Hi-Girl Reserve club were present and plans for their Thanksgiving activities were completed. Plans were also discussed for the Christmas bazaar to be held Dec. 16 and 17.

This afternoon the girls went to the O'Leary home and executed a fine program of entertainment which brought joy to the children of the home. Miss Dorothy Mignault was the principal story teller of the afternoon and her Thanksgiving story produced many "ohs and ahs" from her listeners. Games were then enjoyed and other stories told by members of the club. The feature of the afternoon, however, was the teaching of the children by the girls to make apple brownies with apples, raisins and marshmallows.

Gave Demonstration

A demonstration of dainty and useful articles made of moulding wax was given by Miss Gwendolyn Marshall of the Dennison Co. of Boston, this noon in the living room of the Y.W.C.A. before a large gathering of interested women and young women. Miss Shirley, girls' work secretary had charge of the meeting which proved both instructive and interesting.



Your Health

by Dr. C. C. Robinson

HOW TO EAT

(Thanksgiving Recipe)

"Now good digestion waits on appetite, and good health on both." Thanksgiving may be a time of real joy on account of a number of conditions, but first and best of all is good health. Of course, we must remember there is no such condition as bad health; all health is good. But if your digestive system is doing the right thing and there is sufficient coal in the bin to counteract the attacks of the weather man, why worry about the size of the turkey? To eat your Thanksgiving dinner in an enjoyable way and at the same time avoid impairing your health is our topic for the day.

Cheer

Remember that cheerfulness is a most necessary asset for enjoying a real meal. If your wife has invited someone who doesn't agree with your idea on the league of nations, don't forget to carry on with a smile just the same. It helps the liver secretions. If you are an inside worker, try and hike a few miles before dinner. It's a wonderful tonic for the appetite. Drop in on someone who may be less fortunate than yourself and drop a good-sized package of Thanksgiving cheer in the shape of a dinner basket. Your own dinner will taste much better and it won't impair your health one bit.

Many people will find a real help to digestion if regular eating habits are observed. The change of food for the day is the real joy. Don't think you have to eat everything. Enjoy the occasion by the absence of any hurry or worry. They increase blood pressure and bring on that throbbing headache.

Don't Hurry

Run your dinner on schedule time and don't keep the man part of the family waiting two or three hours. He will hurry his eating, and approach the feast in a wrong attitude of mind.

Don't forget to enjoy the vegetables; use plenty of green ones. They help the turkey or roast pig on its way rejoicing. Your health will not suffer if celery, spinach, cabbage or some tempting dish of tomatoes form a part of your menu. The best kind of season is reason.

The fruits are preferred for dessert in place of rich pudding or pies. You will get plenty of carbohydrates in the balance of the dinner.

Plan to spend at least half an hour at the table and eat slowly, chewing your food well. This will make a smaller portion more tasteful, satisfying and healthful.

And lastly, a dinner of herbs is sweet, they say, if a certain thing is around that day. Speak a quiet word of praise to mother, wife, Aunt Jennie or Sister Sue, and say the dinner was fine, at least. It may make her heart beat a little faster or increase the blood pressure for the time being. But no doctor would think of prescribing for such a condition. It's good for what ails you.

DAY OF THANKS

THANKSGIVING DAY originated as a time of thanks for plentiful harvests which made it certain that the early settlers of America would be able to endure the winter without starving.

Thanksgiving has gradually come to mean much more. It is the time of thanks for all such blessings as good crops, prosperity, health, peace, children, happy homes. In short, it is the one time of the year when the whole nation, regardless of creed or sect, unites in recognition of the spiritual of our dependence on Almighty God.

Those early New England pioneers endured severe hardships. They lived close to starvation, in fearful cold, amid hostile Indians. They had little to be thankful for, yet they devoutly gave thanks. Surely we should be made thoughtful and appreciatively humble as we ponder how much more we have to be thankful for than the Pilgrims.

YE OLDE THANKSGIVING

ST. ANNE'S CHURCH

On Thursday at 10.30 a. m., Thanksgiving Day services will be held in St. Anne's church. Music will be under the direction of William C. Heller, organist, and the choir of men and boys will sing. Rev. Appleton Grannis will make an address appropriate to the occasion. This service will last just one hour. The public is cordially invited.

WASHINGTON SCHOOL

Thanksgiving day exercises were held in the Washington school today with the grammar and primary departments presenting well arranged programs. Principal, John E. Ross, and the teachers who trained the children were well rewarded for their efforts for the little ones gave their parts cleverly. In addition to the entertainments it was announced that the children of Miss Kilpatrick's class had collected a large amount of fruit and vegetables to be given to some needy persons for Thanksgiving day. The exercises for the grammar department were given by the pupils of the sixth grade under the direction of Miss Sanders and Miss Coughlin. They consisted of piano solos by Dorothy Scott, Dorothy Duggan, Evelyn Harmon, Marie Fitton, Gladys Heathcock; violin solo by Rossalie Gately; recitations by Uriel Lenkin, Mildred Harvey, Mendell Berman, Phyllis Miller, Elinor Thomas, Helen Souza, Theodore Wick and Harold Silver; dances by Natalie Roode and Mabel Perry; dialogue by Frances Willey, Madeline Philbrick, John Lyons and Edward Walsh; singing by Miss Sanders' class, singing by a semi-chorus composed of Virginia Silva, Emily Correia, Glenice Thompson, Emile Vallerand, Cecil Petrie and Kenneth Lawson; dialogue by Ruth Lutz, Doris Brown, Ruby Ware, Mary Hogan.

The exercises in the primary department was under the direction of Miss McQuestion, Miss Agnew, Miss Duffin, and Mrs. Griffin, Miss McQuesten's class being host to the others. All classes contributed songs and there were recitations by Margaret Jamieson, Naomi Blake, Paul Lundwall, Eleanor Sullivan, Leon Parker, Esther Petrie, Doris Evans, Brenda Ryan; songs by Nova Gordon, Henrietta Curley, Leah Walton, Eleanor Shay, Ernestine Correia, Royal Diette and Billy Flynn. Berton Braley's Daily Poem

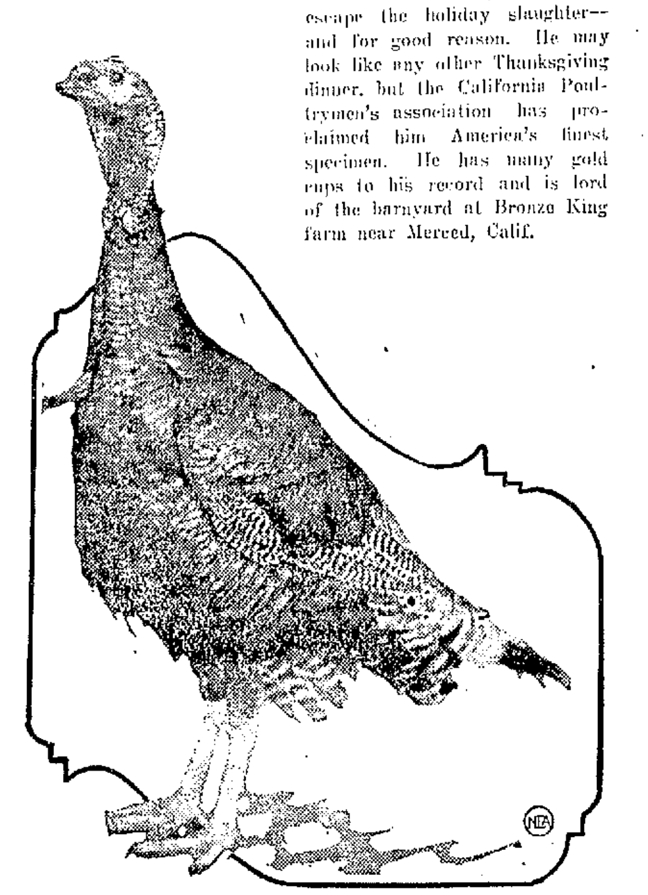
There isn't any question
That overeating brings
A lot of indigestion
And other kindred things;
But though our rules of living
Are strict and sane enough,
We sit down on Thanksgiving
And we stuff.

In brisk November weather
With diet rules ignored
The household gets together
About the groaning board.
And though the sky be murky
We care not for its gloom,
We have a portly turkey
To consume.

We're thankful for each blessing
That we have come across—
("Please help me to that dressing
And more cranberry sauce").
For all our joys we're grateful
Thanksgiving is the word
("I'll take another plateful
Of that bird.")

Our duty lies before us
Friends, husbands, children, wives,
Come join in on the chorus
Of forks and spoons and knives
Let happiness and mirth be
About the planet spread
And everyone on earth be
Overfed!



THIS BIRD HAS NO FEAR OF AX

Here's one turkey that will escape the holiday slaughter—and for good reason. He may look like any other Thanksgiving dinner, but the California Poultrymen's association has proclaimed him America's finest specimen. He has many gold cups to his record and is lord of the barnyard at Bronze King farm near Merced, Calif.

THANKSGIVING CHEER FOR POOR FAMILIES

Thanksgiving good cheer was spreading fast through Lowell's foreign colonies today. A good-sized stream of holiday delicacies enclosed in colored baskets or paper parcels, as happened to be the case when friendly gifts from unknowns, came to the Church of All Nations for distribution by Pastor H. J. Skeirik and an able corps of hard-working assistants.

Vegetables innumerable, meats, oranges, fruits in variety, preserves, tidbits in vinegar solutions, tea, coffee and cocoa, pastry confections and lots of other nice things were packed up in proper receptacles in the church kitchen this morning and made ready for the basket-carriers who started on their happy rounds this afternoon.

Last year the Thanksgiving dinners went out from the little chapel and children's recreation quarters on Suffolk street. Only memories cling to that ancient haven today, the quarters being now leased by a busy merchant who has erased everything that was once refulgent with bounty, good-will and Christian fellowship.

Among this morning's substantial gifts received by the workers at Church of All Nations, were remembrances provided by the members of Highland Union church, this city, and the Trull family of North Tewksbury.

HAPPY CHILDREN AT DAY NURSERY

Fifty-five happy, contented, grateful children sat down to a bountiful Thanksgiving repast with all the "fixin's" tendered them this noon by the matron of the Day Nursery, Mrs. Nelson, in the Nursery's quarters in First street. The feast was spread in the large dining hall which had been appropriately decorated for the occasion in the season's colors. Following the dinner, various games were played by the children, who were not obliged to return to school. Stories were told by the matron and her assistants during the course of the afternoon and sweets and fruit were passed around. At 1 o'clock a luncheon was served to all upon the return of the school children and more games played. At 5.30 the youngsters, as thankful as young hearts can be, returned to their homes after participating in the joyous all-afternoon Thanksgiving festival provided for them by their kind matron.

FIREMEN'S BALL AT THE AUDITORIUM TONIGHT

The annual concert and ball of the Lowell Firemen's Relief Fund association will be held in the Memorial Auditorium this evening and a gay scene is predicted. Plans for this event have been in the making for several weeks and nothing has been overlooked to make it a memorable one.

The program will open with a concert overture by Campbell's augmented orchestra and this will be followed by the grand march, which will get under way at 9 o'clock.

Robert W. Broadbent is general manager of the affair, and will be assisted by the following:

Thomas F. Sullivan, assistant general manager; floor director, Archie E. Kenefick; assistant floor directors, James F. Nelligan and Joseph A. Ready; chief aids, James P. McCready, Hugh F. Finnerty, George W. Cumming, Paul A. Johnson, William J. Graham and Thomas F. McColough; treasurer of L.F.F.A., Capt. Edward F. Cunningham; secretary, Lieut. George H. McDermott; reception committee, Chief Edward F. Saunders, First District Chief James C. Sullivan, Second District Chief Daniel H. Crowley and Third District Chief Thomas F. Saunders.

DARING HOLDUP NETS $20,000

Seven Armed Men Rob Bank Messengers in Heart of Seattle's Business District

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 28.—A daring and apparently well planned holdup of two Bank of California messengers at a street intersection in the heart of Seattle's business district late yesterday, netted seven bandits $20,000 worth of negotiable bonds. No trace of the robbers, who were heavily armed, had been found early today.

A small automobile blocked the path of the messengers' car at Jackson street and Second avenue, a crowded intersection and two men leaped out, covered the bank messengers with pistols and snatched two satchels containing the bonds and checks. Two other men stepped out from the sidewalk, and hand-cuffed the motorcycle policeman to his machine. A fifth prevented a pedestrian at the curb from giving aid. Two other members of the gang were seen in the bandits' automobile. When the first pair darted back into their automobile with the satchels, the bandits who were on foot escaped through the crowd.

Thousands Out to View Fire

the foot of Woodward avenue, was one of the oldest in the city and some of the buildings burned had been standing 50 years. They were as tinder before the flames.

Every downtown fire company, many from the outlying sections and three fireboats fought the flames.

Two minutes after the first alarm had been sounded, the fire had eaten into the Finsterwald warehouse and great flames, that lighted up Windsor, across the Detroit river, were shooting skyward. Before the fire company could reach the scene, the flames had spread to the six story building across an alley.

Three persons were injured, one probably seriously.

It was the most spectacular fire that has visited the Detroit business district in years.

One Perished in New York Fire

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—One man was burned to death and about 20 other persons were burned, four of them seriously, in a fire which swept through a five story tenement on West 114th street, early today. The dead man, who was burned beyond recognition, was found on the top floor. Ten families were forced to the street in scanty attire, many being assisted through smoke-filled hallways by firemen. The cause of the fire is unknown.

BOWLING AT ARMORY

The opening of the bowling season at the State Armory on Westford street last night resulted in a victory for the team from Co. D, 182nd Infantry over Co. C from the same organization. The pinfall was 1339 for the victors and 1283 for the vanquished team. Basketball teams are being organized among the various military units using the armory and it is expected that a large amount of competition will be shown. The various indoor athletics are run under the direction of the Armory Athletic association.

LOWELL DISTRICT COURT

Autoist Who Bumped Into Traffic Beacon is Charged With Drunkenness

Failing to stop and make himself known after the machine which he was operating bumped into and practically demolished the traffic beacon and light at Central and Market sts. about midnight last night, Clarence G. Baker of Thirteenth street was arrested after a chase, which extended through the downtown streets and in the Highlands as far as Smith and Westford streets, and arraigned in district court this morning on charges of drunkenness and operating an automobile while he was under the influence of liquor. He waived the reading and on a plea of not guilty was continued in $400 until Dec. 8. Sergt. James Kennedy apprehended Baker, after trailing him in a commandeered machine.

In imposing a fine of $20 on James McDowell, charged with operating without a license, Judge Enright emphasized previous statements that offenses of this nature must be stopped and that unauthorized persons will not be extended leniency in his court. McDowell was the driver of a truck which skidded in Thorndike street last Saturday noon and crashed into a machine owned by the Crescent Towel Supply Co., damaging a wheel and mudguard of that machine.

Robert J. Lawson was found guilty of non support of a minor child and was ordered to contribute $7 weekly to its support.

A former suspension of five months in the house of correction, hanging over William Briere, was revoked and he was ordered to stand committed on the sentence. He was charged with drunkenness. His wife appeared against him and told the court she "would rather live on a 'crust' than tolerate him any longer."

Anthony Dubinski, drunkenness, was given a sentence of three months in the house of correction, suspended for one year.

DEFECTIVE WIRE THE CAUSE OF FIRE

After a thorough investigation as to the cause of the fire in the J. P. Quinn Coal company's yards last Monday night, the police, according to Captain Petrie, have practically concluded that defective electric wiring was responsible. The investigation, which was prompted by a suspicion of incendiarism, was concluded late yesterday afternoon.

SOFT-DRINK QUESTION ON THE BALLOT

"Shall licenses be granted for the sale of certain non-intoxicating beverages in this city?"

This question will appear on the ballot at city election next Tuesday per order of the secretary of state. It applies to the sale of beverages containing less than ½ of 1 per cent alcoholic content, mainly near-beer.

What would happen in the event of a "no" vote prevailing is difficult to state, but it is believed such an expression of opinion would lead the license commission to refuse the issuance of licenses to petitioners for near-beer emporiums.

Judging from recent expressions of opinion on the question, however, it is fair to assume that a "yes" vote will predominate to no uncertain extent.

Although it is believed that the total vote next Tuesday will be somewhat larger than that of primary day when hardly 10 per cent of the registration went to the polls, it is said that in wards 6 and 7, both large numerically, a very small vote will be registered because of the absence of councilor contests. Persons familiar with conditions in those two big voting districts said today that interest in the election is very low and a small vote is expected.

DEATHS

CRAIG—Mrs. Elizabeth Craig, a well known and highly respected resident of this city for over 50 years and a member of the Sacred Heart parish, died this morning at her home, 24 Swift street after a brief illness. She was ever ready and anxious to help those in distress and her many kindly and charitable acts will long be remembered. She leaves two daughters, Miss Katherine Craig and Miss Annie Craig, two sons, Michael and John Craig, one sister, Mrs. James Gallagher and two grandchildren.

RUPA—Martin Rupa, a well known resident of this city, died last night at the State hospital in Worcester, after several weeks' illness. His home was at 74 Andover street. The body will be brought to this city today by Undertaker Joseph J. Sadowski.

Would Withdraw State Support From Schools

whole of Massachusetts are under burden enough now without saddling the maintenance of the textile schools upon us," said one mill man this morning. "If state support is withdrawn from these schools they'll find themselves pretty much up against it in my opinion. They would have to stand or fall upon their own resources.

"The mills are not unfriendly with the schools—quite to the contrary they are generally approved and endorsed. They are not without their many good points but we can get along without them and probably would find it necessary to do so rather than to support them.

Mills Taxed Enough Now

"The schools do good work but nevertheless we should not be expected to support them. We are taxed enough now without hanging three schools upon us additional tax orphans. In this connection it might be well to remind Mr. Jackson or whoever is fostering this plan that the textile schools of Massachusetts are training the candidates of our competitors from other states and from foreign markets.

"Surely we should not be expected to foot the whole bill for the education of those whose very ambition is to defeat our New England industries. The mills could better afford and would prefer to conduct their own training schools inside their individual mills and have there as students youth who would be more likely to do good, not harm, to their personal business."

Another manufacturer here expressed himself along the same line but mentioned one or two other angles. "We are interested in the textile schools and think that it is great for the state to support them," he said. "However, if it is left to the mill men to support them, you'll soon find your schools boarded up indefinitely. Most of us are glad to place graduates of the regular courses and to advance night school students, but when it comes to paying the textile school's bills, I think you'd find most of us would quit cold.

Says Raise Tuition Rates

"Why should Lowell mills pay the bills for educating students for southern and foreign mill-work, our competitors of the present and future. If the state wants to reduce its bill, let it start a revision of its tuition schedules. Youths from outside the state can come here for a pittance far below the cost of training and go through these schools. In the meantime the mills of Lowell and of all New England are fighting for their very existence. Real economists and real patriots should be figuring how to ease our tax burden instead of how to increase it."

President C. H. Eames of the Lowell Textile school, in speaking to a reporter this morning, declined to comment when mention was made of the Jackson plan.

BOYS AND MEN LEAD

Have Higher Native Intelligence Than Girls and Women, Says Dr. Douglas

SPOKANE, Wash., Nov. 28.—Figures and gradings procured from exhaustive examinations show that boys and men have a higher native intelligence than girls and women, Dr. A. A. Douglas of Washington State college declared in an address before the Spokane County School Teachers' association.

He added, however, that the margin was so slight as to be negligible. All examinations so far devised tend to show the male's superiority, especially after the fourth grade, he asserted.

FUNERALS

CARNEY—The funeral of Mrs. Katherine Carney took place this morning at 8.30 o'clock from 14 Highland street, and proceeded to the Immaculate Conception church where, at 9 o'clock, a funeral high mass of requiem was sung by Rev. Owen P. McQuaid, O.M.I. The choir sang the Gregorian chant, the solos being sustained by Mrs. Hugh Walker and Mr. Charles Smith. Mrs. Hugh Walker presided at the organ. Burial took place in St. Patrick's cemetery, where the committal prayers were read by Rev. Fr. McQuaid, O.M.I. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertakers M. H. McDonough Sons.

REED—The funeral of George F. Reed took place this morning at 8.15 o'clock from the home of his daughter, Mrs. Walter J. L'Esperance, 16 White street, and was very largely attended by relatives and friends including Mayor John J. Donovan, who was a lifelong friend of the deceased. The cortege proceeded to St. Michael's church where, at 9 o'clock, a high mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. James F. Lynch. The choir, under the direction of Miss Margaret Griffin rendered the Gregorian mass, the solos being sustained by Miss Griffin and Mrs. Margaret (McDonough) Maguire. Mrs. Ella Reilly Toye presided at the organ. There was a profusion of floral offerings as well as many spiritual bouquets. The bearers were Messrs. Thomas M. Reed, William E. Reed, Walter J. L'Esperance and Romeo Bernaby. The burial took place in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery, where the committal prayers were read at the grave by Rev. Fr. Lynch. The arrangements were in charge of Funeral Directors James W. McKenna Sons.

JEWETT—Funeral services for Walter S. Jewett were held at his home, 19 Boynton street, yesterday afternoon. Rev. Charles S. Otto, pastor of St. Paul's Methodist church, officiated. Post 120, G.A.R., was represented by George H. Nutting, commander; Charles W. Nevers, adjutant; George E. Clugston, J.V.C.; George Barnett, chaplain; Alvin W. Stockwell, officer of the day; Charles H. Stickney, quartermaster, and Charles W. Prouty. Post 42 was represented by Joseph Denis, who read the burial service of the order. The bearers were Robert J. Fullerton, George H. Gallagher, Geo. E. Worthen, Jr., Asa Stickney and Jas. I. McDonald, all of Admiral Farragut Camp, Sons of Veterans. Burial was in Edson cemetery, where the burial service was read by Rev. Mr. Otto. The funeral was under the direction of Undertaker W. Herbert Blake.

BLADES—Funeral services for Mrs. Clara Blades were held at the rooms of Undertaker W. Herbert Blake last evening. Rev. Henry Quimby, rector of St. John's Episcopal church, officiating. Burial took place in Edson cemetery this morning.

GONSALVES—The funeral of Virginia Gonsalves took place yesterday from the home of her parents, Joseph and Adelaide Martin Gonsalves, 25 C street. Services were held at St. Anthony's church, the prayers being read by Rev. Joseph Grillo. There were many beautiful floral offerings. Burial took place in St. Patrick's cemetery. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertakers M. H. McDonough Sons.

HIGH MASS OF REQUIEM

A high mass of requiem will be celebrated at St. Joseph's church at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning for the repose of the souls of the deceased members of St. Joseph's College Alumni. A special program, appropriate to the occasion, has been prepared by Choirmaster Telesphore Malo and all members of the alumni will attend in a body. At 9.30 o'clock at St. Jean Baptiste church a high mass of requiem will be celebrated for the deceased members of Court St. Antoine, O.C.F. It is the usual annual custom to have a requiem mass celebrated for deceased members and all are invited to attend. A special invitation is tendered the parents of the deceased to be present at the services. The members of the court will assemble at the clubrooms on Moody street at 9 o'clock and march in a body to the church where the centre aisles will be reserved for them.

CARD OF THANKS

We, the undersigned, wish to extend our sincere thanks for the many kindnesses shown us during the death of our beloved brother. Especially are we grateful to the Lowell Order of Eagles. One and all shall ever be held in loving remembrance.

THANKSGIVING BASKETS FOR POOR FAMILIES

Donations totaling $126.45 were received in the drive conducted this past week for Thanksgiving baskets to be distributed among poor families of the city by the Al Luttringer players.

The Opera House players will distribute the baskets, over 40 in all, to various poor families tomorrow. All of the members of the company have expressed a desire to aid in the distribution and Vic Browne, Mr. Morgan and Mr. McLeod have promised to use their cars in making the calls.

The Mahoney garage has offered to furnish free any additional cars or drivers that may be desired. The baskets, with contents bought from local dealers at cost price and less because of their desire to aid such a worthy cause, will be furnished families whose names were furnished by the local charities.

Several appealing notes were received in the past week by Manager Barhydt and these families will all be cared for. The players will personally make the deliveries tomorrow morning. Besides the cash contribution placed in the sealed boxes used by the ushers at each performance, many jars of jellies, jams and preserves as well as quantities of pies, cakes, fruits and groceries were received from theatregoers who expressed themselves as highly pleased at being given the opportunity to co-operate.

Mrs. Bertha Geoffrey and Leo Arsenault of Lowell and Lena Curtin of Cambridge, all seriously injured in the Tyngsboro accident Sunday which proved fatal to Daniel Sullivan, are reported as still in critical shape at Corporation hospital.

Miss Constantina Coutchoucas, former Greek worker at the International Institute, has resigned her position to accept that of teacher at the Manchester, N. H., high school.

Miss Marguerite Woodbury, office secretary of the International Institute, will spend Thanksgiving week-end with her brother, Mr. Leroy Woodbury, of Worcester.

Last night the Greek bishop of New England, Joachim Alexopoulous, was entertained at the Ansonia Cafe by a group of leading Greeks consisting of Athas Spilios, president of the Boston Greek community, Javas Anagnos Reverent Sousides and John Vlahos.

From word received today from Hugh C. McOsker, chairman of the board of election commissioners, it is believed he will be able to return to his work the first of next week, after an illness which has kept him under the care of a physician for the past two weeks.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Edmond Simard and Miss Dorothy Devarene were united in the bonds of matrimony at 7 o'clock this morning at St. Joseph's rectory by Very Rev. J. E. Turcotte, O.M.I. The couple were attended by Mr. Mederic Simard and Mr. Odore Desmaris. The bride was attired in a brown suit with hat to match and carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses. Following the ceremony a reception was tendered the couple at the home of the bridegroom's parents. A wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents, following which the couple left on a wedding trip to Torrington, Conn., and upon their return will reside on Pawtucket street.

Landry—Genest

A wedding of interest to residents of Pawtucketville took place this morning when Mr. Leonard Landry and Miss Ida Genest, daughter of Councilor and Mrs. Arthur Genest, were united in the bonds of matrimony at a nuptial mass celebrated at Ste. Jeanne D'Arc's church at 7.45 o'clock this morning by Rev. Charles Denizot, O.M.I. The couple were attended by Miss Blanche Gauthier, cousin of the bride as bridesmaid and Mr. Octave Landry, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. The bride and bridesmaid wore navy blue poiret twill suits and silver hats. The bride carried a bouquet of American beauty roses while the bridesmaid carried a bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums. A reception and wedding breakfast were tendered the bridal couple at the home of the bride's parents, 475 Varnum avenue, following which Mr. and Mrs. Landry left on an extended wedding trip to Connecticut and surrounding points of interest. Upon their return they will reside in the Ricard apartments on Moody street, where they will be at home to friends after Dec. 8.

CONDITION IMPROVED

The condition of Loretta Foley, six-year-old girl who was badly injured last Wednesday evening when struck down by an automobile, the driver of which continued on his way without rendering any assistance to her, is reported today at St. John's hospital as slightly improved.

Sheds For Street Trucks

The public service board will meet at the city stables in Broadway on Friday afternoon of this week to confer with Building Superintendent Francis A. Connor on the matter of providing suitable sheds for the winter storage of street department trucks and other road equipment. At the present time these machines are not adequately protected and the board desires to have them all under cover in suitable sheds before winter sets in.

The regular weekly meeting of the board will be held at the office of the street department at 4 p. m.

DRILL LAST NIGHT AT STATE ARMORY

Forty members of the various local units of the Organized Reserve took part in the first drill of the organization last night at the state armory.

The men were divided into squads according to their regiments and the following officers were in charge of the instruction: Major Francis J. Toohey, artillery drill; Capt. Geo. Faneuf, drill with French 75s; Lieut. Ishmael Parks, calisthenics; Lieut. Parks and Sergt. Timothy Kimball, infantry drill, and Capt. Clarence B. Livingston, hygiene and sanitation.

The next drill will be held Dec. 11 at the armory. Following the regular drill the Organized Reserves' pistol team, bowling team and basketball team will enter in competition with similar teams composed of National Guard members.

THANKSGIVING OFFERINGS

The Lowell Social Service league is receiving applications through their office from persons who are desirous of giving baskets laden with food to poor families on the occasion of Thanksgiving. The Lowell Normal school has offered to donate 25 baskets in this manner. Anyone wishing to aid worthy families may secure the names of these families from the offices of the Social Service league by telephone.

Big Drop in Turkeys

fresh-killed turks is today's average price in the largest Lowell markets.

You can buy an unlimited amount of the fresh-kills from 35 to 40 cents. Two Kearney square markets flashed new window bulletins early this morning, announcing price drops from 40 to 35 cents for finest birds.

A few markets are asking 40 and 42 and refuse to cut prices lower. Others on Gorham, Middlesex and Merrimack streets have taken down yesterday's 40 and 45-cent placards and today simply advertise "Finest fresh turkeys at lowest prices in Lowell."

All of the markets who carried red and blue signs with 40 and 45 cent figures emblazoned yesterday, discarded them today.

Overstocked—curtailed retail demand—this is the average dealer's excuse for today's impressive price-cuts on poultry offerings.

The sudden slashing of prices for the popular Thanksgiving birds follows a glutted market—the heaviest-stocked poultry market in years. Business has been demoralized in the market districts, for the previous firm prices no doubt kept family dinner buyers off and retarded prompt sales of high-price birds. Yesterday's distributions to housekeepers from the popular marketing stalls of the city, were far from up to last year's sales records. When the doors were locked on the storage rooms last night, most of the storekeepers found stocks so heavy that it was realized only a portion of it could be unloaded today, even with a real rush of the Christmas epidemic brand.

With Lowell buyers generally conservative this fall in all goods purchased, according to local business men who know, the marketmen have felt the buyers' retrenching methods and freely admit it. And so this morning, with counters and ice boxes and many cellars loaded to the gunwales with fresh-killed birds, New England's, westerns and lots of delectable southern-raised, added to a monstrously large stock of regulation cold-storage offerings moving slowly, prices were revamped, slashes made on everything on the calendar and today Lowell housekeepers can save a lot of money by taking advantage of the glutted sales markets.

No marketman will deny that the markets of New England today are greatly overstocked. Late shipments reached Boston yesterday and demoralized the Hub markets. In the Faneuil hall districts wholesale prices for fresh Vermont birds and other fancy selections dropped to 22 cents by the wagon-load.

Local dealers complained yesterday that Lowell housekeepers are not buying freely this year. They explain that every possible inducement has been offered to encourage buying. There are wonderful selections in other lines outside the realm of the turkey. Geese, ducks, quail, roast pigs, excellent lamb, pork, beef—prices lower than last year, particularly on the geese and ducks.

Some dealers say they wish they hadn't stocked up quite so heavily for today's last rush that isn't such a rush after all, most of the turkey-sellers admit. Some fear a big hold-over stock which may have to be retailed after the holiday at even lower prices than those decided upon for today's "finals."

One Kearney square merchant's right hand man said: "Heavy stocks, slow movements, that is why prices were cut heavily this morning. Turkeys haven't moved speedily as we expected, neither has other poultry which is offered in abundance at fair prices. We are trying to kick a little life in today's trading. We believe before nightfall that we will have all the business we want. The lower prices are getting out the buyers right now. The weather is just right for the finish."

ROTARIANS REMEMBER THANKSGIVING DAY

Lowell Rotary remembered Thanksgiving Day and what it means to Rotarians today.

There was no elaborate observance at the clubrooms on Dutton street, but numerous members of the charitable group were on hand this morning to put the "finishing touches" on the turkey dinner baskets. These were distributed this afternoon by Major Walter R. Jeyes to several needy families whose names had been given to the Rotary "rescue crew" late last week.

Rotary obtained all fresh-killed birds this year and Major Jeyes got a 30-cent price for the lot. The dealer who made the price for the Rotarians said they could have as many more as they wanted at that same price.

No events of a social nature for Lowell Boyhood were scheduled for tonight at the Dutton street club, with the exception of the regular festivities of club members and guests. But Christmas is coming and a Rotary Christmas is always worth waiting for.

IDENTIFIED AS SLAYER OF N. Y. DRUGGIST

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Michael O. Mezzano, one of the six men arrested in the Bronx today in connection with the slaying and robbery of two Brooklyn bank messengers Nov. 11, was identified as the slayer of Jacob Bankoff, druggist, fatally shot when he resisted a holdup in his store the night of Nov. 13. The identification was made by Clement De Vries, Bankoff's clerk.

WARNED AGAINST HOLIDAY LIQUOR

Uncle Sam through his never-sleeping liquor enforcement agents sounds a pre-Thanksgiving day celebration warning to all persons to be chary about what they imbibe during the ceremonials in the vicinity of the home or club punch bowls. Even Moe and Izzy over in New York are panting with trepidation this very hour, worrying about what may happen tonight and tomorrow during the old-home festivals.

The liquor spotters warn the public that immense shipments of imitation liquors are flooding the eastern states. Massachusetts and Rhode Island are particularly unfortunate in this respect. The agents declare that shipments of wood alcohol were made to various U.S.A. districts in 1919, about the Christmas season, and more than 100 deaths resulted.

It is said that a possible repetition of that disaster will be averted if persons heed the revenuers' warning and refuse to purchase liquor of any kind anywhere at all times.

Moonshiners are reported to be preparing for a harvest tonight and tomorrow. Here is a class that has no regard for human lives when the profits are soaring. It is reported that the bootler class in both New York and New England territories are redistilling not only denatured alcohol, but practically every product on the market with a hint of alcohol content.

Beware, then, the stuff that isn't always what the labels say it is. Make it ginger ale or orangeade with tomorrow's dinner and be on the safe side.

THINKS MAN WAS BADLY INJURED

Charles Pappas, of 176 Cross street, reported to the police at 8.15 o'clock last night that at 12.15 o'clock yesterday morning while driving his truck on George street he had struck and knocked down a man giving the name of Charles Ballos.

Mr. Pappas reported that before he could render any assistance to Ballos, two men came along and picked Ballos up and carried him away. He believed Ballos was badly injured for he was unable to pick himself up and seemed to have considerable trouble in walking even with the aid of his two companions.

WOMAN CAN KEEP A SECRET

Premier Baldwin Goes to Glasgow to Beard Radicals in Their Den

LONDON, Nov. 28.—Election canvassers in Great Britain have found that a woman can keep a secret after all. They are complaining that while it always has been and still is possible to draw from the men some idea of how they are to vote, it rarely is easy and in most cases is impossible to drag this secret from the women; consequently the canvassers cannot frame anything like a close estimate of the result of the polling on December 6. The women voters, the observers say, listen readily to the candidates, are fond of asking questions, but they are far more reserved than the men in expressing their own opinions and show no inclination to pledge themselves to support any party.

Commenting on this feature of the electoral campaign, the Daily Mail says that woman as a newcomer in politics, is less susceptible to party ties and traditions and that it seems her view is more concerned with the domestic and bread and butter side of things than is the men's.

Prime Minister Baldwin is going to Glasgow tonight to beard the radicals in their den, but whether his speech will be listened to, is doubtful. Many anti-labor speakers are complaining that they cannot get a hearing, especially in constituencies where the communist element is strong.

Herbert Asquith was persistently shouted down last evening in Paisley, a few miles from Glasgow. A body of men calling themselves "the anti-parliament communist federation," flourished a red banner inscribed "Hail Bolshevik Russia" and every time Mr. Asquith began to speak, a great outcry was raised. Ultimately quiet was restored for a short interval, but everything the speaker said was greeted with derisive comments. Attempts to put a resolution were defeated by the uproar, and Mr. Asquith was obliged to quit while his opponents booed and sang "The Red Flag."

FAMOUS BLACK-IRON STOVE POLISH

SAYS HUNGER STRIKER SUICIDE

Bishop Cohalan Refuses Christian Burial for Commandant Dennis Barry

Republicanism in Ireland Wicked Attack on Church and Souls of Faithful

LONDON, Nov. 28.—Bishop Cohalan of Cork has refused Christian burial for Commandant Dennis Barry, who died from the effects of a hunger strike at Newbridge, says a Press association despatch from Cork today.

Explaining the reasons for his refusal in a letter to the Cork Examiner the message states, Bishop Cohalan says he regrets very much being obliged to take this course, but declares that if it were his own brother, he would deal with the case in the same way under the circumstances fair warning having been duly given beforehand.

"Republicanism in Ireland," the message quotes the bishop as adding, "has for the last twelve months been a wicked and insidious attack on the church and the souls of the faithful committed to the church's care. By church law anyone who deliberately takes his own life, is deprived of Christian burial. I shall interpret the law of the church and refuse Christian burial in such cases, I feel bound to do it."

COMMISSIONER WALSH ON DECK AGAIN

United States Commissioner Richard Brabrook Walsh has sufficiently recovered from his recent severe siege of laryngitis so that he will hold hearings here on Friday morning. A large docket awaits him, cases having been piling up for the past three weeks during which time he has been too ill to hold a session.

A large number of alleged Volstead act violators from Lawrence, Worcester, and suburban towns are to be arraigned at Friday's session which from present indications will require the full day.

TAXI AND TOURING CAR IN COLLISION

Mrs. George Johnston of Birmingham, Ala., and Miss Margaret Scruggs of Brenton, Ala., were painfully injured early last night when the taxicab in which they were riding collided with a touring car at the corner of Pine and Wilder streets. They were taken to the Corporation hospital in the ambulance. Mrs. Johnston was cut about the face and received a fractured jaw. Her companion received only minor cuts and was sent to the Hotel Marlborough after her injuries were treated.

According to the report of the accident, the taxicab was being driven down Pine street when, at Wilder, a touring car operated by Albert H. Evans of 468 Wilder street attempted to cross Pine street. As the cars collided the glass windows of the taxi were broken and flying glass cut both passengers. The driver of the taxicab, Leo Desaulnier of 82 Royal street, and the touring car driver, both escaped injury.

Mrs. Johnston was in this city to visit her daughter, a student at Rogers Hall, and Miss Scruggs was also visiting Miss Johnston. They were being driven to the Hotel Marlborough for dinner when the accident occurred.

BIG SOCCER GAME HERE TOMORROW

The Lowell Olympic Soccer club will furnish the fans of this section with a good attraction tomorrow afternoon when their team faces the Y.M.S.C. club, composed of players from Lowell, Cambridge and Hudson, at Bunting park at 2.30. These teams have met before, the Olympics winning the first game in this city by the score of 1 to 0, and the Y.M.S.C. taking the second encounter at Hudson by a two and one count. Tomorrow's game will be the rubber.

Since their last game, the Olympics have strengthened their lineup and hope to land the verdict. They will have to show a lot of stuff, however, as the Y.M.S.C. is a tough aggregation to beat and have recently won over the fast Ludlow, New Bedford and Boston outfits.

Tomorrow's clash will take place at Bunting park and will be handled by Harold Fairbrother. The following are asked to report at the grounds at 1.30: Williamson, Edgar Clark, Bertwhistle, Morning, S. Campbell, Mahoney, Swanton Tully, Nelson, Keith, McKerchar, Emerson, Blair, and J. McLuz. The kick-off will be at 2.30.

BARON WEDS MRS. LILLEY AT HOLLYWOOD

LOS ANGLES, Cal., Nov. 28.—A quiet wedding of Baron Carn von Pach-Winther, writer and explorer of Denmark, to Mrs. Frances Struck Lilley, daughter of Carl Frederick Struck, Minneapolis architect, was revealed here yesterday. The ceremony took place Thursday in a Hollywood rectory. They will live in Hollywood.

SEEKING RELATIVES OF ALICE WHITEHEAD

The police of Leominster today telephoned the local police asking assistance in locating the relatives of Alice Whitehead, said to be a former resident of this city, who died yesterday in Leominster. There are five Whiteheads listed in the Lowell directory, but inquiry of each of them proved fruitless in identifying the dead woman.

CASES SETTLED

Grace A. McCurdy and Mary C. Toomey, the two women who were arrested by Officers Clyde Aldrich and Simon Lane for shoplifting in Chalifoux's store about two weeks ago, and who were found guilty of larceny and given time to pay a fine of $75 each, presented themselves in district court this morning and paid over the money to the clerk of court. They were then allowed to go.

JOHNSON FOR SOLDIERS' BONUS

Presidential Candidate Opposed to Administration's Foreign Policy

Favors Reduction of Income Taxes for Those with Incomes of $10,000 or Less

CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—Joining issue on national problems with the present federal administration, Senator Hiram Johnson last night placed before the country some of the principles which will form the background for his campaign for the republican presidential nomination.

Senator Johnson, during the course of his first public utterance since announcing himself a presidential candidate, expressed opposition to the administration foreign policy, endorsed a soldiers' bonus and a plan for reduction of income taxes for the benefit of those with incomes of $10,000 or less as well as suggesting remedies for the country's agricultural ills.

Opposition to any policy that would commit America to "undisclosed European adventures" was declared.

"I do not protest against an American policy toward Europe," the California senator said. "I protest against an American policy which does not know what it is, and which seeks to discover itself, or to hide itself by first going into a conference with Europe.

"It is humiliating that we cannot speak our mind save with the consent of other nations, or in conjunction with them," he said. "If an administration does not like an existing situation abroad, why not say so.

"Our position in the world is such that our utterances would be of supreme importance. Throw it into conference where there are no morals, where it is in helpless minority, and is lost."

The candidate called the recent proposal for a reparations conference as a "transparent subterfuge contrived by gentlemen who, having notoriously tried, and having notoriously failed, to get us into the politics of Europe directly through the League of Nations, now wish to get us into the politics of Europe through the indirect road of pretending that a participation in European economic affairs in a conference called by governments and consisting of the appointees of governments would not take us into European affairs."

He declared that the bonus pledges by responsible heads of the dominant political party constitute in reality a promise, a solemn pledge "and we must keep faith." Even with the bonus taxes could be considerably reduced, Senator Johnson said. Lower freight rates, extension of the co-operative marketing and development of waterways were suggested by the senator as aids to agriculture.

Early in his speech, the California senator asserted he was not enunciating a platform but many of his hearers expressed belief that statements he made would be incorporated as planks.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 28.—Authorities in the vicinity of Jackson, Cal., are searching for an old mining tunnel in which Philip Oleson, known as "Sonora Red" is believed to have lain for 10 days, handcuffed and bound, according to a despatch to the Examiner here.

James Kennard, a prisoner in the county jail at San Andreas, has confessed to Sheriff Joseph Swing that he manacled and tied Oleson ten days ago and left him in an old tunnel, the location of which he has forgotten, because Oleson owed him money, the despatch says.

JUDGE VICTIM OF PECULIAR INFECTION

Superior Court Judge Stanley E. Qua was about again this morning after being confined to his home since the close of court last Friday. The judge is the victim of some mysterious infection which specialists called from Boston have failed to successfully diagnose. An infection set in on his face last Friday, causing considerable swelling and almost complete temporary loss of sight.

The swelling reached its high point late Saturday and on Sunday commenced to go down. The cause has not been determined. No sickness accompanied the infection.

MELROSE MAN SUES

Papers were served on the city treasurer and city clerk this morning in an action of tort brought against the city of Lowell in the sum of $5000 by Robert M. Vaughan of Melrose. He claims he fell and sustained a serious injury to one ankle on the morning of June 15 of this year while walking through West Third street, near the Provencher garage.

WEAK, RUN DOWN AND AILING

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Brought Relief When Other Medicines Failed

Winston-Salem, N. C.—"I was weak and run-down and had trouble with my side. I had been taking medicine for a long time and nothing seemed to do me any good. My husband went to the drug store and he said to the clerk, 'I want the best medicine you have for women's troubles.' He gave him a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has helped me. In a short time I was able to do my housework, and now I am not only able to do every bit of that and washing and ironing, but I help my husband at the store and feel good all the time."—Mrs. L. K. For Indigestion

Mi-O-Na Is Guaranteed to Promptly Relieve Stomach Distress

People go on suffering from little stomach troubles for years and imagine they have a serious disease.

They over-eat and force on the stomach a lot of extra work.

But they never think that the stomach needs extra help to do extra work.

If these people would take a Mi-O-Na Tablet with or after meals it would be a great big help to the stomach in its strain of overwork.

Mi-O-Na helps your tired out stomach to do its work and banishes the gases.

No matter what you eat or drink Mi-O-Na will sweeten your sour stomach and stop the belching in five minutes. The heaviness disappears and the stomach is greatly aided in its work of digestion.

And Mi-O-Na not only promptly relieves all distress but if taken regularly will banish indigestion.

Druggists everywhere and Green's drug store sell Mi-O-Na on the money back plan.—Adv.

HER BOY HAD ALWAYS BEEN WEAK AND PUNY

Now He Eats Everything in Sight and Romps With Playmates

"My four-year-old boy had been weak and puny since birth, and had constipation and indigestion. Nothing did him any good until we tried Milks Emulsion. Since using it, he can't get enough to eat and has outgrown his childhood trouble. He plays out with the children now, and he was never able to do that before."—Wm. Heart, 424 Bundy ave., New Castle, Ind.

Weak, ailing children usually start eating and getting stronger from the very first bottle of Milks Emulsion. Most children like to take it, because it really tastes good. A trial costs nothing.

Milks Emulsion restores healthy, natural bowel action; it is a truly corrective medicine, doing away with all need of pills and physics. It promotes appetite and quickly puts the digestive organs in shape to assimilate food, and thus build flesh and strength. Milks Emulsion is strongly recommended to those whom sickness has weakened; it is a powerful aid in resisting and repairing the effects of wasting diseases. Chronic stomach trouble and constipation are promptly relieved.

This is the only solid emulsion made, and so palatable that it is eaten with a spoon like ice cream.

No matter how severe your case, you are urged to try Milks Emulsion under this guarantee—Take six bottles home with you, use it according to directions and if not satisfied with the results, your money will be promptly refunded. Price 60 cents and $1.20 per bottle. The Milks Emulsion Co., Terre Haute, Ind. Sold by druggists everywhere.—Adv.

THE RIALTO THEATRE

See "The Village Blacksmith," a Human Story With a Wonderful Cast

If you think you are thrill-proof or think your tear-well has gone prohibition, just take a trip up to the Rialto theatre and sit through a showing of "The Village Blacksmith," the latest William Fox melodrama that opened a week's run there Monday.

William Fox knows how to put lively film entertainment together, and he has made a dashing 1923 melodrama out of "The Village Blacksmith." Doubtless, Longfellow would have appealed to the Authors' league if he had lived to see this day. But he knew nothing about scenarios. Nothing has been omitted from the screen version. There is a flapper, a he-gossip, a round shouldered college boy, who steals the church funds from among the bungalow aprons in the lovely heroine's bottom drawer; a head-on train collision and half a dozen other forms of film punch dearly loved by the sob-hungry and laugh-crazy public.

There is a frightful storm that drenches the heroine just as thoroughly as any ever filmed. One lost count of just how many mean-spirited citizens "The Village Blacksmith" did K.O. last night, but there were several to spare. His fighting spirit remained the same in spite of deaths, wrecks and slanders. Of these he met as many as Job.

One of the best things about "The Village Blacksmith" is the cast. William Falling is a perfect specimen for the mighty smith—brawney-tanned, with long crisp hair. He gives a really admirable performance with conviction and sincerity. Bessie Love and Virginia Valli are both excellent in the leading feminine roles. George Hackathorne has done few better things than the role of Johnny, the crippled son. He has little opportunity for acting in a wheelchair but was given a great chance by being compelled to crawl face downward through mud and rain to avenge his sister's honor.

THE STRAND

Marshall Neilan presents his story, "The Eternal Three," at the Strand for the week-end, beginning with matinee tomorrow. It's a great picturization in every sense and will surely meet with the enthusiastic approval of the patrons. It delves deeply into the life of today and reflects the story frankly and fearlessly, of a man who had faith in a woman—and of another man who destroyed that faith. It is one of the most absorbing themes that life can offer, told by a master director, enacted by a cast of stars and photographed in Mexico and America. The problem by Neilan is fascinating. Dr. Walters, a famous surgeon, marries a young woman, who eventually becomes aattached to his foster son, Leonard. The young man's weakness for a pretty face causes him to forget filial devotion and he arranges to elope with Mrs. Walters. He suffers from a serious injury that results in mental affliction. In the meantime, the doctor becomes aware of true conditions, and when the time comes to perform a delicate operation on the brain, the operator—Dr. Walters—realizes that by an undetected twist of the knife he can rid himself of the one who is breaking up his home and bring back to him the happiness to which he is entitled. How he meets this situation and what comes of it forms the stirring and unexpected climax of the picture. Hobart Bosworth, Claire Windsor, Bessie Love, Raymond Griffith and others are in the cast. It's a photoplay of society's hidden secrets, of the amazing armours and furious flirtations of idle wives—one of the most daring, yet truthful themes that the screen can offer. Don't miss it.

Besides the above, there will be the usual comedy and weekly, as well as other features that go to make up a superior picture program.

Today offers the last times to see George Arliss in "The Green Goddess." Don't miss it.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Final performances will be given this evening at the Merrimack Square theatre of "The Light That Failed," Rudyard Kipling's famous drama, and "Daytime Wives," an absorbing study of the value of the modern business girl to men whose wives have little or no interest in their business affairs. There will be a complete change of program for the second half of the week, beginning tomorrow afternoon.

For Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Manager Peterson has secured a brace of attractions that will bring delight to every movie fan. Tom Mix, one of the screen's most popular heroes, will be seen in "Mile-a-Minute Romeo," a new masterpiece of the western plains. The other attraction will be "The Sidewalks of New York," a drama of the famous East Side, with an all-star cast.

Ingenious plot complications give "Mile-a-Minute Romeo" an unusual charm for a Tom Mix picture. By which is meant that in addition to the breathless action and expected number of thrills, Mix offers a story of considerable interest.

One of the uncommon situations presented is the Machiavellian scheme of exterminating two rivals by contriving to get them to fly at each other's throat.

The crafty lover informs both rivals separately that each has insulted the other. A gun fight ensues in which the rivals learn that they have been the dupe of the third rival and that their fight was "framed" to kill either or both of them.

Lucky Bill, played admirably by Tom Mix, is one of the dupes. Having wounded the other dupe in the "framed" fight he offers to compensate by helping the latter elope with the girl. He is double-crossed innumerable times and finally forgets his diffidence so far is to attempt to get the girl for himself.

In no previous production, perhaps, does Tom Mix display his horsemanship so skilfully. Throughout the production he is almost entirely riding—wild. We do not believe this situation makes it easy to emote and for that reason declare Mr. Mix's performance extraordinary. Betty Jewel, leading lady, is very satisfactory.

There will be the usual excellent surrounding program. The management announces for the entire week of Dec. 2 Pola Negri's latest and greatest masterpiece, "The Spanish Dancer." A special prologue has been arranged to precede this noted production. Local dancers under the direction of Miss Blanche Perrin will take part.

NOVEL EXHIBITION AT THE BELMONT STORE

Perhaps the most unusual and effective method of displaying evening gowns and frocks is being used by the Belmont store on Merrimack street. This display while not original is understood to be the only one outside of New York city.

Mr. Challoner the local manager has arranged several wax figures gowned in the latest mode in a ballroom scene just back of the main entrance every evening with an array of colored spotlights playing on them, bringing out the features of each gown just as they would appeal to one observing them at an evening function, and giving the passerby an opportunity to observe the charming lines and fine materials of which these Paris and New York gowns are made.

Much favorable comment has been heard from the ones who have already enjoyed this novel exhibition and everyone who appreciates artistic effects should look in at the Belmont shop this evening.

REGAINS 18 POUNDS LOST WEIGHT

Taking WINCARNIS

"I was very sick; lost almost 18 pounds in weight; was extremely weak and nervous, and could not get a single night's sound sleep. I had constant medical attention and the best of wholesome foods, but my condition grew more alarming until I began taking Wincarnis, which helped me from the first few doses.

I have completely regained my former weight and strength, sleep soundly every night, eat most heartily and have an abundance of energy. My husband and my mother were so amazed at the effect of Wincarnis in my case that they both began taking it as a tonic. Today, they are just as loud in praise of Wincarnis as I am, and we do wish it were known to every weak, nervous or run-down person."

BAD BREATH

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Get at the Cause and Remove It

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, act gently on the bowels and positively do the work.

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating the into natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

All the benefits of nasty, sickening, griping cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without griping, pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

THANKSGIVING DINNER AT THE Y. M. C. A.

"Red Triangle Villagers" sat down to a bountiful Thanksgiving dinner in Y. M.C.A. hall last evening, more than 60 resident members partaking of the good things provided. The "Villagers" are occupants of the Y.M.C.A. dormitories. The banquet was served under the able direction of Mrs. Valentine Wilmot, who was presented a bouquet of roses by the "Villagers."

"Mayor" Archibald D. Grant called attention to the supper scheduled for next week Wednesday night, when A. L. Santesson will speak on "Ten Years in Australia." Horatius B. Leggat entertained with baritone solos, Chester Graver accompanist. Alvah Sturgess offered a pleasing group of character sketches, and William Ward entertained with clever readings. Choral numbers closed the program.

CARDINAL PRINCE OF CHURCH 12 YEARS

Tuesday marked the 12th anniversary of the elevation of Cardinal O'Connell to the Sacred college. He was created a cardinal by Pius X on Nov. 27, 1911, and is dean of the Roman Catholic hierarchy in the United States.

The cardinal was ordained to the priesthood on June 8, 1884. While attached to St. Joseph's church, in the west end section of Boston, he was chosen rector of the North American college in Rome. He was consecrated bishop of Portland, Me., May 10, 1901, and was chosen by the pope as his representative on a mission to the mikado of Japan. His success in this assignment brought him the thanks and commendation of the pope.

Cardinal O'Connell was made assistant at the pontifical throne Jan. 4, 1905, and named archbishop of Constantia aand coadjutor, with the right of succession, to the archbishop of Boston Feb. 8, 1906. He succeeded to the see of Boston Aug. 30, 1907.

"FATHERS' NIGHT" AT GREENHALGE SCHOOL

"Fathers' Night" will be observed appropriately by the Greenhalge School Parent-Teacher association, Thursday, Dec. 6. Members of the organization have arranged a first class program and hope that the fathers of the school children will gather in round numbers to help the community public spirit program along.

The special program for this evening will be largely musical. Everett Fox and George Heeley will present "Campus Dreams" and other selections on the violin and piano. Marie Carr and Andrew Carr, juvenile dancers, will also entertain. Supervisor Burr F. Jones of the state elementary education division spoke on "Progress and Problems of Education."

RAILROAD'S REASONS FOR HIGHER FARES

The railroad's reasons for desiring increased fares were given the Downtown Men's club at First Congregational church last night by Robert H. Newcomb, executive assistant for the Boston & Maine. Mr. Newcomb said that because of the thickly settled immediate suburbs of Boston it is necessary that heavy local trains be made up and that on the first few stops from North station these cars become well emptied and are unproductive units for the remainder of the run.

He spoke strongly against permitting western roads to gain operation of our New England stysiems. His address followed a supper and business meeting of the club presided over by Otis W. Butler. The dinner was served under the direction of Robert S. Fulton, Joseph Wilmot, and Fred Milne.

C.M.A.C. LADIES' NIGHT

Plans have been completed for the Ladies' Night to be held at the C.M.A. C. building in Pawtucket street this evening under the auspices of that organization. Already a large number of tickets have been sold and indications point to an evening of entertainment and enjoyment on the part of all attending. Each ticket entitles the holder to a chance on a beautiful prize to be given by Donat Brunnelle, president of the association. A fine musical and entertainment program has been arranged by the committee in charge and an open house will be the feature of the evening.

LOWELL WASTE COMPANY HAS GOOD BUSINESS

Business is increasing at the Lowell Waste company on Gorham street. It has been increasing noticeably for some weeks past. Receipts are coming in much more freely and steadily, today.

Comparing today's business with that transacted six months ago, this corporation is in far better shape, with increasing amounts of stocks in the purchase markets and the outlook promising.

Treasurer Butler told The Sun today that a substantial amount of work is now being turned out regularly, with receipts of cotton wastes collected from local textile mill areas in larger amounts.

While a cotton waste concern cannot always operate on regular working schedules during periods when textile mills are on part time and operating irregularly, the current stagnation in the latter markets has not affected Lowell waste markets. The present improvement in the Gorhaam street plant output is believed to indicate that general conditions in the local textile world are firmer and production slowly increasing.

The Lowell Waste company is now collecting cotton wastes from all active textile mills in Lowell and vicinity, and the supplies are much larger than they were earlier in the present year.

The waste now coming in is run promptly through the separators, washing, pickers and cleansing departments and promptly sold to markets now using the material to advantage at prices much higher than those ruling before raw cotton bounced upward to 35 cents a pound. Prices on the Gorham street mill's products are stiffer than they were, as costs have risen, although costs of the collected waste often vary.

There is no apparent near shortage in the markets now supplying the Lowell Waste plant and real optimism rules today at the offices on Gorham street.

Advertisers who use The Sun consistently get greater returns on the money invested than through any other Lowell newspaper. There's a reason. The Sun goes into more homes in Lowell and suburbs than any other Lowell paper and ninety per cent. of Sun readers read no other Lowell newspaper.

Together with the whist, a fine musical and entertainment program has been prepared by the committee in charge.

AUTO BUSINESS GOOD

November Business Excels Fondest Hopes of Motor Vehicle Dealers

Motor vehicle dealers, almost without exception, report that their November business this year exceeded their fondest hopes, while several report that the volume of sales during the past month has been most astonishing. Although it is only a month to Christmas and the time of year has come, as evidenced by last Saturday's storm, that driving conditions are likely at any time to become disagreable, local dealers are continuing to make sales with surprising frequency. They might almost be entering upon the spring activity rather than upon winter's supposed dullness, judging by the orders that are being booked and the deliveries which are being made.

This does not mean, of course, that business is at the year's top figure; but it is clear that the fall and early winter season is better than last year, and that the purchasing of new cars is being continued later than has been the custom in the past. Almost all dealers agree that their sales for the month of November, for example, far exceeded those affected in the same month last year, and this means, also, that this was the best November ever experienced in the trade.

Formerly it was expected that in the month of November sales would drop practically to the vanishing point; in fact, there was practically no purchasing from early November until after the first of the year except for spring delivery. Each dealer was resigned to a trade fate which seemed to decree that during a period of from two to four months there would be no sales. But with the entry of the closed car into popular favor, and the establishment of motor vehicles as an essential part of the general scheme of transportation, that cold season hiatus has gradually been reduced. And this year, thus far, it has been less apparent than in any previous year.

THE COAL QUESTION

Governor Pinchot's conference of governors, called to pass upon a plan for improving the anthracite situation, has proved to be a boomerang that puts Mr. Pinchot in the attitude of being largely responsible for the evils to be corrected. Only a few governors attended and Governor Silzer of New Jersey and Governor Preus of Minnesota turned the tables on the Pennsylvania executive, advising him to call a special session of the state legislature to remove the coal tax and other legal restrictions that have led to trouble in the mining regions.

Pinchot's plan was largely a repetition of the recommendations of the Federal Coal Commission relative to licensing wholesale coal dealers in order to prevent speculators from cornering the coal supply and charging a profit before letting it pass into the hands of real dealers.

One suggestion which was his own was that the anthracite states should pool their issues so as to secure the best treatment possible. The conference proved a fizzle and Governor Pinchot so far from making political capital out of it actually lost ground. He was responsible for conceding practically all the miners wanted, knowing that the full amount would be added to the price of the coal, and yet he had the insincerity to issue a statement that it remained only for President Coolidge to take steps to reduce the price.

The coal question is still unsettled and while the federal government may use its influence to bring about a reduction in price, the fact remains that while the mines are owned as at present, the state of Pennsylvania can do more to bring about satisfactory conditions in the mining and sale of anthracite than can the federal government. Pinchot tried to make the coal question the political issue by which he would build up his prestige as a presidential candidate, but his scheme has fallen flat. His conference of governors has exploded his boom by exposing the hollowness of his pretensions.

TRAFFIC PROBLEM

Now that the remonstrants have been heard on the proposed traffic regulations, the city council will use its judgment in adopting rules that while relieving some of the traffic tangles, will not interfere with the business of the stores which it is our duty to foster and protect.

As to expending large sums on the through thoroughfares in order that tourist traffic will be diverted from the business district, there will naturally be a well grounded protest. It can hardly be said to be good business policy to direct through traffic away from our principal streets and along the outskirts of the city. It would be a poor way to advertise Lowell.

THANKSGIVING

Tomorrow, Thanksgiving, will afford an opportunity of calm contemplation of our position in the world, as compared with that of other peoples, and a realization of how much we have to be thankful for.

We must assuredly appreciate the fact that we are living in a country far enough away from Europe to save us from her broils, her misery and her afflictions—not that we should fail to extend our humane sympathy to suffering everywhere; but that there the disturbance, the conflicts and the menace of war, seem to be chronic, so that nobody can be assured of peace and contentment for any extended period.

That we are not so harassed by national and international quarrels is certainly one strong reason why we should be thankful. That we live under a constitution that guarantees to all law-abiding citizens the right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness is another inestimable privilege for which we should be profoundly thankful to Divine Providence. This is truly one of the rarest and greatest blessings vouchsafed to any people; and it is not fully appreciated by our people in general.

While we have reason to rejoice at the privileges and the opportunities we enjoy in this land of freedom, we cannot close our eyes to the ills of other nations, and hence it becomes our duty often to lend a helping hand to tide them over distress or to induce them drop the conspiracies of war and join in Christian concord for their common good. But at the same time charity begins at home and this is the reason for its bounties.

Those who cannot view the higher blessings of life enjoyed by the people of this country are apt to conclude that because business at present is a little dull, there is slight reason to be thankful; but this is merely a temporary depression such as comes occasionally and is quickly followed by business activity. It would be more serious if those who are idle did not have bank accounts on which to draw; and we can safely say that very few except the reckless spendthrifts are without the wherewithal to enjoy a good dinner at Thanksgiving. Upon those who are possessed of abundance of the world's goods devolves the obligation of sharing with the poor, the needy and the afflicted so that all may be partakers of the festal cheer and have reason to be grateful even for the humane spirit and kindly ministrations of the Thanksgiving season.

BUSINESS OUTLOOK

"I think we will have continued prosperity well into the summer of the coming year," says George F. Baker, New York banker. The business men and financiers consider him an able prophet.

His statement does not imply that business depression may be on the calendar after the middle of 1924. It merely means that he's playing safe. No one can predict business conditions, with any degree of accuracy, more than nine months ahead.

It used to be a red letter day when the railroads of our country moved a million cars of freight a week. But up to the 10th of November there had been 21 such weeks this year.

The railroads, so far in 1923, have moved 437 cars of freight for every 371 cars in the corresponding period of last year.

This plainly means that business is getting ready for a busy winter and a busy winter will probably be followed by a busy spring and so on. The country is not going to smash as the pessimists seem to suppose.

BOGUS DIPLOMAS

William P. Sachs, formerly state superintendent of schools in Missouri has made the statement that 15,000 persons are practicing medicine in the United States under fraudulent diplomas. Possibly he knows what he is talking about and if his statement be true, many of the bogus diplomas may have been issued in the state of Missouri. It is well, therefore, to inquire of Mr. Sachs to what extent Missouri contributed to the total he has mentioned. The state of Connecticut is now investigating a bogus diploma mill that has been in operation there with clients or practitioners as they are called, scattered all over New England. While such frauds are worked upon the public, it is well for those who have to call in medical aid to make sure the men they patronize have graduated at reputable medical schools.

SLANDERING A CITY

The Lawrence Telegram complains bitterly about a sensational article published in a Boston paper and reflecting upon the city of Lawrence. It represented that Lawrence was suffering from an epidemic of typhoid fever, although the records of the health department for October and November show that there was not a single case of typhoid in the city. The correspondent who sent out a story of that kind is a sensational faker. He is probably of the same class as the writer who was sent here a few weeks ago by a Boston paper to write up a sensational story of the alleged violations of the liquor law. He represented that this city was almost wide open, although an agent of the Anti-Saloon league a few weeks before had made a survey of the conditions here relative to the enforcement of the liquor law, and reported that Lowell was comparatively a dry city. We presume that we may as well become reconciled to the fact that the faker like the poor we have always with us.

LOWER TAXES

It is gratifying to find that the question of reducing taxation as proposed by Secretary Mellon is not to be made a partisan measure. One of the first to come out in favor of Mr. Mellon's plan was Senator Walsh of Massachusetts who voiced the prevailing democratic sentiment in regard to the proposition. The democrats in fact favored this reduction in 1921, but it was defeated by a republican vote in congress. There is, therefore, no ground for assuming that it will meet with democratic opposition when it comes before congress. The chief trouble will probably be that the republicans now viewing every question of the kind with an eye to success at the national election, will attempt to tie this question up with that of the bonus and then complicate both.

TURKEYS PLENTY

Turkeys are very plentiful this year, department of agriculture reports. It says five million pounds of turkeys are in cold storage, or two and a half times as much as a year ago. So plentiful are the birds, in fact, that they have been bringing only 18 to 20 cents a pound to the Texas growers.

That gives but a slight idea of the price at which turkeys are being sold here at present. The prices, however, are lower than was expected and lower than for some years past at Thanksgiving.

Have we a Erebag or several of them in our midst? It would really seem so.

SEEN AND HEARD

Madison (Wis.) girls say they can't tell if a man has been drinking. That's easy. He's broke.

Chicago university debated "Is a silly girl more popular?" No, but a popular girl is more silly.

Rich Los Angeles woman left her husband only one dollar and then he felt like thirty cents.

A Thought

We easily forget those faults which are known only to ourselves.—La Rochefoucauld.

Made Him Tired

"Yes, I was awfully fond of that girl," said Brown. "I believed she was perfect, until I saw something about her last evening that made me tired." "What in the world was that?" inquired Jones. "Another fellow's arm," replied Brown sadly.

She's a Champion

Paris claims the sandwich-buttering champion of the world. She is a French girl who learned her art in this country and advertised as follows in a Paris newspaper: "Young girl having served three years in America, capable of buttering 114 sandwiches with 400 grams of butter, desires a job in a big cafe." Four hundred grams are equal to 14.11 ounces.

The Sign Settled It

Entering a bar in Montmartre, a Parisian came upon a heated dialogue between the barkeeper and a customer. The latter was holding a counterfeit ten-franc bank note in his hand and gesticulating wildly. "You have given me this fake note," he shouted, "and I want good money for it, or I'll have you arrested." But the barkeeper was unperturbed. He simply pointed to a sign behind him which read: "We do not take back counterfeit money."

"Gee, Some Hat!"

The American actor, Edward Robins, who is making big audiences laugh in "So, This Is London!" at the Prince of Wales theatre, London, decided to buy a hat a few days ago, so he went to a famous Piccadilly hatter's. The actor intimated that he would like a hat that, when he returned to New York, would make his friends exclaim: "Gee, some hat!" He tried on a hat, liked it and inquired of the salesman what he thought of it. The salesman's reply was: "Gee, some hat!"

The Kid Was Wise

Hughes was bringing a friend home to dinner and he was simply beaming with pride as he walked with him from the railroad station and pointed out all the local landmarks on the way. As they approached the house Tommy, son and heir, came running out to meet his father. "Ah, here comes the finest youngster in the world to meet his dad!" Hughes exclaimed, and extended his arms to greet the lad. "Isn't he a sturdy little chap?" he demanded of his friend as he held the boy up in his arms. "He certainly is a bright little fellow," the friend admitted. "And whom does daddy love more than any one else in the world?" asked Hughes of his little hopeful as they walked on. "Daddy!" replied the child in decided tones.

Ambition

It's great to be an author,
And make yourself a name,
It's fine to be an artist,
And win undying fame.
Who wouldn't be a poet,
Renowned in every land,
Or a world-famous sculptor—
Now wouldn't that be grand!

To be a matchless singer
Must give one keen delight,
We look up to the statesman,
Proud of his lofty height.
But few of us who'd like to rise
Can get up very far,
And most of us must be content
To be just what we are.
—Somerville Journal.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

After an extended vacation, Police Officer John W. Mahan signalized his return to active duty last week by capturing a man who was masquerading as the owner of Percy's court in this city and who had duped another man into loaning him $595 by the use of this pseudonym. "Big Jack," as Officer Mahan is generally known, succeeded in capturing his man after a wild chase in an automobile which he commandeered after seeing the alleged thief attempting to dispose of a stolen watch. It was quick work, and good work.

A blind man, familiar to passersby in Merrimack street, was at his usual stand yesterday with a cup extended awaiting contributions from charitable pedestrians. It chanced that a legless man, who seemed on intimate terms with his companion-in-distress, approached and bade him good morning. "How's everything with you today?" inquired the blind man. "Oh, I can't kick," philosophically responded the legless one. Isn't that optimism?

Sometimes amusing incidents occur at meetings of the public service board. At the regular meeting last Thursday afternoon, a petitioner appeared and after being heard he was told that he should appear before the board at the next meeting. The petitioner objected to this on the ground that he couldn't afford to loaf another day and lose $12 pay. "What, you make $12 a day?" inquired Chairman Dennis J. Murphy. "You make more than lawyers do!" he added when the petitioner answered his question in the affirmative.

The United States Army Recruiting News says that the library system of the army consists of 231 post libraries containing [illegible] volumes and 176 traveling libraries of 50 volumes each. The post libraries are constantly used and the system of traveling libraries of late books has been a most valuable addition.

When they start putting up the storm boards on Central bridge, know ye that winter is nigh. The big winter-blast protectors went up Monday and will remain in position until another spring season rolls around on the calendar. Incidentally, the bridge will be brilliantly lighted shortly, ornamental lights having been installed during the past week. The lights also extend along the First street boulevard as far as the car barn.

Dropped into the K. of C. rooms in Dutton street Sunday afternoon and found several hundred members gathered around the piano where Will J. Ward, one of the headliners on the B. F. Keith program last week, was entertaining with a variety of original ditties. Mr. Ward is the possessor of an appealing voice and made a distinct hit with his listeners. He also plays the piano in splendid style and has a remarkable personality. Will promised to drop in again when in this vicinity.

UNCLE ROBERT PLAYS SANTA CLAUS AT AYER HOME AND CITY FARM

Inmates of Chelmsford Street Hospital Glad to Meet Unknown Benefactor of the Poor and the Helpless—Children Made Happy at Ayer Home

"Uncle Robert" woke up many somnolent echoes in "Old Stone House" on Pawtucket street yesterday afternoon just before bedtime tales and Dreamland. Just ask Hazel or Ida or Esther or Benny of the brick-red hair to sing you that Will Rogers sugar bowl song, or repeat that new class yell—"2—4—6—8, how we do appreciate—Mrs. Tarr."

"Uncle Robert's" new all-American Santa Claus idea went big yesterday at Ayer Home. We'll advertise it free.

Aeons ago in early Lowell social history, one Colonel Jefferson Bancroft and his charming wife regularly entertained 'mid eminently formal splendor, intimate friends and neighbors of the ante-Colonial township, who invariably considered it an honorable demand that brooked no denial when their names were checked on "Stone House" guest party invitation lists.

In later years when the Bancroft manor house passed to the ownership of James Cook Ayer, son of old Connecticut, who came to Lowell to win name and fame everlasting, the latest ultra-modern household goods of old and new world's best contributions were installed and the munificent and friendly Ayers were delighted to continue the customary dispensing of baronial hospitality. It was, in truth, very ne plus ultra, too, in those bygone days.

And today—or rather, yesterday—in just plain 1923 business clothes walked to the front door of "Old Stone" house (Ayer home it is called now) and took charge of the dispensation for one solid hour of smiling good cheer that was worth a million ordinary hours of every day life to a happyland aggregation of nearly 100 ecstatic Lowell boys and girls.

This was "Children's day" at Ayer home, because "Uncle Robert" wanted the children to be there every one and run things to suit themselves. And they did just that. And a good lot more, too, with the exception of one or two minutes, perhaps, when "Uncle Robert" was giving the boys and girls a little heart-to-heart talk about how to spell the word l-o-v-e and what l-o-v-e means in Lowell and everywhere.

"Uncle Robert" also requested that his tiny listeners, silent for the nonce, live clean, befriend all who need friendship, dispense kindly aid, work hard, waste not, do good deeds and—well, "Uncle Robert" went above the whole gamut of the code of genuine Christian living. He then solemnly testified that he had full faith that the innocent little congregation sitting respectfully and in an impressive cluster before the speaker's throne, would follow his sincere advice.

"And will you do it, folks—will you?" exclaimed "Uncle Robert," as he lifted up his arms and swept the group of earnest boys and girls with eyes appealing.

"We will!" came the answer, a ringing cheer following that fairly made the conservatory windows of old "Stone House" rattle in musical collaboration with the joyous tumult from obedient youthful heartstrings.

Perhaps it was the Thanksgiving spirit that helped to make the afternoon more mellow with anticipation on the part of the young folks summoned to the cosy reception hall with the big bay windows through which the late afternoon sun had just filtered a last rapturously-hued farewell for the day. Perhaps because it was whispered that a man called only "Uncle Robert" and no last name at all, was about to appear suddenly from somewhere, just like a modern Santa Claus without cap or bells.

Or it may have been because so many Lowell folks were suddenly popping out of big limousines at the front stoop and swishing in hastily, to see what was going on, probably, and perhaps prepare for the coming of mysterious "Uncle Robert"—who knows?

Whoof! Two boys of the home-made gingham shirt family had spied him first!

"He's coming, Miss Tarr. He's coming, Mrs. Tarr!"

'Uncle Robert' had arrived.

Lowell's philanthropic visitor yesterday looks exactly like the "Uncle Robert" we had conjured up. Quite tall, with soft-graying hair of good texture and expertly trimmed; grayish moustache not too large or too small, were but incidentals that help to frame, as it were, a face of quiet charm, a friendly face without obtrusiveness or arrogant self-importance—briefly, a well set-up everyday American business man in good health, upstanding, vigorous—and a man with a kind heart. Even trim eye-glasses do not spoil the negative.

Love for fellowmen exudes from this generously-hidden visitor to old Lowell. Real heart-throb stuff, not in the making, but in the full complement of his being beyond the shadow of a doubt.

Picturesque though "Uncle Robert" may be to some who come near to see and wonder curiously what his plans and aspirations really are, the philanthropist who was the guest of the inhabitants of Lowell yesterday, proves forcibly one great fact, that he who gives shall receive.

Mayor Donovan came in a bit late to join the festivities, spoke briefly and received a royal welcome to the children's party.

"Uncle Robert" likes the newspaper boys, young and old et cetera. He even presented one fast-graying hero of the pencil-pushers' brigade with a paper cap and a funny whistle and a dish of real ice cream, just to make him enjoy the children's day festal, we suppose, and forget the approaching fifties.

The newspapermen, clusters of them, were conscripted with ribbons on to distribute, or help distribute, the baskets containing lolly-pops, ice cream, animal crackers, George Washington paper helmets and cocked hats, dolls, tiny carts with wheels that will turn, blocks, alphabetical and picturesque, whistles and more whistles blown gleefully in praise of the pre-Thanksgiving day Santa Claus. The hilarious din splintered every echo that ever remained of old-time happy days of similar quality in "Old Stone House."

Perhaps "Uncle Robert" wasn't delighted when the children sang solos, duets, quartets and choruses. Tuneful excerpts from old and new masters—melodies dear to folks of other times—one heart-touching lilt that might have been sung by some crinoline lady long before the war in the Pawtucket street baronial hall—possibly. It was the children's best treat for "Uncle Robert" and he joined in more than one chorus with a baritone effort that led the vocal procession—yes!

And please jot down in your non-forgettery book that little, bobbed-hair Hazel will some day be one of the nicest little coloraturists ever graduated from the "Old Stone House" singing school.

AT THE CHELMSFORD STREET HOSPITAL

The inmates of the Chelmsford Street hospital were given an opportunity to forget their cares yesterday, and many kindly old faces were wreathed in smiles for several hours on the occasion of the trip made by "Uncle Robert," the unknown benefactor of the poor and helpless, to that institution. All the old ladies and gentlemen were gathered in the assembly hall to wait the coming of their friend, who was accompanied by Mayor John J. Donovan and Superintendent Joseph H. Gormley. A few words were spoken by each of these men, the mayor reassuring his audience that he would back up his past performances and do all that lay within his power to aid them in spending their remaining days in comfort. Rev. Edward Babcock also presented a message of cheer to the old folks after which Uncle Robert told them that they have nothing to be sorry for in the mere fact of being poor.

"It is only happiness and a feeling of joy at being alive that counts in this world," he said, "and when you see other people riding around in their expensive cars, with fur coats and other personal adornment, pity them, for many of them do not know what true happiness is. Keep a smile on your face all day long and you have something that the richest men in the world will envy you for."

The keynote of Uncle Roberts receipe for a good time is informality, and he did not talk long but had the nurses pass out the ice cream cones, cady, lollypops and for the old gentlemen, pipes and tobacco, and then just sat back and enjoyed to the utmost, the looks of joy and contentment on the happy recipients of his gifts.

In return, different individuals among the gathering came forward and in a spry manner performed jig steps and sang songs. Little Mae Conway and her mother also were present to aid to the measure of good cheer and Al Forrest played the piano. When the time came for him to say good-bye, there were repeated calls for him to return again at his earliest opportunity, and amid a perfect bedlam of cheers and waving of rattles, he departed to bring sunshine to the Ayer Home for children, but left much of it behind to warm the hearts of the city's charges, who will remember him for many a day.

FOR TELEGRAPHERS AND STATION AGENTS

The United States railroad labor board announced on Monday morning an increase in wages, affecting about 5,500 railroad telegraphers and station agents, and aggregating $364,482. The important decision was issued from Chicago late Sunday night and sent by wire to all sections of the country.

General Agent Frank Brown at the Middlesex street railroad station has received no official notice of the increases as yet, neither is he sure that the sweeping increases for the 5,500 agents and telegraphers include the railroad employes in the Lowell district.

Telegraphers at the railroad station have received no notification regarding the railroad labor board's action, although they are inclined to feel that they will be included in the new wage increases.

Down in the yard towers where more telegraphers are employed by the B. & M. and N. Y., N. H. & H. lines, no information regarding new wage awards was forthcoming. Some operators doubt that the local division was included in the labor board's decision, which was announced without naming the railroad companies—26 in all—affected.

The labor board has explained, in granting increases for 5,500 agents and telegraphers, that it had tried to correct existing inequalities without attempting standardization and without granting a general increase. The payment of a punitive rate of time and one-half for overtime to telegraphers and station agents was also awarded, and a few other changes in rules authorized.

The parties in the case are the Brotherhood of Railway Station Employes, the Order of Railroad Telegraphers and 26 railroad corporations.

Lowell rail employes learned last night that the plan pursued by the labor board was to deny increases on roads where it found the existing rates equal to the average paid on comparable roads in the same territory, and to award increases on other roads which bring their rates up to the average paid in their territory by comparable roads. In some cases the increases affect one group of employes and not another. They range from two to five cents an hour.

It was also stated in the labor board's announcement that some members of the wage-adjustment group favored a general increase and that some opposed any increase at all.

It is believed by rail managements that the payment of time and one-half for overtime will result in a material reduction in the amount of overtime work required. The board claims that overtime work has always been largely in the employers' control.

The board has denied a request for punitive rates for work on Sunday and holidays. It claims that "such work is expected by the public, cannot be avoided and should not be paid for on a punitive basis."

Lowell business men have been invited to a "claims congress," to be held at the Copley Plaza hotel, Tuesday, Dec. 4, starting at 10 a. m. It is expected that at least two hundred delegates from the freight claims offices of the railroads of the country and Canada will attend. Shippers of merchandise are also invited to take part in the discussions. Freight claims are to be discussed from every angle. The American Railway association already has a freight claims prevention division, members of which also will be present to offer suggestions covering better handling of shipments of New England merchandise.

The fiftieth anniversary of the birth of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers will be observed in Boston and 15 other large terminal railroad cities of the country with special exercises, next Sunday. There will be public gatherings in the evening. The members will hold meetings exclusively for trainmen in the afternoon. Lowell will be represented at the anniversary celebration if the "extra" freight lists are not all choked up for Sunday transmission.

FREE TURKEYS AT ASSOCIATE HALL

All roads lead to Associate hall tonight where ten wonderful turkeys will be given away to the holders of the lucky numbers. Every one will have a number and each will correspond to one on the wheel. The management has made all arrangements for the prizes to be presented and while it will only take a few minutes to conduct the drawing the interruption will not interfere with dancing to any great extent.

These prize birds are as fine a lot as one would care to gaze upon and if appearances count for anything they should make a most delightful meal. As an added attraction dancing will continue until 1 a. m. with Miner-Doyle's orchestra furnishing the music. With such features and the small admission charged it should prove one of the big nights of the year at Associate. The admission is 40 cents. With the best dance floor and best music in town a large crowd is anticipated. Come early and stay for the fun.

Thanksgiving will be celebrated with a battle of music between "Mal" Hallett's famous Broadway orchestra and Lowell's own premier dance orchestra, Miner-Doyle's. For those who like to dance Associate offers the best in this line and there will be something going on every minute. Dancing on Thanksgiving night will start at 8 o'clock.

FRATERNAL NEWS

A well attended meeting of Court Merrimack, 11, Foresters of America, was held last night in Grafton hall. Considerable business was transacted and five applications for membership referred to the court physician. Following the business meeting remarks concerning the order were made by Past Chief Rangers John F. Hendrick, Arthur Bernhart, Peter F. Gill, Thomas C. Mooney and John McCollough. A card party, with chickens and turkeys as prizes, followed the meeting and was greatly enjoyed.

Over 150 members of the local aerie of Eagles participated in a pitch tournament in the rooms of the organization in Central street last night. Interest in the game was at fever pitch from beginning to end for the prizes were Thanksgiving turkey, chicken and duck. George W. F. Carey won the turkey, P. W. P. Thomas H. Corcoran the chicken, and Thomas H. Scanlon the duck. The following committee had charge of the evening's entertainment: Secretary, John M. Hogan, James E. Donnelly, Charles C. Schloss, David J. Hackett, Thomas F. Quinn, Jr., Chaplain William A. Sheehan, Trustee William F. Carey, Assistant Secretary Martin J. Crowe and W. P. Thomas F. Quinn.

PARTY BY STRAND THEATRE USHERS

The Strand theatre ushers held their second annual dancing party last night in Associate hall and it proved to be even a greater success than their first party. Dancing was in order from 8.30 until midnight and the floor was well filled for every dance.

The guests of the evening were Manager Samuel [illegible], House Manager C. L. Barton and Assistant House Manager H. G. Cummings of the Strand, Manager Benjamin Pickett of Keith's theatre, and [illegible] of the entertainers on this week's bill at Keith's.

The dance was under the direction of all the ushers and the following were in charge of the floor: Ralph Snyder, general manager, Nathan Marmor, assistant manager, Harold Cummings, floor director, and Chester Lord, treasurer.

At a recent whist party of Court Blanche de Castille, Postmaster Onesime Tremblay, on behalf of the president, Miss Ida Fortin, presented a gold medal to Miss [illegible] Grenier, captain of the guard, in token of her coming marriage.

Mrs. George Allan England tells her story of Mazola

Corn Products Refining Co.,
New York

Gentlemen:

SEVERAL times I have had guests ask me how I made my French dressing. They have remarked on its superior taste and quality. I always tell them my secret is simple—and inexpensive. I use Mazola for it.

Its superiority as a salad-oil is equalled by its quality when used for shortening pastries. It never gets rank or strong, or makes heavy, oily pastry. I like it, too, for frying and cooking, because of its delicacy and purity.

Then too, it's economical. Less of it is required for the same result, than any other oil.

Flavor, Purity, Economy—these tell the story of Mazola.

Very sincerely yours,
(Signed) MRS. G. A. ENGLAND

Glenwood
Makes Cooking Easy

You can cook everything on this menu all at once with a Gold Medal Glenwood

NOT even a dinner party has any terrors for a Gold Medal Glenwood. With its three capacious ovens, four covers for coal and five gas burners, it can do all the cooking that any one person can take care of.

See, for instance, how this range would make it easy to get ready every item on this dinner menu:

1. Soup—on a gas burner.
2. Steak—in the gas broiler.
3. Potatoes—on a coal cover.
4. Peas—on a gas burner.
5. Stewed Tomatoes—on a gas burner.
6. Pie—in the coal oven.
7. Hot Biscuits—in the gas oven.
8. Coffee—on a coal cover.

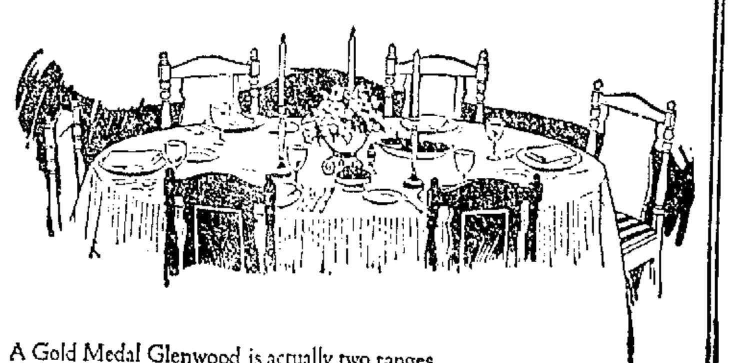
—and there's still room for the tea kettle.



A Gold Medal Glenwood is actually two ranges in one. Each section is completely equipped with every modern device to save time and trouble. Finished in ebony black or pearl-grey porcelain enamel. It really does make cooking easy.

DARTMOUTH AND COLUMBIA MEET IN THEIR FINAL GAME OF SEASON

Green Hopes to Register Its First Success Over Haughton Football in Polo Grounds Tomorrow Afternoon —Cornell-Penn. Game at Franklin Field

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Dartmouth hopes to register its first success over Haughton football tomorrow afternoon, when, at the Polo Grounds, its gridiron eleven battles Percy Haughton's Columbia team in the final game of their respective seasons.

The football representatives of the Hanover, N. H., institution have attempted five times to vanquish Haughton-coached teams, yet never have succeeded. They first opposed Haughton football in 1908, when the present Columbia coach became head coach at Harvard, and continued annual engagements with the Crimson and the Haughton system through 1912.

During the five seasons prior to Haughton's regime at Cambridge, Dartmouth won two, tied two and lost once in engagements with the Crimson, but the tide swung with the advent of the famous tutor.

The Green, which defeated Harvard 16 to 0, this year, holds out high hope of victory tomorrow. But the Hanoverians have slumped to some extent since mid-season, while Columbia has come forward steadily, despite reverses, throughout the season. It is no secret that Haughton has pointed his men for the Dartmouth game. With the brilliant Koppisch leading its offensive, the blue and white may cause an upset.

On comparative records, however, Dartmouth shows to better advantage. The only real basis of comparison is through Cornell, which downed the Green, 32 to 7, and a week later trounced Columbia, 35 to 0.

That was Dartmouth's only reverse, however, while Columbia also lost to Williams and Pennsylvania and was tied by Amherst.

A capacity crowd at the Polo Grounds, another 55,000 gathering at Franklin Field to witness the annual Cornell-Pennsylvania game, the 35,000 who may watch Pittsburg and Penn State and probably 20,000 at the West Virginia-Washington & Jefferson game will make Thanksgiving day a big factor in boosting the season's football attendance record.

FOOTBALL

The Lisbon Juniors would like to play the Stanley Wildcats or any team in the city weighing 115-120 pounds. A game is wanted for Thanksgiving day. See manager at Gallagher's pool room, Central street, between 6 and 7 o'clock tonight.

The Oakleaves Seconds regret to state that they have disbanded after winning 12 out of 13 games played. Their most recent game was a 6-6 tie with the Ashlands of Malden.

FIVE-MILE RACE ON NORTH COMMON

There is considerable interest in the track events to be run off on the North common tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. A five-mile race and a one-mile race will be the features.

Both races are open to all and indications point to a large number of participants. Frank Ricard has donated cups for the winners in both events, while S. Glazer has donated the second prize for the five-mile events.

Mr. Ricard will be the starter of both events. The judges will be Mike Rynne, John Boughton, William Salmon and S. Glazer.

Among those expected to appear in the races are Fred Couture, Francis Carliss, Ralph Smith, Christy Robby, James Cote and Joe Wells, all of Lowell, and Thomas McNulty of Nashua, George Goddard of Natick and Lugi Ticoni and William Pouliville, both of Lawrence.

WESLEYAN'S B.B. SCHEDULE

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., Nov. 28.—Nineteen games are on Wesleyan's baseball schedule for 1924, it was announced today by Manager Carl W. Olson of Elmsford, N. Y. Newcomers on the schedule are Swarthmore, Haverford, Hamilton and Worcester, and for the first time in several years, no games are scheduled with Harvard, Yale or Dartmouth. The schedule follows:

At home—April 12, Rhode Island State; 26, Brown; May 6, Bowdoin; 9, Williams; 13, New York university; 17, Massachusetts Aggies; 23, Hamilton; 24, Worcester; 28, Springfield; June 14, Amherst.

Away from home—April 17, at Swarthmore; 19, at Haverford; May 3, Connecticut Aggies at Storrs; May 10, at Columbia; 15, at Amherst; 21, at Brown; 30, at Massachusetts Agricultural college; 31, at Springfield; June 15, at Williams.

PONIES CHALLENGE PRINCETON A. A.

It has come at last. The Ponies today issued a challenge to the Princeton A.A. for a game to be played on the Lakeview avenue grounds next Saturday afternoon and the Princetons in all probability will accept the challenge.

Centralville fans have been looking forward to a Princeton-Pony clash since the two were organized and with today's announcement, interest in the proposed tilt increased by leaps and bounds. Both teams are products of Centralville and have good records to date. The game will undoubtedly prove the biggest drawing magnet of the day, as no other games are scheduled in the city for next Saturday afternoon.

Coach Bill Crossland of the Ponies and Coach Owen Nerney of the Princetons will get together tonight to arrange for the big meeting. Meanwhile the teams will continue to practice and keep in shape for the clash. The Ponies are in fine trim, all the players coming out of the Salem game last Sunday unscathed. The Princetons have not played since they took the Oakleaves into camp a week ago Sunday, but they have held nightly rehearsals and are anxious to meet the Ponies for the title of Centralville champions.

Princetons Want to Play Sunday

Since the receipt of the above, the Princetons have come forward with a statement that, owing to the fact that three of their players work Saturday afternoons, they cannot play at that time, but are willing to take on the Ponies for any amount of money next Sunday.

$10,000 "SLUSH FUND" FOR LEGISLATION

HARTFORD, Conn., Nov. 28.—Governor Charles A. Templeton will be asked to give the grand jury investigating the medical irregularities in this state all the information that has come to him regarding the attempts to make use of an alleged $10,000 "slush fund" said to have been raised for use in behalf of certain medical legislation in the last general assembly, the Hartford Times will state this afternoon.

The request that the governor appear before the grand jury was the outstanding incident of the forenoon's proceedings at the county courthouse.

AGAINST MOVE TO AMEND GOLF RULES

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 28.—J. Frederic Byers, president of the United States Golf association, voiced opposition to a movement to amend golf rules in an address before the women's golf association of Western Pennsylvania yesterday.

"These people are trying to make the game easier, instead of gaining success by skill," declared Mr. Byers. "They would experiment and tamper with the very fundamentals of the game, which have stood the test of centuries. Some of the rules may be ambiguous and possibly should be clarified, but the fundamentals of the game of golf are sound and should not be tampered with."

Fitchburg Comes Here to Play Lowell in New England League Game

Smarting under two defeats in as many starts, the Lowell basketball team of the N.E. league will meet the Fitchburg quintet in the Crescent rink tonight, determined to break into the win column.

The Fitchburg team comes here highly touted as a club that has held its own with Clinton for several seasons. These clubs have been rivals for many a day and are greater "enemies" this season because of the fact that Fitchburg has signed up Pitnoff, long a star for Clinton.

Dick Anderson, who heads the visiting aggregation, is a thorough student of the game, and he has given much study and consideration to the selection of his team. He is particularly pleased with the work of Sciatt, his 200-pound guard. He plans to send the big fellow after Arthur Ryan of the Lowell team, feeling confident that if he can stop this star he will greatly minimize Lowell's offensive operations.

Ryan, however, is out to play the "giant" off his feet. In the two league games played to date Ryan has shown considerable speed and accuracy and he avers that he has now struck his stride. Fontaine, D. O'Connor, J. Foley, Kamp, Dalton and Lew are in form and they are prepared to travel at a whirlwind clip in an endeavor to land the award this evening.

The game will start at 8.15, with Billy Wilson in charge.

LOWELL'S BIG GAME TOMORROW

Biggest Crowd in City's History Expected — Game Starts at 10 O'Clock

On the eve of what promises to be one of the most interesting high school gridiron clashes in this city in years, the Lowell high team is confident of giving its traditional opponent, Lawrence, the hardest battle of her 1923 schedule when the two elevens meet at Alumni Field tomorrow morning. Both teams finished their training stunts yesterday and all that remains now is a clear, bright day. The attendance, judging by the preliminary sale of tickets, should break all records in this city for high school football. Besides the local rooters, it is estimated that almost 2000 Lawrence supporters will be on hand when the referee's whistle blows.

The spectators who in the past have experienced difficulty in identifying the players, will be aided tomorrow by the use of huge numerals attached to the jerseys of the participants. The numbers are 12 inches in length and will appear in the following order: Sheehan, 1; O'Neil, 2; Barron, 3; Ryan, 4; Honan, 5; Sutherland, 6; Cavanaugh, 7; Kosciolek, 8; Heron, 9; Taplin, 10; Calkins, 11; Sullivan, 12; Sharkey, 13; Casey, 14; Higgins, 15; Kelley, 16; Gibbons, 17; Spaulding, 18; Henderson, 19; Willard, 20; McIntire, 21; McMannon, 22; Keefe, 23; Allard, 24; J. Heron, 25; Vinal, 26; Desmond, 27; Morrill, 28; Brosnan, 29; Burke, 30.

JIMMIE LISTON
Coach L.H.S.

Down in Lawrence Coach Mark Devlin and his assistants, Tom Hogan and Jack Reardon have perfected a marvelous football machine which will give Lowell the biggest and most strenuous struggle of the season. The team is in wonderful physical trim, all the players being in tip-top shape for their Alumni field engagement. Capt. Ray Kennedy will watch the game from the sidelines, as he passed the 20-year-old age limit last Sunday. It is probable that Higgins will direct activities in his stead.

Asked for a statement concerning the chances of the Red and Gray against Lawrence, Coach Liston said this afternoon that he expects his team to go out there tomorrow morning and give the Lawrencians one of the biggest surprises of the year. The majority of fans who have already formed their opinion as to the outcome of the classic, their judgments being based on the comparative scores of Lowell and Lawrence against the champion Haverhill outfit, are due, according to the dope of those in the know, for a sudden reverse. The Lowell team that lines up against Lawrence tomorrow will be an entirely different Lowell team than any seen in action to date. It will be an eleven imbued with a spirit to conquer in the objective game of the season, a game in which a win will cover a multitude of sins, footballistically speaking, and not, as a Haverhill scribe writes, a game in which "Lawrence should take Lowell like Grant took Richmond, only it took Grant four years and it should take Lawrence about four minutes."

The game will start at 10 o'clock sharp. The local student-body will occupy seats on the left hand side of the field or in the third-base bleachers while the Lawrence cohorts will have a reserved section in the first-base bleachers.

To insure the best possible protection for players and fans alike, [illegible] City Marshal James Conway has detailed a squad of 30 policemen to be on duty during the game. Special parking spaces will be allotted to those going to the game via automobile.

Ready Lowell! Ready Lawrence!

MATHES AS MANAGER

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Nov. 28.—Joe Mathes, formerly of the Philadelphia Athletics and the Boston Nationals, will manage the St. Joseph western league club next season. He was signed yesterday as a free agent.

FOR CITY CHAMPIONSHIP

Cadets and Belvideres to Clash at Alumni Field Tomorrow Afternoon

Without fear of contradiction, followers of the O.M.I. Cadet and Belvidere A.A. football teams, which meet to determine the 1923 city championship at Alumni field tomorrow afternoon, state that the largest amount of money ever involved in a gridiron game in this city will change hands with the outcome of the big and much disputed clash. The Cadet-Belvidere game will go on at 2.30 o'clock with the first string men of both contingents ready to answer the call to battle.

The advance dope has it that the crowd will exceed the record-breaking gathering which assembled on the green sward for the memorable Butler-Cadet game on Columbus day. This is saying a great deal when one takes into consideration the fact that that battle was witnessed by some 8000 rabid fans. But, it is contended, the rivalry existent all season between the Cadets and the Belvideres exceeds even that so evident in past Cadet-Belvidere engagements. The Cadets have been going along at a rapid clip all season, losing only to the heavier Fairmounts of Lawrence in one of the bitterest games ever staged at O'Sullivan park in the down-river city. The Belvideres have found it an extremely difficult proposition to arrange games. Somehow or other, various teams seemed to shun them, but in the games in which they have participated, they have come through with colors flying. Their most noteworthy achievement and the incident that had a lot to do with the arranging of tomorrow's game was their brilliant victory over the Lawrence C.Y.M.A. on the North common last Sunday. The Belvideres, principally through the great work of Artie Conway, were able to pin a 12 to 0 defeat on the strong Lawrence aggregation, while the entire personnel of the team made a deep impression on the 2500 fans who took in the game.

Against this same C.Y.M.A. team, the Cadets fought a spectacular, no-decision tie on the old Fair grounds the first part of the season and in a return engagement on the North common the locals emerged a 7 to 0 victor. A comparison of the scores, while interesting, cannot have any direct bearing in tomorrow's fray, as both teams will use a systematic method of attack with a bagful of trick plays thrown in.

Final practice sessions were held by both teams in the high school annex last night, the Belvideres going through secret drills from 7 to 8 o'clock and the Cadets following from 8 until 9 o'clock. General optimism was expressed in both camps.

To insure against possible arguments, the managements have arranged to have Eddie Casey, coach of Tufts and former Harvard All-America backfield star, handle the game, assisted by Mark Devlin of Holy Cross and now coach of the Lawrence high school squad, as umpire, and Ned Pendleton of Dartmouth, as head linesman. Adequate police protection is assured to keep the playing field free of spectators.

Final announcements as to players eligible to participate in the game is made as follows:

Cadets—Dan and John O'Connor, Curran, Destaler, Neary, Troville, McKinstrey, Taplin, Egan, Brodeur, Crowe, Payton, Coughlin, Lemoine, Nelligan, Murphy, Twoohey.

Belvidere A.A.—Desmond, Heathcock, Kierce, Donnellan, White, McAdams, Gleason, Locke, Conway, Sullivan, Whitely, Hill, Egan, Byrt, Normandin and Dacey.

FOR WAR MATERIAL

Spain to Turn Its Attention to Production as Soon as Possible

ROME, Nov. 8.—General Primo Rivera, president of the Spanish Military Directorate, is quoted by the newspaper Mattino of Naples as follows:

"My government will turn its attention to the production of war material as soon as possible; also to the reorganization of private industry so as to be able to transfer it into war industry should the necessity arise.

"We plan soon to organize a powerful military aviation and we have made an agreement with the Italian government to this effect, as Italy constructs excellent aircraft.

"We need many Italian finished products and Italy needs raw materials. We could supply her chiefly with coal and iron, which she lacks. I think the best combination for both countries would be for Italian vessels to arrive at Spanish ports laden with Italian goods and return laden with Spanish goods. These material links cement the solidest friendship."

SEA OUTLET FOR SWISS COMMERCE

GENOA, Italy, Nov. 28.—An extensive project is being studied and plans have already been submitted in part to the Swiss government, it is stated here, aiming at the transformation of the nearby port of Vado into a sea outlet for Swiss commerce. The project includes the enlargement of the port, the construction of several docks and storehouses, and the readjustment of the existing railway lines in order to speed up the transport of goods to and from Switzerland by the Sion and St. Gothard routes.

MALONE KAYOS WARD IN THIRD ROUND

BOSTON, Nov. 28.—The real Jack Malone, the genuine fighter-boxer, uncovered his long latent prowess in the ring of the Arena last night and in three rounds beat George Ward, the great Elizabeth, N. J., welterweight, so completely that Referee Johnny Brassil stopped the bout as the tall Jerseyite lay helpless on the floor, his head supported by the lower strand of rope.

Seven times before the St. Paul master appeared as a principal in boxing matches and seven times he won, but never did he inflict very severe punishment upon his opponent. Last night, however, it was different. He recognized in tall "Gentleman George" an unusually skillful boxer, fast on his feet and a terrific right-hand puncher. He appreciated, too, that if he is to get the recognition that is unquestionably his due, from Johnny Wilson or middleweight champion Harry Greb, that he must beat Ward decisively—and that's just what he did.

He was eager to win last night and to win as quickly as possible and he therefore made the first real fight he has ever made in Boston. Ordinarily, Jock, one of the geniusses of the ring, is content to win the decision. If he can outpoint his antagonist without inflicting unnecessary punishment he is satisfied.

Just now Malone has his eye on the middleweight championship. Conservative judges of boxing maintain he is the uncrowned and only legitimate king of the world's middleweights, anyway, but to get a chance at Greb's crown he must first remove several obstacles in his path, and it fell to the lot of poor Ward to be one of those obstacles.

CUMMINS PASSES BUCK

To Let G. O. P. Decide Whether He Shall Continue as President Pro Tem

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—Despite continuing conferences of republican leaders on the one hand and members of the progressive blocs on the other, organization problems in both the senate and house apparently were no nearer solution today than they have been for some weeks.

Expectations of the majority leaders in the senate that Senator Cummins of Iowa, would voluntarily give up one of his two places in the senate were upset by a decision of the senator to leave to his colleagues whether he shall continue as president pro tem and chairman of the interstate commerce committee.

Senator Lodge of Massachusetts and other republican leaders indicated their belief that Mr. Cummins would continue as president pro tem and that the selection of a candidate for that office would not even come before the republican conference Saturday. Under a custom long obtaining in the senate, he automatically would be reappointed to the committee chairmanship.

COMING BOUT IMPORTANT FOR BILLY MURPHY

Billy Murphy faces the most important bout of his career here on Thursday night when he steps into the ring against Jimmy Fruzetti of Brockton in the main event of the Moody club show.

The bout will mark Murphy's passing from the featherweight class into the lightweight division. He has met many of the notable feathers in this section, while a number of others have refused to enter the same ring with him.

Realizing the difficulty in getting matches and knowing well that continued activity in the ring is necessary to attain success and reach the top, his manager after careful consideration decided to put the local boy into Benny Leonard's division.

For his first battle in the new class he has agreed to take on Fruzetti, knowing that if Murphy can withstand the attack of the Brocktonian and show to advantage he will be able to take on the most of them.

Fruzetti, who held the New England lightweight title three times, is a rugged, hard-hitting performer. He's a fighter and this explains his many ups and downs in his class. When he held the title he never refused to meet a worthy opponent. Johnny Clinton, South Boston, Johnny Downes and others of their calibre were among those he gave a crack at his title.

Murphy wants to be in the best of condition and he has been training for several weeks in anticipation of the match. He expects to come into the ring at 131 or 132, but three pounds less than Fruzetti will weigh.

Tommy Fall, who made good in his professional debut a week ago, will meet Babe Adams of Lawrence in this week's semi-final.

Pancho Villa's flyweight championship will not be involved when he meets Patsy Wallace in Philadelphia Dec. 16. The weight is 116 pounds.

Teddy Hayes, who trained Jack Dempsey for his fight with Carpentier, has been re-engaged by the champion and will accompany him on his European tour.

Gene Tunney, American light heavyweight champion, has started training for his bout with Harry Greb at Madison Square garden, Dec. 10.

New Bedford fans are excited about the appearance of Johnny Dundee against Al Shubert in that city Thursday night.

Jimmy Goodrich, Buffalo's sensational lightweight, will clash with Bobby Tracey, another Bison, at Buffalo Thursday evening.

LAWRENCE MAN FINED $135 IN LOCAL COURT

In district court this morning, Henry Faucher of Lawrence was fined $100 for operating an automobile while he was under the influence of liquor, $15 for driving without a license, $10 for driving without a registration and $10 for operating without lights. A fifth charge, drunkenness, was placed on file.

Faucher was arrested in Cheever street last night by Sergt. James J. Kennedy and Officer Isidore Trudel, when he was seen to be in unfit condition to handle the wheel.

Has Your Home a Safety Manager?

BY JAY E. THOMPSON
Assistant Manager Cleveland Safety Council

Each home should have a safety manager. Whether it be Little Johnny or grandpa, someone in the family should be named to safeguard it from the little accidents that in 1922 killed more than 10,000 in American homes.

THOMPSON

Cities and factories have safety managers, and thousands of lives are saved. It is equally as important that each home should have a safety manager, to make accident prevention his or her job.

Now is the time to select your new family safety manager, for during this month, The Sun is publishing valuable information on home accident limitation, prepared by experts for the National Safety Council.

Keep your home clean.

If you're clean, you're careful; if you're careful, you're clean.

Fires are accidents of the worst kind. Often they start from piles of rubbish in corners or under stairways. Clean up!

When a fire occurs, use your head. Getting excited neither puts out the fire nor helps you get away.

Keeping fires from starting is the best way to use your head.

Clean furnaces, clean flues, clean stovepipes, clean closets, clean corners, clean stairways and clean habits will protect your home from fire and many other dangers.

NO WEEK-END VACATION AT YALE

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 28.—No vacation over the week-end following Thanksgiving day will be granted to Yale undergraduates. Students were hopeful that a request for such a holiday would be granted because of Yale's victory over Harvard last Saturday. At a meeting of the deans, student council and President Angell, yesterday, the request was denied. While some favored the plan it was turned down on the ground that it would be "establishing a precedent unworthy of scholastic tradition."

JAPAN'S REHABILITATION ESTIMATES

TOKIO, Nov. 28.—(By the Associated Press) The reconstruction burad has reduced the government's estimates for rehabilitation to 6,700,000,000 yen ($3,350,000,000.) This means the postponement of the Tokio-Yokohama canal and the Tokio harbor works.

"UNDER THE SPOTLIGHT"

Big Musical Production by Y. M. C. I. at Auditorium Tomorrow Night

There will be cause for rejoicing on all sides tomorrow, it not only being Thanksgiving day, but also the day that the Y.M.C.I.'s big musical production, "Under the Spotlight—1923," will be presented. "Bigger and Better" is what's going the rounds concerning this great show. Last year's big production is still fresh in the minds of the Lowell public and capacity houses no doubt will greet the young players both nights of the show. Dancing will follow the performances both nights, until 1 o'clock, Brodericks' orchestra furnishing the music. Tickets have been selling rapidly for the show, and all are urged to secure their tickets at once. A short resume of "who's who" in regard to the men soloists follows. Mr. Andrew A. McCarthy, Lowell's sweetest baritone singer. Next in line we have Raymond Kelley, whose marvelous singing of "You Remind Me of My Mother" in last year's "Spotlight" created such a furore, will be heard again this year. Mr. Kelley, like Mr. McCarthy, has picked the best song number available. "Ten Thousand Years From Now," McCormack's great success, being his offering. Charles J. Keyes, singing-acting comedian, will be seen in a specialty offering. Sam Scott, popular local business man and a leading Elk of the city, will be right on the job with his bagpipes to enliven things.

Sam is right there when it comes to pulling music out of the "pipes." Charles Clancy, singing-dancing comedian, steps right into female impersonating in his comedy number, "Oh, You Candy Kid." Remember the "Bamboo Babies." The endmen comprise a sextet of funmakers. Heading the list is that inimitable Frank McCartin, dean of endmen, who never frows old, and who is just as popular and as much in demand as the day when he first started out to amuse the Lowell public. Ed (Tip) Handley, another old favorite, will add greatly to the first part with his clever antics and witticisms. Patrick Maguire will also be "in the swim," and his clever rendition of "Louisville Lou" is sure to go over big. Maguire is a clever singer and comedian, and his countless friends expect big things of him in the "Spotlight." The young fellow himself in the personage of Edward Cawley, just "Edw," will sing those "Blue Hoosier Blues" just as they should be sung. Frank O'Neill, another comedian par excellence, will sing that comedy riot song, "Oh, Min." Frank is a great favorite with his audiences and will liven up the proceedings from time to time with jokes. A young man whose work will stand out prominently in this year's show, as it has in others, is Joseph Craven. Joe is a real honest-to-goodness comedian and can sing and dance. He will render that family song, "Maggie" in first rate style and will be one of the hits of the show.

All roads will lead right into our spacious Auditorium tomorrow and Friday evenings.

The O'Reilly Troupe, the Misses Peggy and Blanche O'Reilly and William Hinkley, has been secured as an extra added attraction, and these talented young people are bound to go over "big." The troupe has a contract with the B. F. Keith people and expects to go on the "boards" at any time in the near future.

The English guinea was so named because the gold from which it was made came from Guinea.

Slept in Chair for Years

It was necessary for Mrs. M. L. Moody, of 265 Upham St., Melrose, Mass., to sleep in a chair for years because of rheumatism and the terrible pain she experienced when she would lie down. Mrs. Moody states that almost every joint in her body was afflicted. Her knees were sore and stiff, wrists, fingers and hips were also sore and painful, and it was necessary to depend on two crutches when she had to go about the house.

A thorough treatment of Weldona enabled Mrs. Moody to discard her crutches, and she is now able to sleep in a bed, go up and down stairs, and in fact, is entirely free from rheumatism, even the deformities of the fingers have disappeared.

Weldona has been remarkably successful in the treatment of rheumatic conditions. A free book, "Germs of Rheumatism," may be obtained by addressing Weldona Co., 132 Boylston St., Boston, Mass. Weldona is sold at Dow's and other drug stores.—Adv.

M'CORMACK POPULAR

Celebrated Tenor, Who Sings Here Dec. 6, Holds Audiences Under His Spell

John McCormack, the celebrated tenor, who will be heard in the Memorial Auditorium December 6, has become an institution with the music-loving public of America. His song recitals, like the laws and customs of the time, as Webster would say, "are persistent elements in the country's social order."

McCormack's listeners are held completely under the spell of his song. They laugh when he wishes it, and many of them cry. They are exalted to shouting enthusiasm or stilled to breathless silence. Ordinary applause soon ceases to serve as expression for their approval. They call him endearingly by name and beg for this or that number of his repertory.

JOHN McCORMACK

The reasons for Mr. McCormack's popularity are by no means catalogued with the statement that he is an Irishman and a tenor. His voice is exquisite. His song defines every virtue of vocal art. His enunciation is like music itself. His diction has life and pulse; it is a thing of beauty and of eloquence to sway a multitude. His song, be its burden grave or gay, bears the impulse of a simple, wholesome personality. It sustains the semblance of spontaneity as though born of an irresistible desire, yet conforms to the measured order of a faultless interpretative intention. In short, Mr. McCormack is a great artist, and if there are any other reasons for his success omitted in this list, the reader may supply them for himself.

Seats are on sale in the Victrola department in Chalifoux's.

The Lowell Memorial Auditorium has a seating capacity of 4000. Imagine the Auditorium filled to capacity twenty times and you will get some idea of the number of people who read The Sun daily, and 50 per cent. of the 80,000 readers of The Sun take no other Lowell newspaper.

SHOTS CAUSE PANIC IN N. Y.

Two Men Claiming to Be Revenue Agents Arrested Following Street Fight

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Two men claiming to be revenue agents were arrested today on charges of partial intoxication and attempted felonious assault after a fight at 77th street and Columbus avenue which followed a collision between their automobile and a taxicab. The neighborhood was thrown into a panic by shots alleged to have been fired by the self-styled government men, who was found to be armed with four pistols, two hatchets and an iron bar. The two alleged agents gave their names as Robert Owens and Samuel Kupferman.

TOMB DATING FROM TIME OF CHRIST FOUND

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 28.—An undisturbed tomb dating from the time of Christ, has been discovered in the valley of Kedron, near Jerusalem, according to word received here from Dr. W. F. Albright, director of the American school of Oriental research in Jerusalem, it was announced today, by Dr. James Alan Montgomery, president of the school.

The tomb contained more than a score of "ossuaries," Dr. Albright wrote. "A dozen of these bore the names and geneologies of the occupants. All the dead apparently belonged to one family which flourished about the time of Christ.

REFUSED COMMUTATION OF SENTENCES

(Special to The Sun)

BOSTON, Nov. 28.—The governor's council today turned down the applications of Frank Coleman of Lawrence and John Grimes of the same city, for commutation of sentences. The men were serving terms of from 15 to 20 years for assault on a Syrian storekeeper in Lawrence. They have been in jail since 1920.

The governor's council, however, commuted the sentence of Raymond F. Pousslo, who was sentenced for life for murder committed in 1909. He shot and killed Henry K. Stone of Newburyport. It is expected that he will be home for his Thanksgiving day dinner.

HOYT.

ROCKLAND, Me., Nov. 28.—The scout cruiser Richmond, which established a speed record of 34.62 knots under trial displacement of 700 tons last June, today went on the Rockland course with a view to obtaining data under an increased displacement of 9760 tons.

Canada recently received an order from Rumania for a $5,000,000 deal in woolen textiles.

ATTEMPT TO BRING K.K.K. INTO FLOGGING CASE

MARIETTA, Ga., Nov. 28.—Unsuccessful efforts to bring the K.K.K. into the case were made today at the trial of Parks C. Cook, charged with being a member of the gang which flogged Mrs. Bertha Holcombe, a widow, and Stephen H. Morton, her escort.

When Solicitor General John Wood asked Joe Bramlett, one of the six indicted men, whether he was a member of the Ku Klux Klan, the court excluded the question "For the time being, at least."

Bramlett and other indicted men, including Keller Hasty, pitcher of the Philadelphia American league baseball club, his brothers, Arthur and Frank Hasty and Tom Black, were the first witnesses for the defense.

Each denied he was a member of the flogging party.

CHEERING COMPETITION AT HIGH SCHOOL

Fully equipped with arm bands and red and gray megaphones, the students of the high school massed in the Cyrus Irish Memorial Auditorium this noon for the purpose of a competition in cheering between the upper classes and the freshman students, in accordance with the challenge sent out by James F. Conway, who has been supervising the leading of the first year pupils in this line. The freshmen were led by Joseph McAvinnue and the rest of the student body was led by Edward Slattery.

The roar from both classes reached such a volume that the judges sidestepped gracefully and refused to give any decision, for fear of being unjust. The high school orchestra attempted to furnish the music, but was drowned out completely by the voices. Tomorrow the pupils are requested to sit in the third base bleachers at Alumni field. Principal Harris announced that there would definitely be no seats on sale at the field, as the number already sold in both cities exceeds 6000 and will tax the capacity of the grounds without any more being disposed of.

THREE MORE AMOSKEAG MILLS TO REOPEN

MANCHESTER, N. H., Nov. 28.—Announcement was made this morning by the Amoskeag Co. that with the opening of three more mills in their cotton division next Monday morning, over 80 per cent. of their normal number of operatives will have returned to work.

It was also announced by the Amoskeag that starting Monday, the worsted division of the company would curtail to a three-day week. Unfavorable trade conditions in the worsted market were assigned as the reason for the partial shutdown in the worsted division.

Memphis was supposed to have been one of the largest cities of the ancient world.

OFFER $40,000,000 FOR CONCESSION

LONDON, Nov. 28.—A project is under way for the concession of timber rights in the Polish forest of Bialowieska, one of the largest in Europe, to a consortium of American financiers according to announcement by the Polish Press Bureau here. The Americans are stated to have offered the Polish government $40,000,000 for the concession. The Bialowieska forest covers 470 square miles of flat and partly marshy land between the Niemen, Bug and Pripet rivers.

TRAIN DERAILED; 20 INJURED

OTTER, W. Va., Nov. 28.—Twenty passengers were hurt when the locomotive, express car and two coaches of train No. 57, on the Charlestown division of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad toppled over a bank north of here, and fell to the edge of Elk river early today.

CRUSHED TO DEATH UNDER PIANO

LAWRENCE, Nov. 28.—When a moving truck carrying a piano lurched at a street corner today, the piano was thrown off. It knocked a mover, Alfred Lafrane, 35, before it, fell on him and crushed him to death.

CAPTAIN WENT DOWN WITH SHIP

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 28.—The steel tug Craig was rammed and sunk early today in the Niagara river opposite the Grand Island Ferry landing by the steamer Zillah of Bay City, Mich. Captain Frank Roneker, Jr., of Tonawanda, stuck to the helm and went down with his ship. Howard Slover, fireman, and Leo Kropp, engineer, were rescued by a ferry boat.

GEN. J. WALTER ATWOOD DEAD

WAUREGAN, Conn., Nov. 28.—General J. Walter Atwood, aged 59, prominent manufacturer, died suddenly at his home early today. Though in poor health for a year past, he had attended to business and his death was unexpected. Gen. Atwood was a native of this town, a descendant of Francis and Mary Atwood of Providence, the latter a great granddaughter of Roger Williams. He had been agent for many years of the Wauregan Mills in which he was a large owner. He graduated from Yale university in the class of 1885. He was a prominent republican and had on several occasions been a delegate to national conventions of the party.

PROMINENT JAPANESE GENERAL DEAD

TOKIO, Nov. 28.—(By the Associated Press) General Jikuzo Otani, military councillor of the Japanese government since 1917, and former commander of Japanese forces in Siberia, died here today. He was 61 years old.

STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Reactionary tendencies developed at the opening of today's stock market with profit-taking and bear selling apparent in various sections of the list. Pan-American issue opened slightly lower on announcement of new financing. Maxwell A and Studebaker opened higher but Maxwell B dropped 1¼, and Davison yielded fractionally.

Early selling was most effective in the oils, sugars, chemical and independent steels. Maxwell Motors A broke 6 points to 47½, and then rallied to 49¾. Losses of 1 to 2 points also were registered by Tobacco Products A, Cosden, Virginia Carolina Chemical preferred, Schulte, Cuba Cane Sugar preferred, Central Leather preferred and U. S. Cast Iron Pipe. All offerings were well absorbed and the market was soon headed upward again, Davison rallying two points from its early low. A good inquiry also was noted for some of the rails. Foreign exchanges opened lower.

Railroad shares held relatively steady during the forenoon but the rest of the list was highly irregular rubber, tobaccos and sugars bearing the brunt of the selling pressure. Pool buying was again apparent, however, Davison Chemical, Inland Steel and Jones Brothers Tea rising 2 to nearly 3 points. Rutland preferred up 3⅛ points and New Orleans, Texas & Mexico up 2 were the strong spots in the railroad list. Goodrich rubber preferred broke 5¼ points, Schulte Stores 3½, Gulf States Steel 3 and Youngstown Sheet & Tube 2. The weekly steel trade reviews report a subsidence in the demand for pig iron, due in part to the higher prices and the fact that the needs of the large consumers for the first quarter of next year have been largely provided for. Call money opened at 4½ per cent.

Stromberg Carburetor furnished the fireworks of the mid-day market, dropped from an early high of 85½ to 80½, and then soaring to 88 on the announcement of the higher annual and extra dividends, and again sagging to 85. Elsewhere the movement continued confused, but National Biscuit and Moracaibo Oil sold at their best prices of the year.

The closing was irregular. A brisk demand for shippings and oils featured the late dealings.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE SENT TO PRINTER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—President Coolidge put the finishing touches on his message to congress today and the document was sent to the printer.

The message was comparatively brief, White House attaches declaring it to be shorter than the average length of those sent to congress by Presidents Wilson and Harding.

The president has told visitors that he framed the message with a view to presenting explicit recommendation rather than arguments and discussions.

His desire, he said, is to impress congress with the soundness of the recommendations with sufficient force to render arguments unnecessary.

DARTMOUTH FRESHMAN MISSING 11 DAYS

HANOVER, N. H., Nov. 28.—The eleven days absence from Dartmouth college of Martin McLean, Jr., of Seattle, Wash., a freshman, has led the college authorities to broadcast the news of his disappearance. He left Hanover on November 17 with a small sum of money, apparently for a brief trip, and no word from him has since reached the college or his home.

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES

BOSTON, Nov. 28.—Joseph Barron, former president of the Barron Furniture Co., was sentenced to 18 months in the Plymouth house of correction by Judge Morton in the federal court here today for taking a false oath and aiding in the concealment of assets from a trustee in bankruptcy.

This action followed the taking over on Monday [illegible] by the Rhode Island Hospital Trust Co. of the business of the Westminster bank to save it from forced liquidation.

RAPS SEIZURE OF TOMAKO

Capture of British Rum-Runner Off Coast Attracts Notice in London Press

LONDON, Nov. 28.—The seizure of the British schooner Tomako, off the New Jersey coast, is attracting considerable notice in the London press. The Morning Post thinks the incident was unfortunate, and that the delay in connection with the British-American treaty modifying the three-mile limit has been marked by "the illegal seizure of British vessels engaged in what may not be an honorable; but certainly is not an illegal occupation."

"Thus linking the Tomako affair with the seizure of the British schooner Island Home off Texas, this newspaper continues:

"The action of the American revenue cutters was most high-handed and injustified and has only too much in common with the fanaticism and fury which have accompanied the prohibition movement in the United States." The Morning Post cannot believe that Secretary Hughes gave his approval to "this glaring infraction of international law." It seems to the commentator that "a new constitutional dilemma is rising in American politics, for in addition to the ancient feud between the president and the senate, there now seems to be developing a contest between the prohibition authorities and the state department."

Referring to the possibility that the new treaty may have to be withdrawn in consequence of senate hostility and the ship liquor ruling of the supreme court, the newspaper says that in that case "it is quite clear Anglo-American friendship would again be subjected to a severe strain; and it is precisely this contingency which the British foreign office is anxious to avoid."

KILLED WHEN CAR STRUCK WAGON

BROCKTON, Nov. 28.—Luigi Lenoci, aged 51, Franklin street, Whitman, died this morning at the Brockton hospital following an accident in which his horse and wagon was struck by a one-man trolley car on the Whitman division of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co. The horse was killed instantly. Lenoci died shortly after at the hospital from a fractured skull. He also had two broken legs, several broken ribs, and other injuries.

$20,000 IN DEATH CASE

Payment Made to Family of Martin Tabert Who Died as Result of Flogging

LANGDON, N. D., Nov. 28—Payment of $20,000 has been made by the Putnam Lumber Co. to the family of Martin Tabert, of Munich, N. D., who died in a convict lumber camp conducted by the company in Florida, following a flogging given by Walter Higginbotham, "whipping boss." This payment has been accepted by the Tabert family as settlement of its claims against the lumber company.

TO ATTACK REPARATION COMMISSION

PARIS, Nov. 28.—The visit to London of Sir John Bradbury, British delegate on the reparation commission, is explained today by the Temps in an editorial as being connected with preparations for an attack on the commission, on the plans for which it says a number of experts are working under the inspiration of the British foreign secretary, Marquis Curzon.

The Temps predicts that the attack will turn upon the question of the Franco-Belgian right under the treaty of Versailles to occupy the Ruhr and that the commission will be invited to interpret the article of the treaty upon which this right is based by the occupying powers. The editorial represents the British as arguing that a correct interpretation will establish that no such right exists.

Another Severe Test

LONDON, Nov. 28 (by the Associated Press).—England's relationship with France on the reparation issue will be put to another severe test on Friday, when Sir John Bradbury presents his government's views on the Duesseldorf agreement and the intention of France and Belgium to retain part of the Ruhr payments and deliveries for their own occupational accounts. Whether the truce recently arrived at between the London and Paris governments in the council of ambassadors will weather future storms depends largely upon the results of Friday's meeting.

TAX ABATEMENT SUIT IN SUPERIOR COURT

The income tax abatement suit brought by Mrs. Agnes S. Kennedy, widow of Rev. Joseph E. Kennedy, was argued this forenoon before Superior Court Judge Nelson P. Brown in jury-waived session.

Mrs. Kennedy came here in October, 1921, from Pennsylvania and the tax commissioner taxed her 1921 revenue which she declared she received mostly in Lancaster, Pa. Decision was reserved by Judge Brown. Francis M. Qua, counsel for Mrs. Kennedy, argued that she is entitled to a remittance of $1700, that being the 1921 revenue paid to Pennsylvania. Asst. Attorney General Alexander Lincoln appeared for the commonwealth. The case will probably ultimately be brought before the U. S. supreme court for decision.

FIVE IN LIQUOR CASE RELEASED

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Federal Judge Winslow, presiding at the trial of Emanuel ("Mannie") Kessler, alleged "king of the bootleggers," and 18 others, today directed the jury to return a verdict of not guilty against five of the defendants.

Those discharged were George Fassullo, George Fannelli, Henry Grunewald, former prohibition agent, and John L. Jordan and Al Goldman.

PARDON FOR PLOUFFE

BOSTON, Nov. 28.—The governor and council, after a hearing today granted a pardon to Raymond F. Plouffe, who has served 13 years of a sentence to life imprisonment for murder in the second degree. Arrangements were made to release him from the state prison this afternoon.

Diamond Brothers Confess

arrested this morning, had agreed to make a complete confession of his part in the crime, which the district attorney said consisted of furnishing information regarding the transportation of money between the West End bank and the New Utrecht avenue branch of the Irving bank-Columbia Trust Co.

The hold-up according to the confessions, was planned at a meeting in Manhattan attended by Barlow diamond, Pantano and two of the gunmen, Mr. Dodd said. Final arrangements were made at a bandit rendezvous in Kingsbridge, N. Y., where an agreement was said to have been entered into to give Pantano 10 per cent. of the proceeds of the holdup.

Pantano was said to have lost his nerve at this meeting and attempted to quit the plot, but remained when one of the gunmen threatened him with death.

Although the Diamond brothers and Pantano have admitted their part in the holdup and given information of the identities of the actual gunmen the police pointed out that under the laws of the state of New York, any person convicted of a felony which results in a killing, is as guilty as the murderer themselves and is liable to the death penalty.

Seven Men Arrested

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Seven additional arrests of men suspected of participating in the slaying and robbery of two Brooklyn bank messengers Nov. 14, were made today. Six were taken in a raid on an apartment in the Bronx, while Anthony Pantano accused of being the "tip off" man for the gunmen, was arrested at his Brooklyn home.

Barlow and Joseph Diamond, brothers, already are in custody charged with murder and robbery.

The Bronx apartment where the six were taken was a bandit redezvous and it was there that the man who instigated the Brooklyn robbery and slaying called his aides for conferences the police said. They added that the plotter of the crime was a "master criminal."

Pantano, former employe of the bank whose messengers were killed, was alleged by the investigators to have furnished the gunmen with information of the movement of the messengers and to have warned them that both of the bank employes who carried the money, were fearless men and "quick on the draw."

All of the prisoners were taken to Manhattan police headquarters for questioning by Inspector Coughlin.

SAYS KIDNEYS CLOG AND NEED FLUSHING

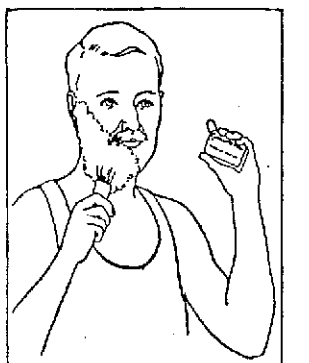
Drink Water Freely and Often, Also Take Salts if Back Hurts

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulate them to their normal activity.

The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of good water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemonjuice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

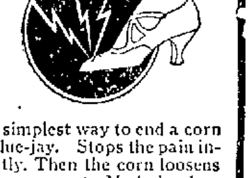
Jad Salts is inexpensive; can not injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.—Adv.



Cuticura Soap Ideal For Sensitive Skins

Men who have tender skins, easily irritated by shaving, should use Cuticura Soap. Dip brush in hot water and rub on Cuticura Soap. Then make lather on face and rub in for a moment with fingers. Make a second lathering and shave, then wash off with Cuticura Soap.

Samples Free by Mail Address: "Cuticura Laboratories, Dept. 25G, Malden 48, Mass." Sold everywhere. Soap 25c. Ointment 25 and 50c. Talcum 25c. Cuticura Soap shaves without mug.



End Corns

The simplest way to end a corn is Blue-jay. Stops the pain instantly. Then the corn loosens and comes out. Made in clear liquid and in thin plasters. The action is the same.

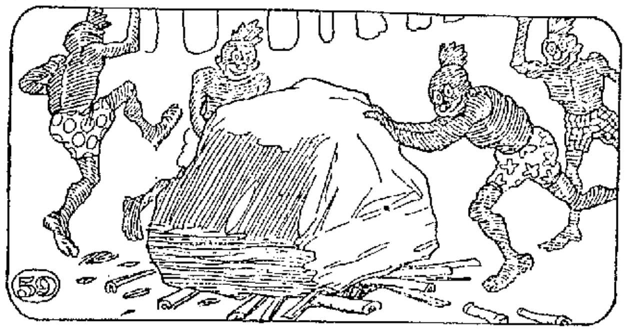
Jack Daw's Adventures. Chapter 20

Jack and Nick and Bibbs then kneeled down to take some of the gold as Jinks gathered it up. They were so interested that they did not hear the approach of several natives. Suddenly all three were hurled headfirst down into the hole with Jinks. The antives had surprised them.



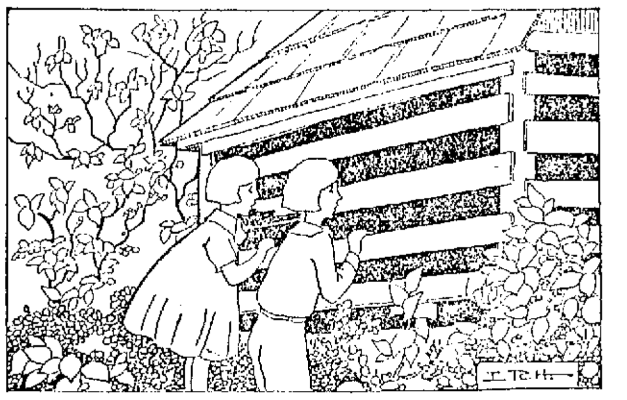
At first there was a wild scramble down in the gold hole. Then Jack looked up above just in time to see the natives push a great rock over the opening above. The four sailors of the Betsy Claire were caught in a trap. And they could hear the wild shouts up above them.

"We've got the gold all right," moaned Bibbs, "but what can we do with it when they've got us trapped?" "Don't give up!" whispered Jinks. "We've ben in worse places than this." And then he pulled out a long knife and told Jack to start digging into the side of the ground. (Continued.)

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton

QUEER FOLKS IN A QUEER HOUSE



THE TWINS PUT THEIR EYES TO ONE OF THE CRACKS.

Nancy and Nick came to a queer-looking house in Dixie Land.

"Hello, here, what's this?" cried Nick. "Every other board is gone off the sides. What do you s'pose has happened?"

"It must have been a storm," suggested Nancy.

"Perhaps they ran out of boards," said Nick, "and had to put them on this way to make them reach. It's a good thing Dixie Land is warm. Such an open house would never do up north. Let's look and see what's inside."

"That's not polite," said Nancy. "Suppose the people are at home. Even if they are not, it isn't nice to peep into people's houses."

"You may look all you want to," called a voice suddenly. "We've heard every word you said, anyway."

Without waiting to be asked twice, the Twins put their eyes to one of the wide cracks and looked inside with all their might. There wasn't a thing to be seen but some more boards going across the space inside like clothesline on a washing day.

"We're up here!" called the same voice again. "We're up on the stick nearest to the roof. Can you see now?"

"I see two brown bats hanging by their feet," said Nick.

"Well, that's us," called one of the bats. "We live here."

Nancy laughed. "Why, it's a terribly big house for such a small couple, Mrs. Bat. But ifg you have so much room, why do you live in the attic?"

"It's a little difficult to talk so much upside down," said Mrs. Bat, "particularly when one is sleepy. Bartholomew and I always sleep in the daytime, being out all night doing our marketing—well, as I say, it's a little difficult to talk upside down, but if I let go with my feet, I have to fly every second and then I can't talk at all. There! I'm all out of breath!"

"And I'm glad of it," grumbled Mr. Bartholomew Bat. "I can't get a wink of sleep for your chattering."

"But it's such a big place for you," went on Nancy, not paying any attention to grumpy old Mister Bat.

"Oh, it's not for us," corrected Mrs. Bat. "This is a tobacco house. It's where Mister Dixieland Farmer hangs his green tobacco leaves to dry. The tobacco isn't ready to bring in yet so we just borrowed the place. These crossbeams are so handy to hang on! Besides the wide cracks in the sides are so convenient for us to fly in and out. I'll tell you what the cracks are for. They are left there on purpose. It's so the wind can blow through and dry the tobacco when it's hanging on these sticks like clothes on a clothes-line on wash day."

"Oh, do shut up and go to sleep," growled Mister Bat again. "One of these days they'll be bringing the tobacco in and we'll be out of a home. You'd better sleep while you can."

"We're going anyway," said Nick, not minding Mister Bat's poor manners. "Goodby!"

SEARCH FOR GIRL ENDS, BODY FOUND IN RIVER

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 28.—Miss Marguerite Dearth, 22, who disappeared from the home of her parents, Judge Clarence W. and Mrs. Dearth, in Muncie, Ind., Nov. 1, and whose body was found floating in the Ohio river, here, yesterday, committed suicide in the opinion of officials. Discovery of the floating body by W. B. Daugherty, steamboat captain, brought to an end a search for the missing girl that had extended to all parts of the country.

Due to the length of time the body had been in the water, difficulty was encountered in establishing identification, but this was accomplished through comparison of numbers on a wrist watch found on the body with those given in descriptions of the girl, which had been broadcast.

News despatches from Muncie stated that Miss Dearth had been suffering from a great mental strain at the time of her disappearance.

$2,000,000 STEAMER

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 28.—A contract for a modern passenger steamer to cost $2,000,000 has been let to the Todd Drydock & Construction of Tacoma by the Southern Pacific Co.

The steamer will have a displacement of 11,100 tons, will accomodate 257 first class and 111 steerage passengers, and will be used on the New York Orleans run.

SCHOOL BOARD HOLDS MEETING

Mrs. Pearson Springs Surprise by Nominating Supt. Molloy for Secretary

Mrs. Slaughter Said Mrs. Pearson's Motion Was Direct Attack Upon Her

Mrs. Gardner W. Pearson sprung a real surprise at a meeting of the school committee last night when, within a few minutes of adjournment, she moved that, in accordance with the new rules, a secretary be elected and she nominated Supt. Hugh J. Molloy for that position.

Mr. Bruin immediately jumped to his feet before any discussion could be started and moved that the matter be laid on the table.

Mr. Mullin, Mr. Delaney and Dr. Slaughter all objected to Mrs. Pearson's motion, Dr. Slaughter saying, "I think this is a direct attack upon me, coming up for re-election. In fact, I know it is and I am willing to take it along with the other things that have been put over."

A roll call vote on Mr. Bruin's motion to table the matter resulted in a vote of four to three in favor, Mrs. Pearson, Mr. Riley and Mayor Donovan voting no.

The meeting was called to order at 8 o'clock.

Following the reading of the minutes of the last meeting, Mayor Donovan asked permission to change his vote on the matter of increasing primary principal's salaries from "aye" to "not voting." Such permission was granted him.

A letter from Headmaster Henry H. Harris of the high school was read in which he accepted full responsibility for the so-called banquet of the Masters' club in the high school lunchroom. A detailed report of the expenditures and receipts of this banquet accompanied the letter.

Thomas M. O'Brien was elected a teacher of sheet metal drafting at the evening vocational school. He received the votes of all members but Mrs. Pearson, who voted for Thomas Wilde.

A letter from Principal Fisher of the Vocational school was read in which he stated that, because of the falling off of registration in the machinists' class, he would not need an additional teacher as previously requested.

Miss Doris Sanborn was unanimously elected a teacher of cooking at the Normal school, under the vocational department, to succeed Miss Eleanor Sutton who recently resigned. A letter of thanks was voted to Miss Sutton for her services to the school department.

In accordance with a request at a previous meeting, Supt. Molloy announced that the only emergency substitutes for high school work are Mrs. Monahan and Mr. Palmer.

Mr. Bruin asked Mr. Molloy if he knew Mr. McGowan was available. Mr. Molloy answered in the negative. During a discussion of this matter Mr. Bruin stated that Mr. McGowan had written Mr. Molloy stating his willingness to do emergency work at the high school. Mr. Riley acknowledged having seen the letter written, addressed and stamped, but did not see it mailed. Supt. Molloy denied receiving the letter and objected to insinuations that he had received it.

On motion of Mr. Delaney it was voted that the superintendent write to each substitute asking if he or she is willing to do emergency substitute work and requesting a written reply so that there will be a permanent record of those who desire such work.

The matter of opening cooking and other vocational classes at the Bartlett and Morey schools came up for discussion. With the exception of Mr. Mullin, each member had something to say about such classes in certain districts of the city and Mr. Delaney suggested that the business of increasing these classes be stopped as it is very expensive. He further suggested that he did not believe it was up to the school department to educate adults. No definite action was taken on this matter.

Business Agent Henry Williams reported that for a no-school signal, steam sirens could be purchased at prices varying from $100 to $600, subject to a 30 per cent discount, and that electric sirens could be purchased at prices from $250 to $375 net. A discussion on the advisability of doing away with the no school signal folowed in which Mayor Donovan and Mrs. Pearson favored its abolishment. On motion of Mr. Delaney it was voted to instruct the business agent to have the largest mentioned electric siren shipped to Lowell, after Dec. 1, for 30 days' trial.

It was voted on Mr. Delaney's motion that the business agent present to the board the expenses for cooking and sewing classes in the continuation, vocational and elementary schools of the city. Mrs. Pearson alone voted in the negative.

Several communications concerning readjustment of salaries and increases of salaries for teachers and janitors were read and tabled. It was suggested that Mr Molloy discuss the matter of salary increases and readjustments with the president of the teachers' organization and he agreed to do so.

On motion of Mr. Mullin it was voted to hold a special meeting to take action on such salary adjustments on Friday, Dec. 21.

MOTOR TRUCK DRIVERS

Applicants for Licenses Unable to Read English Will Be Rejected

Under a new regulation immediately effective no more special licenses will be issued motor truck drivers or owners who are classed as illiterate, unable to read English. This regulation does not affect illiterates already licensed, for the renewal privilege is conceded to be theirs, but all new applicants unable to read English will be rejected.

This puts all applicants for licenses to operate motor vehicles on the same footing. Heretofore pleasure car owners were not permitted to qualify for licenses if they could not read English and special licenses were issued to illiterate truckmen.

The largest number of illiterate licensees is said to be in Lawrence. Other mill cities like Lowell, Fall River and New Bedford, with suburban districts more or less of the same character of population, also have large numbers of illiterates holding these special licenses. Examiners yesterday informed applicants here of the new ruling and it was the first information that any had of it.

DELIGHTFUL CONCERT

Auditorium Crowded to Hear Miss Claire Dux and Pietro A. Yon Last Night

No musical program to be given at the Memorial Auditorium this season will give more delight than the one presented last evening in the Moses Greeley Parker series by Miss Claire Dux, soprano of the Chicago Civic Opera association, and Pietro A. Yon, organist. Let it be said that each is an artist of proved ability, who melded their chosen selections into a program of rare merit that caught the fancy of the audience at the very start and held it to the close. The audience, by the way, completely filled the Auditorium, there being only an occasional vacant seat on the floor, with parquet and balcony filled to absolute capacity.

The success of the concert came after a day of disappointments, for at the 11th hour the Parker trustees were notified that Mme. Sigrid Onegin, contralto of the Metropolitan Opera company, would be unable to fill her engagement because of sudden throat trouble. Fortunately, however, it was learned that Miss Dux was in New York and a query brought the reply that she would come as a substitute. Yesterday afternoon, to add to the perplexities and troubles of the trustees, members of the building commission and the architects, the organ motor gave out and for a time it was thought extremely unlikely that the instrument could be used. A substitute motor was secured, however, flanked by auxiliary batteries, and the storm clouds began to move out of vision. They disappeared completely when Miss Dux and Mr. Yon began the presentation of their excellent program.

In comparison with its first performance the organ was a revelation. A great opening has been cut in the balcony wall next to the organ chamber to allow an easier passage of sound. Last night this opening was covered with cloth, but now that it has worked out so successfully, it is believed a similar opening will be made on the other side of the balcony, each to be covered with ornamental grill work, and still another opening made in one of the proscenium panels.

The organ was heard in all its beauty last evening, the added sound exists being coupled with the dexterity and ability of Mr. Yon, who handles the instrument as a master. His selections were brilliantly executed and captivated the audience.

Claire Dux undoubtedly will be heard again in Lowell. She possesses a clear soprano voice of great beauty and particularly through her pianissimo tones did she score an unqualified success. No more lovely effects have been attained by an artist on a local platform within memory. Charm of manner is also hers in unstinted measure and she combined personality, artistic ability and a glorious voice in a program of songs and arias that found spontaneous response in the appreciation of her audience. Helpful piano accompaniments were played by Mr. Michael Raucheisen.

RECEIPTS ON DELIVERY OF INSURED MAIL

Commencing Dec. 1 employees of the postoffice department will be required to take receipts on delivery of insured mail, according to instructions received by Postmaster Xavier A. Delisle. The ruling will have especial application to parcel post matter and receipts will have to be signed for all of the thousands of insured parcel post packages which are certain to form a part of the usual heavy Christmas mail.

Regardless of method of delivery, whether by carrier or through boxholder, a record is now necessary. For the present the office of delivery will be required to prepare the receipts. Third Assistant Postmaster General W. Irving Glover has instructed that the same form now in use for registered and C.O.D. receipts be used. Each receipt is to bear the original number and name of the office and the state or origin of the parcel.

Under instructions of Mr. Golver the addressee will be called upon to sign for mail. When this is not done the addressee's name must first be written and then the name of the receiving agent signed on the line below. Records of these receipts must be kept and this will require considerable more clerical work at the local postoffice.

The ruling is the culmination of difficulty encountered by the department in handling indemnity claims. Much fraud has been possible under the present system whereby a receipt is not insisted upon and the department has no means to prove delivery. Employes handling insured mail were more prone to laxity under the regulations not requiring a receipt, it is held.

IN HIGHLANDS DISTRICT

Investigation of Postal Facilities First Move in Opening of Station

An investigation of the postal facilities in the Highlands district in reference to the opening of a postal station there was made yesterday by Postoffice Inspector D. J. Rapp of Boston, working under instructions from the Washington office.

Mr. Rapp and Postmaster Xavier A. Delisle made a careful investigation of the mail situation in the Highlands and while no definte statement could be obtained, Postmaster Delisle stated that he is pleased with the progress of the department in this matter and believes something definite will be forthcoming from Washington in the near future.

Agitation for a postal station in the Highlands district was started about the same time that the postal authorities decided to give Centralville a station. Numerous requests from residents of the Highland section for such a station were received by Congressman John Jacob Rogers and he in turn notified the postoffice authorities. Several investigations have since been made but nothing definite has been done.

Recently Rep. Fred O. Lewis has taken the matter up with the postal authorities and it is felt locally that with both the congressman and the representative working for a postal station, that such a station will be located in the Highlands district if the postal authorities believe it is necessary.

RETURNED VERDICT FOR DEFENDANT

A superior court jury in Cambridge yesterday afternoon returned a verdict for the defendant in the civil action of Sarah Hood, widow of and executrix of the estate of C. I. Hood, against George Parker of Dracut.

The suit was brought because of an accident which occurred in March of 1919, when Parker's runaway horse crashed into an auto owned by the late Mr. Hood. A personal injury suit, Rogers vs. Parker, also brought in connection with this runaway, was dismissed.

Judge John Brown presided at the trial. Marvin Taylor of Boston for the plaintiff and Donahue & Donahue for the defendants.

A. O. H. Divisions and Ladies' Auxiliary Launch Membership Campaign

At an enthusiastic meeting of the members of the three local divisions of the Ancient Order of Hibernians and the ladies' auxiliaries in their headquarters in the Grosvenor building last night, was launched an energetic membership campaign calculated to result in a substantial increase in numbers and, eventually, the establishment of new and exclusive A.O.H. quarters in this city.

Last night's meeting was captioned "Captain Night," in honor of the spiritual directors of the organization. Rev. John J. McGarry, D.C.L., of St. Patrick's church was unable to be present owing to an unavoidable out-of-town call, but the gathering was graced with the presence of Very Rev. Daniel J. Kelcher, Ph.D., pastor of St. Peter's church and chaplain of Div. 8, A.O.H., who addressed the assemblage. Other speakers were Bartholomew Crowley of Haverhill and Jeremiah J. O'Sullivan of Lowell.

As the membership drive is sponsored by the newly organized good and welfare committee, James J. McMannon, president, and Miss Catherine Gaffney, secretary, the meeting last night was in charge of that committee. Mr. McMannon presided and introduced the various speakers.

Previous to the formal opening of the evening's program, he gave a comprehensive outline of the nature of the good and welfare organization, saying that it was formed to promote interest in Hibernian social activities and to arrange for a series of events during the coming winter months. The committee consists of four members from each division and from the ladies' auxiliaries and will meet once a month for social and educational purposes. A Christmas party is on the calendar for next month, while in January, an open meeting and entertainment will be held. In February, a grand installation, in accordance with the degree ritual of the county officers, will be conducted; in March, a St. Patrick's day celebration; in April, a communion breakfast; in May, a May party; in June, an outing or field day. The committee also recommends the formation of debating clubs, athletic teams, planning boards, community service functions and an energetic application of the current slogan: "Each brother get a new member."

Mr. Crowley was the first speaker of the evening and gave an enlightening talk on the omissions of Irish names in American history; the work of the Irish among the colonists, in the Revolutionary and Civil wars, and of their settlements in New England and other American colonies. His talk showed maximum research and was attentively listened to by his audience.

Very Rev. Dr. Kelcher remarked that he was always glad to be with the Hibernians. "You deserve encouragement," he said. "And I am anxious to see your organization expand—an organization whose history embraces two of the finest principles man can adhere to—deep, true love of native land and love of religion. These are the corner-stones of Hibernianism."

Jeremiah J. O'Sullivan was the concluding speaker and asked the members to do everything in their power to bring young men and young women into the organization.

Delightful solo numbers were contributed by Mrs. Margaret McDonough Maguire and Mrs. Nora Regan Lonergan, while Miss Irene Lawlor and William Quinn obliged with piano selections.

A memorial mass for deceased members of the A.O.H. will be celebrated in St. Patrick's church tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock.

BOY SCOUT RALLY AT HIGH SCHOOL

Streamers, Gifts of Late President Harding, Presented by Congressman Rogers

With practically every Boy Scout in the city in line, all the troops of Lowell formed yesterday evening at the city hall and with a squad of police in front, marched to the old high school building, and took seats in Colburn hall. Addresses here were made to the scouts by Scout Executive Edwin J. Mellen and Congressman John Jacob Rogers.

The streamers won during the membership campaign held last year were presented by Mr. Rogers in conjunction with his address. He affirmed his belief that the scout movement is the greatest thing that is being done in this country for the growing boy, at the present time, and in illustrating his point, told of a St. Louis judge who stated that in 1400 cases he tried in juvenile court last year, not a single instance was recorded of a Boy Scout being one of the youths in trouble. Following this, he urged the boys never to forget the precepts they were learning, and then presented the streamers, which were the official gift of the late President Warren G. Harding to the organization of which he was an honorary vice president by virtue of his office, and in which he took such a heartfelt interest. The troops to which the decorations were awarded were Troops 2, 4, 5, 10, 18 and 30 of Lowell, 1 of Billerica and 1 of Dracut. In connection with the awarding he took occasion to pay a compliment to Dr. John H. Lambert, president of the local council, and cited him as the example of a citizen and man that the boys should strive to emulate.

Following the presentation, the scouts marched to the annex of the high school, where Scout Executive Mellen discussed future plans for the winter activities. He hoped that at the time the spring rally is held he would see 3000 scouts in line and well equipped and trained, and announced that at the time of this rally there would be troops present from Boston, Malden, Fitchburg, and other towns who would enter into competition with the Lowell boys in various contests along the line of scouting.

Following his talk, the boys were treated to a delicious supper of sandwiches, cookies, ice cream, cake and milk, by the members of the executive council of Lowell. The boys were given a short rest after the food was eaten and the competition between troops in scout contests was started. Deputy Scout Commissioner Albert Thurston aided Mr. Mellen in the supervision of these contests, in which the Dracut troop amassed a total of 46 points to the 18 or Troop 10 of Lowell, its nearest rival. Other troops in scoring were Troop 1, six points, and Troop 4, three points.

The results of the races were as follows:

Knot-tying—Each member of competing troops to tie nine different knots. Won by Dracut troop 1; second, Lowell troop 10; third, Tyngsboro troop 1.

Signalling—Ten letters of Morse code received by each member of competing troops. Won by Dracut troop 1; second, Lowell troop 10; third, Tyngsboro troop 1.

Equipment race—Two scouts from each troop putting down equipment in line, then replacing. Won by Dracut troop 1; second, Dracut troop 1; third, Lowell troop 4.

Emergency carries—Five-man team from each troop using chair carry, fireman's lift and improvised stretcher successively. Won by Dracut troop 1, and second, Lowell troop 10.
